SPEED BRITISH AID TO NORWAY

King Haakon Rallies Army; Battles Germans

ASK NORWEGIAN PEOPLE TO HELP SOLDIERS LAND

German Battleship Scheer Torpedoed.

LONDON, April 14 (AP).—British troops are on their way to help the Norwegians, a broadcast disclosed tonight, while a new surprise mine laying operation by the British navy has put down a barrier in Germany's own backyard in the Baltic.

The broadcast, by British and Norwegian trade union leaders, asked the Norwegians to help the British landing force by every means in their power.

"British soldiers are coming to assist the gallant Norwegian people in their resistance to the German invaders," said the broadcast by union leaders.

"Wherever British soldiers are met, assist them by every means in your power.

"If you know where the Germans are, tell the British.

Give Food if Needed.

"If they [the British] require food, feed them. If they require shelter, give it to them. If a soldier wants a lift, take him to his destination. We shall speak to you again, but meantime, think for yourselves how best you can help the British soldiers and your country. Pass on the word to as many people as possible. See that it travels to outlying farms. See that it is known in the factories, on the fjords, along rivers, and in the hills."

When and where the British will make a landing, and the size of the expedition, remained a secret. It was assumed, however, that the British have cleaned out Narvik, the arctic iron ore port, where the British yesterday reported sinking seven German destroyers. These were in addition to a destroyer and six supply ships sunk in a raid last Wednesday.

Dispatches from Norway and Sweden said the British were masters of Narvik, that they had sunk every German ship in the harbor, and that German forces have fled into the mountains to the northeast. It was not known, however, whether British troops had landed at Narvik.

Announce Scheer Torpedoed.

The British public was greatly cheered tonight by the news of events at Narvik and by the admiralty announcement that another of Germany's prized pocket battleships, the 10,000 ton Admiral Scheer had been "successfully attacked" and hit by one or more torpedoes from the British submarine Spearfish. The announcement did not state whether the Scheer sank.

[Details of the attack on the Scheer and other naval losses the British claim to have inflicted on the Germans will be found on page 3.]

The British air force struck again today at Stavanger, southwestern Norwegian port, to keep the German air fleet grounded and prevent attacks on northern British bases.

Damage German Planes.

British planes roared out of dim dawn light to rain bombs on the German held airdrome at Stavanger and, the air ministry said, damaged a hangar, runway, and "number of enemy aircraft."

The ministry's communique said air raiders also had attacked in Hafsfjord "where they machine gunned a number of seaplanes moored on the water and silenced an enemy machine gun post." It indicated continuous

AMERICANS DONATE 9 MILLION FOR WAR RELIEF IN 6 MONTHS

New York, April 14 [Special].—During the first six months of the war in Europe $9,800,000 was contributed by the American people for relief work in Europe and Asia. This was disclosed today when the results of a survey were made public by Valentine E. Macy Jr., treasurer of the National Information bureau. The contributions were for aid within the belligerent countries themselves and for the rehabilitation of refugees.

Germany Hails Navy for Fight in Narvik Fjord

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 14.—The eyes of the German people tonight were fixed on Narvik after the disclosure that strong British forces yesterday had raided the Norwegian port and inflicted losses on the German naval units stationed there.

However, little news other than that contained in the official communique of the high command was available in Berlin concerning the fate of the German force at Narvik.

Praises Sailors.

A high command statement explained that the losses sustained by both sides could not yet be ascertained, and added:

"But the deeds of our destroyers under Commodore Bonte assure them eternal glory."

[The British said seven German destroyers were sunk and three British destroyers not seriously damaged in the engagement.]

In telling of the battle, the German statement said:

"The English undertook the attack with forces many times superior to ours. Battleships, cruisers, an airplane carrier, and destroyers were used against our light ships.

"In the battle against the heaviest units of the British fleet, our destroyers now met a major English attack, tho they had already experienced several fights. In traditional spirit, our destroyers attacked the far superior enemy. They gave the British a courageous and heroic battle.

U-Boat and Aerial Aid.

"The total loss on both sides still cannot be entirely ascertained, but the deeds of our destroyers under Commodore Bonte assure them eternal glory. Their comrades of the U-boats and air force effectively supported them in repulsing the British attack."

[The British said the attack was made by the battleship Warspite and a "strong force of destroyers."]

Germans are aware that Narvik is the most vulnerable point of the German positions in Norway. The only means of communication with it are by air and the Narvik area affords poor landing facilities. The Germans say, however, that "this was taken into account by our military command right from the start."

Say Cossack Set Afire.

The German communique countered British claims of victory at Narvik with the assertion that the British destroyer Cossack had been set afire and grounded and that the destroyer Eskimo and others "were seriously damaged or destroyed." The British were accused of having opened fire with rifles and machine guns on German sailors swimming ashore after their ships were sunk.

The reported sinking of the battleship Gneisenau was denied. "All our heavy naval units in Norway were undamaged," the communique said.

Three British submarines were claimed to have been sunk in the Skagerrak and a British cruiser of the Glasgow class torpedoed off the Shetland Islands.

The communique said that British air raids were made on Narvik, Stavanger, and Bergen but were "unsuccessful so far as military objectives are concerned."

CITIZENS FLOCK TO COLORS; RUSH DEFENSE MOVES

BULLETIN.

LONDON, April 15, Monday (AP).—Goteborg, Swedish port on the Kattegat, was placed under its third Sunday air raid alarm at 10 p. m. (3 p. m. Chicago time), Exchange Telegraph, a British news agency, reported early today. Planes of undetermined nationality were reported turned back by heavy antiaircraft fire.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on back page.)

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 14.—King Haakon resumed command of Norway's shattered armed forces tonight. From a place of refuge deep in the country, the government also has begun to function again and a heavy snowstorm and frosty weather in the mountains is helping to speed defense measures. The weather also has brought temporary security from air raids.

A proclamation by the king, calling upon the Norwegian people "to stand with me and the government and guard and fight for Norway's independence and freedom" in the worst "visitation my people have experienced in more than a hundred years," was broadcast tonight.

A "Mighty Adversary."

"Our nation was attacked by a nation with which we always have had friendly relations," he said. "This mighty adversary did not shrink from bombing a peaceful people, towns and provinces. The situation is such that I cannot tell you where in Norway myself, the crown prince, and the government are staying. German military force made violent attacks upon us when we stayed at a small unfortified place.

"I ask you all to remember those who gave their lives for the fortune of the fatherland. God save Norway."

Last night the king undressed and went to bed for the first time since Tuesday when he was awakened in his palace in Oslo to be told Germans were invading his country.

All automobiles in Norway have been requisitioned by the army. Reports that men are mobilizing and women organizing Red Cross and other wartime activities are coming from all over the country.

Open Field Hospital.

The first field hospital was opened today near Skarnes, where heavy fighting began this morning and now is in progress between a force of about 1,000 Germans and an undetermined number of Norwegians. Many of these Norwegians are not yet organized into military units, but have rushed by automobile to the fortress of Kongsvinger, where they have been equipped with arms.

These soldiers still are in civilian clothes. They have been threatened with court martial and the death sentence by the German commander in chief in Oslo, Gen. Nikolaus von Falkenhorst, who says that the Germans consider them civilians and will impose the supreme penalty if they are caught bearing arms.

The hastily organized Norwegian front at Skarnes tonight is under the command of a young Norwegian lieutenant who has just arrived from Finland, where he saw service on the

NETHERLANDS TOWN RIPPED BY SHELLS AS ARMY PLAYS AT WAR

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands, April 14 (AP).—A number of 4.7-centimeter shells, apparently fired during Netherlands army exercises, exploded this morning in the southern part of Zandvoort, North sea resort.

One crashed into a house and demolished the bed from which a man had arisen shortly before. Another exploded in a street and shattered a number of windows. A third damaged the roof of a beach house.

GERMANY'S OWN WORST ENEMY—DER FUEHRER

Balk Carrozzo Smoke Screen in City Strike

BY LLOYD WENDT.

Commissioner of Public Works Oscar Hewitt, backed by city leaders, said last night that any attempt of Michael Carrozzo, union boss of 15,000 street and construction workers, to save his face by interjecting a wage issue into the mystery strike called on the city's asphalt plants, would be defeated.

Oscar E. Hewitt.

"Carrozzo called the strike of the asphalt workers without giving any warning, without making any demands, and kept his reasons for the strike secret until yesterday," said Hewitt. "He can't come in now and suddenly discover some reasons."

Carrozzo's sudden walkout order, affecting 260 men, came within two hours of council action granting Hewitt authority to take new bids on 100,000 tons of asphalt, on which Hewitt was convinced the first bids by 11 asphalt companies were too high. The low bidder was the Illinois Asphalt company, the first president and incorporator of which was Samuel Kart, a lawyer who now is titular head of Carrozzo's street laborers' union.

Officials Ponder Coincidence.

City officials and contractors have been pondering the coincidence of the city's action to save money on the asphalt order and the sudden strike by the Carrozzo union.

Because o this they were surprised last night when Carrozzo, after three days of silence, said that all he wanted was more money for his men. Hewitt and other spokesmen for the city said there wasn't a chance of his getting it, and Hewitt defied Carrozzo to call a threatened strike of 2,183 city street cleaners and refuse collectors, whom Carrozzo also controls.

The asphalt strike started Thursday, after Hewitt had effected a saving of approximately $10,000 thru informal bids on the 100,000 ton contract. The Illinois Asphalt company had submitted a price of $6.40 a ton for top dressing asphalt and $5.40 a ton for binder asphalt in the original bidding.

Hewitt knew the company has a capacity of only 500 tons a day and thus could not turn out the order in the required time. He suspected it planned to sublet parts of the contract, with subcontractors supplying the asphalt at prices lower than the company's bid to the city.

Hewitt Acts Quickly.

Hewitt acted quickly in obtaining the new bids, which provided top dressing asphalt at $6.31 a ton. Carrozzo called the strike two hours later.

Carrozzo, who was reached last night in his summer home at Long Beach, Ind., said he is coming to Chicago today to call a meeting of his asphalt workers.

"We walked out because the city isn't paying the union scale and because it hired a lot of nonunion politicians," Carrozzo said.

Budget Bars Increase.

City councilmen and Hewitt said the city budget did not permit an increase in the wages of Carrozzo's men.

Hewitt said Carrozzo knew at the time the budget was being prepared that the asphalt worker's wages were set at $7.20 a day [the union scale is $8.20] and that the labor boss had offered no objection to that rate.

"As for Carrozzo's threat to call out the street cleaners," said Hewitt, "I think that's a bluff. He doesn't dare do it."

[A story of Carrozzo's rise as a labor czar appears on page 8.]

Stan Hack Jr. Tries Squeeze Play, but Is Out

Stanley Hack Jr.

Then he squeezed half way thru the back of his chair in the dining room at the Sheridan Plaza hotel and remembered what his pop, the Cubs' star third baseman, had always told him about not getting trapped between bases. It's just as bad, you know, to get trapped between the slats of a chair.

"You're out!" shouted his father hopefully, but it was like arguing with an umpire. Stanley Jr. remained exactly where he was, his navy blue coat on one side of the chair back and his new long pants on the other. An edict from Commissioner Landis wouldn't have had any effect on that 5 year old boy's status.

He Is Suspended.

He wasn't out. He was suspended.

Barbara, who is 3, wept. Stanley's mother said for somebody to do something. Shortstop Bob Mattick sent for a carpenter and a saw. The crowd was on its feet, cheering for Stanley Jr., but cheers don't get you out of spots like that.

The Carpenter Is Out.

The carpenter was out celebrating the game the Cubs won from the White Sox yesterday.

Then along came Pitcher Charlie Root. "There's more than one way to skin a cat," he said.

So Charlie grabbed Stanley Jr. Bob Mattick and Stanley Sr. spread the slats of the chair. And they completed the squeeze play, squeezing Stanley Jr. right on thru head first. He took a bow and another piece of cake.

ANTI-DEWEY TIDE RISES OVER PATH TO NOMINATION

Early Advantages Melting Away.

Dewey Heads West

Washington, D. C., April 14 [Special].—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, left here this evening on his fourth foray for western delegates. He will speak at Indianapolis tomorrow night. The trip will carry him to the west coast.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 14.—Developments over the week-end indicate that District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York is facing formidable opposition for the Republican nomination for President. The outcome is exceedingly problematical.

In the public eye at the moment Dewey is the outstanding Republican candidate. The dashing 38 year old gang buster, with the musical voice and the punch in every paragraph, is the glamor boy of the G. O. P. Defeating Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan in the Wisconsin and Nebraska primaries and polling an impressive vote, unopposed, in Illinois, Dewey stands forth as the champion vote getter of his party in the 1940 presidential contest.

G. O. P. Needs New York.

By this performance Dewey has been popularly acclaimed as the Republican candidate preëminently qualified to outrun any Democrat, not excepting President Roosevelt, in the November election and the only one who could be depended upon to carry New York against the President. And to win the battle it is essential for the Republicans to carry New York. The Democrats can win without it.

Now that the smoke has cleared away from these primary victories, however, it is seen that Dewey's path to the nomination is far from a walkaway. His speeches and other public appearances in the next month or two may produce a band wagon movement that will carry him to nomination.

Backers Consider Defeat.

But many Republican leaders, including some of his own partisans, are convinced that unless he wins on the first or second ballot, Dewey will be defeated—at least for first place.

As matters now stand, and barring a Dewey band wagon movement, it does not appear likely that any candidates will have a majority of the 1,000 delegates on the first ballot.

The 175 delegates presumably won by Dewey in the New York, Wisconsin, Nebraska, and Illinois primaries already have begun to melt away. He apparently was assured of 77 of the 92 New York delegates, but as a result of the internal party dissension revolving around the feud of Dewey and National Committeeman Kenneth Simpson, the candidate may get no more than 60.

Expect Switch to Vandenberg.

A considerable number of Illinois' 58, Wisconsin's 24, and Nebraska's 14 delegates have made known that they will vote for Dewey on one ballot only, going probably to Vandenberg.

Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio predicts that he will lead the first ballot with close to 400 delegates. Unlike Dewey and Vandenberg, Taft has kept out of the presidential primaries—outside of his own state in which he is unopposed. He has specialized on proselyting for delegates in the states in which delegates are chosen not by the people directly but by conventions and party leaders.

The Taft organization claims to have nailed down 317 votes from about 20 states.

It is not unlikely that Dewey and Taft will be the leading contenders on the first ballot. As leaders in the Vandenberg camp view it, Taft and Dewey will kill off each other as Gen. Leonard Wood and Frank Lowden did at Chicago in 1920, after which the convention will turn to Vandenberg for the nominee.

TENSION EASES, BUT BELGIANS SEE WAR AHEAD

Feel Future Beyond Three Days Is Uncertain.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 14.—Tension caused by fear of imminent invasion had eased here tonight. The conviction was general that the war will not spread to Holland and Belgium for the next two or three days. Beyond that, the most hazardous spirit will not predict.

Along with the feeling of immediate relief persists a conviction that it is only a question of time until this country is involved in the war. Preparations for it are going on busily.

The entire Belgian army, more than 700,000 men, is not only under arms but in the field. Around the entrenched camp of Antwerp, probably the greatest single stronghold in the country, newly dug trenches fortified with concrete are occupied by soldiers ready to fight at an instant's notice.

Guard Against Internal Coup.

For the last two days guards have been stationed at bridges, railway junctions, ammunition dumps, oil magazines in the country, and at important public buildings in Brussels. This is a precaution against a possible attempt at a coup by any group inside the country.

Almost all the Belgians believe the attack, if it develops, will come from one side only. They are confident Britain and France will not violate Belgian neutrality, and speculation is reduced to the question of where and when Germany will attempt a push.

There is unanimous opinion that any move toward Holland and Belgium will be in relation to German operations now going on in Scandinavia. There is a division, however, on the question of whether the invasion will be produced by a German success or a German failure in the north.

Expect First Blow at Dutch.

From well informed sources I have obtained one view of the probable form the war in Belgium would take. They consider it likely that Germany would attack Holland first. The second step possibly would be immediate Belgian coöperation with Holland, thus spreading the war to Belgium. If Belgium hesitates, say these sources, the government would receive a joint note from Britain and France—a note already prepared. It would ask for passage thru Belgium to go to the aid of Holland. If a reply were not received in three or four hours British-French forces on the Belgian-French frontier would enter Belgium and race to fight the Germans.

Dutch Guard Against Surprise.

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands, April 14 (AP).—Holland's defense forces were keyed tonight to special watchfulness against any possible attempt by a belligerent power to take them by surprise.

Various rumors about the country's precarious position caused tension in many circles but the public generally displayed no uneasiness.

Official sources expressed indignation over rumors abroad that there was an imminent threat of action by one or the other of the belligerents which might spread the war to the lowlands. They called them ill-considered or malicious.

Ban Meat 3 Days a Week Instead of 2 for Italians

ROME, April 14 (AP).—Italians were notified today that beginning April 24 they will have three meatless days a week instead of two. The sale of meat, or its serving in restaurants, will be forbidden on Wednesdays, as well as Thursdays and Fridays.

GERMAN VERSION OF WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE NORTH

Tell Destroyer Fleet's Fight with British.

BERLIN, April 14 (AP).—Today's communique of the German high command on the war in and around Scandinavia follows:

"German destroyers under the leadership of Commander Bonte, which protected the landing of German troops and preliminary consolidation of their positions, the last several days participated in sharp conflicts, with the support of German U-boats and planes, with English sea forces which tried to force their way to shore.

"At noon April 13 the enemy attempted another large scale attack. For the purpose of this attack the enemy sent a flotilla consisting of two battleships, airplane carriers, and numerous destroyers into the fray. Despite this show of force our destroyers attacked the superior British.

"In this heavy attack the British destroyer Cossack was shot and set afire by marine and air forces and stranded. The destroyer Eskimo and other destroyers were seriously damaged and in some instances destroyed.

Complete Picture "Impossible."

"It is impossible at this time to get a complete picture of the total loss to the enemy or to our own forces.

"Powerful sea forces for several days protected the landing operations of German troops in Norwegian harbors on April 9. These forces repulsed an attack by strong British naval units in an action in which the British battle cruiser Renown was damaged. Our heaviest units escaped without injury.

"In Trondheim, Bergen, Stavanger, and Kristiansand, the day passed quietly. Also at these places [all Norwegian ports], German defensive works were extended and strengthened.

"In the region of Oslo, German troops continue progress north, east, and west. Among other places, Sarpsborg and Askin were occupied. At Heidstadtmon, a hundred officers and 1,500 men of the Norwegian army lay down their arms.

Heavy Batteries Set Up.

"In Denmark, important points on the coast were prepared for defense by setting up heavy batteries. A German U-boat torpedoed a cruiser of the Glasgow class north of the Shetland Islands. In the Skagerrak, pursuit planes destroyed three enemy undersea boats.

"On April 13, there were British air attacks on Narvik, Stavanger, and Bergen. In the course of these actions, bombs fell in the city of Bergen. The attacks failed to inflict damage on military objectives. Numerous units of our air force at various places attacked British sea forces. As already reported, three enemy U-boats were destroyed by direct hits of bombs."

ASK ARNOLD'S FRIENDS AND THEY'LL TELL YOU 'HE SURE IS A CARD'

Polk, Neb., April 14 [Special].—Mayor Arnold Isaacson, dressed as a tramp, with ragged clothes and battered hat, went to the home of School Superintendent H. Horstman and asked for a handout. Mrs. Horstman fed him, but called the village cop right afterward. At the home of Mrs. Henry Sandell the mayor asked a dime for a beer, but she closed the door in his face. From the elevator man he tried to buy 1,000 bushels of corn; from P. T. Wurtz, a tractor. His best friends didn't know him.

aerial reconnoitering over the North sea and Norwegian coast.

One British bomber was reported downed on the Netherlands side of the German frontier with a loss of six lives after an air fight over German territory in which several planes engaged on both sides.

Helps Protect Sweden.

The swift surprise mining of the Baltic supposedly cut German ships from trade with Sweden and made hazardous any effort Adolf Hitler might make to transport troops to Sweden to assist his Norwegian invasion.

[A British Broadcasting corporation broadcast said the new mine field, extending to Kiel bay, German naval base, and reaching across the Baltic to Lithuania, already was claiming victims. Swedish sailors were reported to have seen German transports wrecked by mines off Lysekil, on the Swedish west coast. Killed and wounded were reported being picked up by German minesweepers.]

The British mines have made a 500 mile death trap of the Baltic. The field is intended to block Germany's access to Sweden's iron ore thru the Lulea port route in the Gulf of Bothnia.

Germany's fleet denied the British such an advantage in the world war and Germany thus far has asserted that she still is supreme in the Baltic.

Dangerous to Sail Home.

With the laying of the Baltic mine field, it was said, the homeward route for German vessels now at sea is dangerous, with floating explosives blocking the way.

Mine fields already have been laid in the North Sea, and the narrow Skagerrak and Kattegat waters leading to the Baltic.

The admiralty reported that between Sweden and Jutland, or the continental portion of Denmark, the new mine field lies south of a line across the Kattegat along latitude 57 degrees. The region mined there, it said, included the Great Belt and Ore Sound, two channels to the Baltic, tho excluding the Little Belt, the channel along Jutland, and extended as far south as Kiel bay.

Extends to Lithuania.

Between longitude 14 degrees, 20 minutes east, off the southern tip of Sweden, and 21 degrees, six and one-half minutes east, the northern limit of the mine field is 55 degrees, 30 minutes. Thus the upper boundary of the field in that section extends from off southern Sweden to Lithuania.

British minelayers, either submarines or surface craft, pushed their way into the Baltic to lay the new mine barrage, the admiralty said. Apparently they came away unscathed.

Observers pointed out that the new mine field would hamper any possible attempt by Germany to invade Sweden, a project denied by Berlin as long as Sweden maintains her neutrality.

The German route across the Baltic to the gulf of Bothnia and Lulea also was blocked by the new mine field, British said. The Nazis transport Swedish ore from Lulea except during the winter, when the port is ice locked.

The daring operation in the Baltic carried forward Britain's strategy of squeezing Germany as hard as possible and smashing down with full force each time Germany tries to break the British hold.

Action Continues at Narvik.

The situation in the Norwegian theater was obscure. The British admiralty communique said the action at Narvik was continuing.

[The German high command said the Narvik attack was met by the German destroyer fleet, submarines, and German pursuit planes. It gave no conclusive report on the outcome of the battle, but said the British destroyer Cossack, which held up the German prison ship Altmark in February and rescued 300 British prisoners, was set afire and stranded.]

First reports by the admiralty said British losses at Narvik amounted only to three slightly damaged destroyers.

However, an admiralty communique today disclosed that two officers and 14 men were killed when the crew of the destroyer Hardy landed from their disabled and beached war vessel in the first battle of Narvik last Wednesday. Two other men were missing and believed drowned and six men were wounded. Capt. B. A. W. Warburton-Lee, who led the flotilla to the attack, was reported killed.

The communique failed to show how or where contact had been reëstablished with the landing party.

BRITISH NAVAL HERO LAYS BLAME FOR WAR AT AMERICA'S DOOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 14.—Suggestions that America is responsible for the war in Europe are daily becoming more current in public speeches and the press. Leading political and labor leaders accuse America of having encouraged Britain and France to halt the dictators and of having deserted them when they acted.

Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, known as the hero of Zeebrugge, in an article written today for the Sunday Graphic states that America's principal efforts to set Europe's house in order were responsible for the present situation. Sir Roger blamed America particularly for starting the league of nations, which supposedly gave security to all nations, and "then running out." He was no less bitter in regard to America's efforts toward disarmament. By persuading Britain at disarmament conferences to limit her fleet, he charged, America so weakened England that she was unable to muster naval power that would have made the war impossible.

NAZIS MAY WRECK RAILWAY TO IRON ORE, BRITISH FEAR

Germans Flee Narvik After Battle in Harbor.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 14.—Following official announcements of a British naval flotilla's sensational capture of Narvik harbor after destroying seven German destroyers yesterday, Britain tonight awaited further details of the important victory which gives Great Britain and France a foothold for operations designed to drive the Germans out of Norway.

Dispatches from Sweden and Norway said the British are masters of Narvik, the iron ore port in northern Norway. The Germans who held the town were said to have fled into the mountains to the northeast. It was not known if British troops had been landed at Narvik, but the admiralty said action in the area was continuing.

Norwegian reports said the British had sunk every German warship in the harbor. The seven destroyed on Saturday were in addition to the destroyer and six supply ships reported sunk in the earlier British raid on Narvik on Wednesday.

Fear Work of Wrecking Crew.

Some quarters here expressed concern regarding the possibility that the German garrison which fled Narvik was really a wrecking crew. The prospect that in escaping the British landing forces they would manage to wreck the railroad which runs thru tunnels and across ravines on the way to Sweden is creating some anxiety.

The British are dependent on the transport of ore over this railroad from the Kiruna mines in Sweden. It is admitted that a few carefully placed bombs could wreck the whole system, which would take months to repair.

The topography of Norway presents a greater problem to the attacker than to the defender. Experts are not underestimating the difficulties imposed in bringing land forces overland. In grabbing Oslo and the railroads extending to the interior and to the ports, Germany admittedly has a great initial advantage.

Estimate 35,000-50,000 Troops.

How far she will be able to consolidate these positions or provide garrisons and occupying forces with necessary reënforcements and supplies is a matter of guesswork. Altho only the Germans know the answer to the number of troops in the fanlike occupation of Oslo, estimates here vary from 35,000 to 50,000.

Some observers foresee eventually, before decisive battles take place, the possibility of Norway really becoming a battleground with the British and French holding the north and the Germans the south.

The extent to which public opinion is buoyed up by the Narvik naval victory was reflected in a speech in London tonight by Arthur Greenwood, deputy leader of the Labor opposition in the house of commons.

Says Hitler in Danger.

"Today is perhaps the most fortunate day for us since the outbreak of the war," he said. "When Hitler attacked Denmark and Norway he placed the dagger at his naked bosom. He realizes he has met his match."

Greenwood said that the prompt action with which the grand fleet had countered Hitler's latest move should be an example for other neutrals. The burden of his advice was that they had no time to lose in joining up with the empires.

Hugh Dalton, prominent Labor member of parliament, speaking at another meeting, asserted that "we have the right to ration the neutrals strictly according to their own requirements." He criticized the "British conception of prize laws" as antediluvian and "not shared by our more realistic French allies."

VIEW MINE FIELD IN BALTIC AS A BLUFF BY BRITAIN

Washington, D. C., April 14 (AP).—The British announcement of new mine fields in the entrance to the Baltic sea and in the Baltic itself was viewed in naval circles tonight as partly bluff and in part an actual threat to the supply line of the Nazi invaders of Norway.

Modern and world war precedents suggest that only relatively few mines could have been placed since Tuesday in the thousands of square miles involved.

A single mine nevertheless can sink a transport, and thus the British move has put the burden on the German navy of risking ships and men against the hidden hazards.

U-boats May Have Laid Mines.

German control of the Skagerrak and Kattegat entrances to the Baltic has been so tight—at least until last week's British and French raids—that the mines appear to have been placed by submarines.

Any submarine can lay mines, and some types are built especially for the job. When the war started Britain had 73 undersea craft built and building, and France had 98, with an average capacity of 20 or 25 mines each.

Allowing for losses and for craft temporarily out of commission, it would appear impossible that more than 3,000 or 4,000 mines could have been placed in the last few days. The outer Skagerrak gate to the Baltic alone is a sea area of some 7,000 square miles.

The hurriedly created mine fields just reported contrast with the world war North sea barrage established by the American and British navies, which was made up of about 76,000 mines. Most of that work was done by surface craft.

Control of Channel Doubtful.

Tho there are few certainties, the odds appear against the possibility that the British and French sea forces could maintain a patrol of the 20 mile wide clear channel reported thru the Skagerrak against German air attacks.

If the British and French forces were able to patrol the mine fields with surface craft, they presumably would be able by surface vessels, such as warships, to sever the German line of supply and reinforcement. Instead, raids on that line thus far are reported to have been carried out largely, if not entirely, by submarines.

SCHEER TORPEDOED BY SUBMARINE ONCE NEAR ITS OWN DOOM

LONDON, April 14 (AP).—The submarine Spearfish which the British reported today successfully attacked the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer, is the same quick-diving 670 ton boat which narrowly escaped destruction from depth charges at the bottom of Heligoland bight [German Bay] last October. The boat is commanded by Lieutenant Commander John H. Forbes.

The Spearfish's periscope was blown away, her wireless wrecked and her engines disabled by depth charges in the October encounter. The stoic crew held a six-penny [10 cents] sweepstakes on whether the next depth charge would split her hull, but she survived another hour of the attack, altho sweep wires scraped her top.

Then when the Germans departed, she rose to the surface repaired her radio and sent out an S O S which brought a destroyer to her aid. British said today she had "had her revenge."

ROOSEVELT AIMS BLAST IN WRONG DIRECTION: NAZIS

BERLIN, April 14 (AP).—Authorized German sources, commenting on President Roosevelt's statement yesterday condemning the German invasion of Denmark and Norway, declared today that "if Mr. Roosevelt is looking for an aggressor it is evident he addressed the wrong nation." These quarters expressed the opinion that no country desired more than Germany to localize the war, adding it was in her military interest to have a short front.

"The Altmark incident, then the British mine laying in Norwegian territorial waters indicated the enemy has a new conception of neutrality and was defining neutrality so that it could spread the war," the Germans said. "Norwegian neutrality was violated first by the Altmark affair, then by numerous other less spectacular events and finally by the mine laying.

"Germany had to go into Norway to anticipate the foe in a military sense. If anything else is required for proof that Britain especially has discarded all respect for conventional neutrality, that is demonstrated by the British occupation of the Faroe islands."

TORPEDOES HIT GERMAN POCKET WARSHIP SCHEER

British Claim Big Toll of Foe's Vessels in Week.

LONDON, April 14 (AP).—Another of Germany's prized pocket battleships, the 10,000 ton Admiral Scheer, has been "successfully attacked," and at least 23 German transport and supply ships sunk or captured, during the past week, the British admiralty announced tonight in a matter-of-fact but prideful communique.

Whether the Scheer was sunk was not clear, but the admiralty said the warship probably had been hit by more than one torpedo by the British submarine Spearfish.

It also claimed for the submarine Truant the sinking of the 6,000 ton German cruiser Karlsruhe, which Germany already has acknowledged, but which she attributed to Norwegian coastal batteries at Kristiansand.

24,140 Tons of Cargo Vessels.

Not including the two warships, the admiralty listed 24,140 tons of cargo shipping [eight vessels] sunk; two other unidentified ships were sunk, their tonnage being undetermined. Four ships were hit by torpedoes, the result being unknown.

The Germans scuttled two ships which totaled 13,668 tons; the British captured an 8,514 ton ship and three trawlers of undisclosed tonnage. No tonnage was given for seven ships sunk at Narvik nor for the tanker Kattegat which the Norwegians sank. The communique did not mention the 10,000 ton heavy cruiser Blucher which the Germans admitted Norwegian coastal guns and mines sank in Oslo fjord.

The known tonnage of German ships lost, thus was around 72,000 tons, and the unknown tonnage would reach an additional sizable figure.

If the Scheer has been sunk, it means the Germans have lost two, or perhaps all three of their pocket battleships which were the first units of their post world war navy.

Sister Ship of Spee.

The Admiral Graf Spee was scuttled off Montevideo last December after the battle of the River Plate. The other is the Deutschland, which was renamed the Luetzow several weeks ago, the Germans saying they intended to give the name Deutschland to a "much larger ship." The British have asserted they badly damaged one ship of the pocket battleship class in an air raid on Kiel and expressed doubt that it was still afloat.

The admiralty communique said "some indication of the highly successful work in extremely hazardous conditions of our submarines during the past week can now be given.

"The German pocket battleship Admiral Scheer was successfully attacked by the submarine Spearfish in the early hours of Thursday morning, last. It is probable that the Admiral Scheer was hit by more than one torpedo.

List Other Sinkings.

"H. M. S. Truant torpedoed and sank a German cruiser, believed to be the Karlsruhe on Tuesday.

"August Elonhardt, 2,593 tons.
"Kreta, 2,359 tons.
"Rio de Janeiro, 5,261 tons.
"Ionia, 3,102 tons.
"Andares, 2,593 tons.
"Moorsund, 321 tons.

"Also an unknown German ship of about 4,000 tons. Also on April 10 two more unknown German ships were sunk, and four other German ships in the convoy were hit by torpedoes, the result being unknown.

"In addition, the Alster of 8,514 tons, has been captured, and three trawlers, Friesland, Nordland and Blankenberg have been brought into a British port.

Two Vessels Scuttled.

"All these ships are in addition to six supply ships and the destroyer Rauenfels, which were sunk off Narvik by the Second destroyer flotilla on Wednesday last.

"The following scuttlings have taken place:

"The tanker Skagerrak, 6,044 tons, on being sighted by a British cruiser.

"The German ship Maine, of 7,624 tons, on being sighted by the Norwegian destroyer Draug, which picked up some 60 of the crew and conveyed them to a British port.

"The Draug now forms part of the allied naval forces.

"It has been reported that the German tanker, Kattegat, has been sunk by the Norwegians in the Skagerrak.

"It will be noticed that no mention is made of the loss of any U-boats. It would be incorrect to assume that positive results have not been attained."

THE GERMAN CLAIMS.

Following are the naval losses Germany claims to have inflicted on the British:

Three or more submarines sunk.

One aircraft carrier, four battleships, two heavy cruisers, three cruisers, two transports, two or more destroyers and two unidentified warships, all damaged, mostly by air bombs.

Five British merchant ships captured at Bergen.

Norwegian losses:

FATE FULFILLS OSLO LETTER'S GRIM FORECAST

Chicagoan's Mother Tells of Days Before War.

A forecast of the fateful events now taking place in Norway is contained in a letter which was received yesterday by Mrs. Esther Sove, 1450 North Washtenaw avenue. It was mailed March 10 in Oslo and was from her mother, Mrs. Emma Larsen, 71 years old. Mrs. Sove, the only member of her family to leave Norway, has lived in Chicago for 16 years.

"The sun is shining here," Mrs. Larsen wrote, "and the birds are singing their eternal hymn to God's life. I always used to feel so happy when spring came around, but now the clouds have hemmed in the spring happiness. Altho I am tranquil I know that what is going to happen must happen. The world's housekeeping must go into the melting pot if peace is to be permanent. The scales are now tipping. We are in the starting moment before everything breaks loose. We can't speak freely, but you hear the same things, I suppose.

Tells Air Defense Activity.

"The birds, not the small ones in the garden, but the big ones that are controled by human beings, are circling around and around all forenoon. This is the last day for the collection for air defense. I gave my money yesterday.

"We have here in the city the first Finnish children. We have 40 staying in the new house on the corner. The Finns are a peculiar people. They are so quiet, and the children are so quiet. They look with great big eyes, but they do not smile. The first day they were frightened when they heard the planes but now they have quieted down. The foster parents are going to get them tomorrow. They are going to the country. Because we ourselves must evacuate, perhaps.

No News from War Front.

"Your cousin, Hugo Skar, is a sergeant stationed on the Norwegian coast. There is no news from the western front. Now they are playing over the radio from Trondheim an old folk dance. I am going to write to Finland. Olga's home was not bombarded."

Since the fierce fighting began around Oslo Mrs. Sove has had no word from her mother, her brother, or her 20 cousins who are in the Norwegian army.

GERMANS DOWN BRITISH PLANE IN AIR BATTLE

THE HAGUE, the Netherlands, April 14 (AP).—German airmen, pursuing two British warplanes, shot down one of them in flames near the German-Netherlands frontier today. It crashed just inside Dutch territory near the village of Babberik, in the northeastern province of Gelderland.

There were reports one German plane was hit and crashed in Germany, while the other British plane appeared hit when it fled. The British plane, a reconaissance machine, was believed to have carried a crew of three. Two bodies were found in the wreckage.

Thousands of persons witnessed the spectacular fight, which lasted about five minutes. The British planes flew northward toward the frontier from the direction of Cleve, Germany, chased by four or five Germans.

Japs Warn England and U. S. on Dutch East Indies

TOKIO, April 15, Monday (AP).—The newspaper Nichi Nichi, speculating on the possibility that the United States or Great Britain might take protective custody of the Dutch East Indies if Germany should invade the Netherlands, declared today that Japan would vigorously oppose any change in the islands' political status. The paper said that if any military action were taken on behalf of the East Indies, Japan would declare the reservation of her right to similar action as her minimum demand.

Salla front. Maj. Larsen, staff chief in that sector, says the motorized force of the Germans has been brought to a halt and the terrain is giving a great advantage to the defenders.

Attend Church Services.

At 8 o'clock this morning the Germans halted their attack and retired. Leaving their positions, the Norwegians attended church services. Their chaplains told them the good news that Narvik had been recaptured by a British fleet yesterday.

All Norway went to church and prayed to be delivered from their invaders. Great crowds gathered around the churches, standing for hours in the snowstorm, exchanging news about developments during the last week. Many farmers heard that Norway was at war for the first time.

Learn from the Finns.

After church they went home to exchange their Sunday suits for stronger clothes to wear when they report for duty, for Norway has no uniforms with which to equip her soldiers.

The Norwegians have quickly put into effect the tactics learned from the Finns at the battles of Salla and Suomussalmi.

Small ski patrols are cutting across the mountains to reach the flanks of the German detachments and to engage them from the rear.

The announcement from London that the British had laid a mine field from the German coast below Memel on the Baltic sea to the Swedish port of Sandhammaren was a surprise for Stockholm. The north Baltic now is filled with British and Russian mines, while the south has been made impassable for shipping by German and British mines.

Two German transport ships struck mines off the west coast of Sweden today and entered Swedish waters until salvage boats arrived to assist them to reach their home ports.

Sharp Fighting Reported.

STOCKHOLM, April 14 (AP).—Sharp fighting was reported at a number of points in southern Norway tonight, and Swedish authorities said they had disarmed and interned 3,000 Norwegian soldiers who crossed into Sweden southeast of Halden, on the southernmost border. Germans were said to have scored small advances on the southeastern front.

Favored by a snowstorm, which hampered the German air force, Norwegian defenders were reported forming a continuous front northeast of Oslo.

A German Junker plane made a forced landing today north of Grebbestad, in the province of Bohuslaen on the west coast of Sweden. The crew of three was taken to the police.

Another three motored plane was shot down by Swedish antiaircraft two hours later when the plane disregarded warning shots and flew over military barracks near Uddevalla, on the Swedish west coast. The plane came down in flames and a number of the crew was killed.

PAN-AMERICAN DAY IS OBSERVED WITH MUSIC AND SPEECHES

Pan-American day, celebrating the 50th anniversary of the first Pan-American conference, was observed here yesterday with ceremonies in the Rockefeller Memorial chapel on the University of Chicago campus. Sponsors of the event were the recently organized Pan-American Council of Chicago and the Good Neighbor forum of the Y. M. C. A.

Delegations representing a number of Latin-American nations attended the meeting, bearing the flags of their countries. After a carillon recital of folk music, Peruvian and Brazilian music was presented by organists and choirs.

Speakers for various religious faiths noted the friendly relations of the 21 American nations in contrast to the troubled state of Europe and Asia.

ITALIANS SEE ALL OF EUROPE BEING DRAWN INTO WAR

Hint Neutrals Should Side with Germany.

ROME, April 14 (AP).—Authoritative Italians today expressed the belief that all countries of Europe, including Italy, would be drawn into the war.

From one newspaper, Il Messaggero, came a warning to neutrals that they now know what way to follow, implying that it was the way of Denmark in accepting Germany's "protection."

Giovanni Ansaldo, newspaper writer who often speaks the mind of Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, told Italian troops in a broadcast that the war's spread to Scandinavia in the last week showed that "no people in Europe can isolate itself from conflict."

Italy Awaits Opportune Time.

Ansaldo said Italy is preparing herself "for the occasion and the moment which will be most opportune for it."

"This occasion and this moment, which a month ago may have been very far off, now may be much nearer than is believed. This is a terrible war, which at a certain point strikes every one who thinks he is staying out of it.

"All Italians who think our country can remain out of the present conflict up to the end are mistaken and delude themselves, just as those are mistaken and delude themselves who think that our country should seek nothing but earning a little foreign money.

Says Britain Defeated.

"Mistaken and deluding themselves are all those Italians who think Italy can shut up within herself and not think of other things. This program did not succeed for a small country like Norway. Think to yourselves if it can succeed for us, who border on the belligerent countries and have interests in the Mediterranean."

Il Messaggero, along with most of the other Fascist newspapers, said Britain's "defeat" in Scandinavia was "a hard blow to English prestige" which showed that Britain's invincible power was a myth."

"Her adversary is aware of it," the newspaper said, "and no less clearly warned of it are the neutrals, who know now, now on what they must choose if they do not want to expose themselves to the same bitter disillusionment of Poland, Finland, and Norway."

Arrives to Sing

Carmen Miranda, the Brazilian singing star, arrived in Chicago yesterday from the east for her appearance in "The Streets of Paris," a musical revue at the Grand Opera house. Miss Miranda will appear Friday evening in the Fifth Row Center program broadcast over station W-G-N and the Mutual network. On that occasion she will sing some of the Portuguese songs which helped make her famous.

Order Copenhagen Cellars Made Into Air Raid Shelters

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, April 14 (AP).—Police authorities today asked householders to clean out their cellars in order to provide bomb shelters for at least 70,000 persons. Authorities said that a certain amount of shelters would be provided by the municipality, but that it was the duty of every home owner to make any safe cellar available for such use.

FRENCH REPULSE SERIES OF FRESH GERMAN ATTACKS

Nazis Smash at Lines West of Vosges.

PARIS, April 14 (AP).—German infantry units tried again today to force the French front lines in furious fighting at various points west of the Vosges mountains. They were repulsed with losses, said the British-French high command. The attacks took place in an area that lies roughly between Bitche and Sarreguemines and were supported by artillery barrages.

Tonight's British-French communique said: "On various points of the sector situated west of the Vosges some enemy infantry detachments, supported by artillery, attempted to force our lines. They have been repulsed and have suffered some losses."

Far Across Border, Nazis Claim.

The Germans' attack followed bitter fighting yesterday near the Luxemburg frontier in which the Nazis were reported to have thrown a full company of infantry at the French. The attack covered a sector almost a mile wide and was stopped at the French barbed wire barriers, the French reported.

[The German high command's communique covering Saturday's fighting said storm troops penetrated some kilometers past the border southwest of Merzig. They defeated forces manning one position, destroyed four shelters, and took prisoners, it was said. The Germans also reported that another storm troop detachment inflicted losses on the French southwest of Saarlautern and that a French thrust south of Zweibrucken was repulsed with heavy French losses.]

Military advices said the French penetrated a German outpost in the dawn attack near Zweibrucken and obtained information on German troop dispositions.

Nazis Scout France at Night.

An overcast sky cut down aerial activity today but the Germans made two long scouting flights last night, causing air raid alarms in northwestern France.

The body of a German officer who led an unsuccessful attack against a French occupied island in the Rhine river near Huningue early yesterday has been recovered from the river, stated French dispatches.

Louis Frossard, in his first address as minister of information, opened the Lyons fair with a promise to take the offensive against German propaganda.

STRITCH WILL BE NAMED CARDINAL SOON, ROME SAYS

New York and West Coast Also May Get Red Hats.

ROME, April 14 (AP).—Italian circles said today they expected Pope Pius XII. to call a consistory in June to announce the appointments of new cardinals. Two Americans probably will be included, they asserted.

Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch [top]. Archbishop Francis J. Spellman.

The pope, it is believed by some observers, is anxious to fill the American quota of four cardinals by conferring red hats on Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch of Chicago, successor to the late Cardinal George Mundelein, and on Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York, successor to the late Cardinal Patrick Hayes.

Verdier Death Speeds Plans.

Talk has been revived of the possible appointment of a fifth American cardinal on the Pacific coast, with Archbishop John Joseph Mitty of San Francisco mentioned for the honor.

The newspaper Il Popolo di Roma reported that the death of Cardinal Jean Verdier of Paris on April 9 had speeded the Vatican's plans for a consistory.

It was said the pope probably would appoint a new archbishop for Paris soon and almost immediately would make him a cardinal, in order to have a prelate of highest rank in that post of prime importance, particularly in wartime.

Five Nuncios Named.

The five papal nuncios to Berlin, Budapest, Brussels, Rome, and Rio de Janeiro are included among the prospective choices for cardinalship.

There are 56 members of the college of cardinals living today. The college may never have more than 70 members, but a number of vacancies always exist.

TURKEY SHAKEN BY NEW QUAKES; PANIC PREVAILS

ANKARA, Turkey, April 14 (AP).—A series of earthquakes during the last 24 hours threw the population of northern and central Anatolia into panic today as they feared a repetition of the catastrophe which took 50,000 lives in January.

First reports from Yozgad said six persons were killed and many injured there, with a hundred houses destroyed and a great number of others damaged. Damage was less severe elsewhere, but the shocks also were felt at Ankara, Kirsherhir, Tokat, Sivas, Kayseri, and the Black sea port of Samsun.

PUBLIC ENEMY 4 AND HIS PARTNER ARE RECAPTURED

Tacoma, Wash., April 14 (AP).—Joseph Paul Cretzer, 28 years old, once rated as public enemy No. 4, and his brother-in-law, Arnold Thomas Kyle, 29, convicts, who fled from the supposedly escape proof federal prison at McNeil Island Thursday, were recaptured tonight two and one-half miles from the prison. Both are serving 25 year terms for bank robbery. Cretzer and his wife Mae were seized in a Chicago apartment last August by federal agents. Later, they were sent to California where they were tried with Kyle for the holdup of the Bank of America at Los Angeles. Both men were nearly exhausted from lack of food. They were captured by prison guards.

HINT OF PARLEY AT WHITE HOUSE OVER GREENLAND

Canadians Speculate on Mackenzie King's Trip.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 14 [Canadian Press].—Political observers in the Canadian capital speculated tonight whether Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King might not call at the White House and state department in Washington next week to discuss possible guardianship of Greenland.

The prime minister arrived in Virginia Beach, Va., tonight for a three weeks' vacation. When he left Ottawa he was vague about seeing President Roosevelt or Secretary of State Hull.

Greenland, now that Germany has occupied Denmark, was believed to be one matter likely to await discussions between the prime minister and Lord Lothian, British ambassador to Washington, and possibly also Mr. Roosevelt.

GREENLAND AND ICELAND

Iceland and Greenland, two of the three major island possessions of Denmark in the north Atlantic, have become of great interest both to this country and Great Britain. Since the German seizure of tiny Denmark the question has arisen as to who will fall heir to Danish possessions elsewhere. The Faroe Islands, between Iceland and Norway, are reported already under England's wing.

One of the reasons for the enthusiastic interest in Iceland and Greenland is that both countries afford airplane bases. It already has been urged on the floor of the United States senate that this nation seize Greenland, the closer of the two, as a safeguard.

Much of Land Under Ice.

Altho Greenland covers 736,518 square miles, more than 700,000 of these are covered by a great sheet of ice. The only inhabitable areas are along the coast, and the total population in 1930 was only 16,630, of whom 16,222 were natives and 408 Danes. The greater portion of the island lies within the arctic circle. The coastline, for the most part, is knifed by fjords, and a great number of small islands lie nearby. Greenland is 1,650 miles long at its furthest point and 800 miles across at its greatest width. The coasts, as a rule, are mountainous. The capital, Godthaab, lies on the southwestern coast.

The climate is highly uncertain, and may suddenly change from sunshine to fog or snow. The east coast temperature is colder than that of the western coastal region, and snow may fall during any month of the year. In the uninhabited interior the temperature may range from 14 degrees fahrenheit in the summer to 90 below zero in winter. The mean temperature in the inhabited coastal regions ranges from 18 degrees above to 7 below in January and from 42 to 49 in July.

Cattle Raised in South.

The musk-ox, polar wolf, fox, arctic hare, and seal are among the fauna found in Greenland. Goats, sheep, and cattle are raised to some extent in the south. There are many varieties of birds to be found. There are no forests, and the trees that grow are dwarfed.

Sealing and fishing are important industries, as are the cryolite mines. Cryolite is a metallic compound. It is used as a flux in smelting aluminum and in the manufacture of sodium salts and the production of certain kinds of porcelain and glass. The cryolite deposits in Greenland are the largest in the world. The compound is a major export. Others are seal oil, furs, graphite, elderdown, and fish products.

Iceland's Population 116,948.

Iceland, altho far smaller than Greenland, had a population of 116,948 in 1937 for its approximately 40,000 square miles. The extreme northern tip of Iceland is nipped by the arctic circle, and the gulf stream touches the southern and western coasts. The northern coast is often blocked by drift ice in summer months.

Iceland is 298 miles long and 194 miles wide, and is roughly oval shaped. Intense cold makes the interior tableland unlivable. Only about a quarter of the island's area is inhabited, and more than 13 per cent is covered by glaciers. There are several snow fields, the largest covering 3,280 square miles.

Iceland is of volcanic origin, possesses many lakes and many volcanoes which are still active. There are no railways. The king of Denmark shares governing power with the thousand year old athling, or parliament, oldest such body in the world.

Climate Relatively Mild.

The climate is relatively mild, especially on the coasts, in summer, altho the winters are cold. There is said to be mist on the east coast on an average of 212 days yearly. Grass and heather, useful as food for stock; undersized trees, and berries are indigenous. Animal life includes a few polar bears, the white and blue fox, mice, rats, reindeer, and seal. There are many birds and 68 species of fish. The cod fisheries are among the most important in the world.

Reykjavik, with a population of more than 22,000, is the capital and largest city.

About 43 per cent of the population are farmers, and 19 per cent fish for a living. Chief exports are sheep, horses, salt meat, wool, hides, fish products, elderdown, and woolen goods.

Islands of Interest to United States

(Story in adjoining column.)

The fate of Iceland and Greenland, major possessions of Denmark in the North Atlantic, has become important to the United States since German seizure of Denmark. The Faroe Islands are reported already under the wing of Great Britain.

Greenland is an island of 800,000 square miles, 700,000 of which are covered with ice. The population in 1930 was 16,630, the only inhabitable areas along the coast.

Iceland's 40,000 square miles had a population of 116,948 in 1937.

FRENCH, BRITISH ENVOYS REACH BELGIAN HAVEN

BRUSSELS, April 14 (AP).—A train bearing English, French and Polish diplomats and their families arrived here this afternoon from Copenhagen, capital of German occupied Denmark.

A French military attaché carried his arm in a sling. It was hinted he had been hit by a machine gun bullet.

A woman secretary of the British embassy reported she had been handcuffed by the Germans when she resisted arrest before her identity was established.

RUMANIA MAKES NEW TRADE PACT WITH GERMANY

Report Nazis Receive No Big Concession.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 14.—Rumania has reached a new trade agreement with Germany without making important concessions, it was reported tonight. Authentic details of the agreement are not available and it is believed to be tentative.

Even that much progress was enough to reassure Rumania. Authoritative quarters immediately emphasized that the country is on the best of terms with all her neighbors and fears none.

Unconfirmed reports of the trade negotiations, which were carried on here by Dr. Karl Clodius, Germany's bargaining specialist, said the oil situation will not be changed by the agreement. Rumania will continue to try to deliver 130,000 tons of oil monthly, to which Germany was entitled under past agreements.

Rumania Resumes Loadings.

Loading of export goods in seaports and rail centers had been held up for three days while Rumania studied the international situation and her needs, but it was reported tonight the loadings have been resumed.

Germany, which had decided to quit exporting metallurgical coke, of which Rumania has much need, agreed to continue to deliver it at the rate of 30,000 tons a year as in the past. The Nazis refused, however, to raise the quota to 80,000 tons.

Rumania lifted a ban on the exportation of hides. Germany refused to continue to sell some articles desired by Rumania, notably cotton and wool thread and galvanized iron.

A member of Clodius' delegation is expected to leave for Berlin tomorrow to submit the agreement to his government.

Floods Cut Oil Exports.

Despite the settlement of trade questions, Germany has worries. Danube floodwaters have made it impossible for the last four days to take trains laden with gasoline to Giurgiu on the Danube to be loaded into barges.

Railroad sidings have been flooded and, since the gasoline is not handled thru pipe lines, loading has had to halt. Other rail lines are under water, traffic has had to be rerouted, and the amount of oil carried by rail has been reduced.

Of the 130,000 tons of oil they are entitled to get this month, the Germans are expected to get only 80,000 to 90,000 tons, because of transport difficulties.

Rumania is continuing to take all possible measures to strengthen the country against attack. Training of reserve officers is being pushed and reservists whose army duties are in railroad work have been summoned to active service.

A 2 per cent defense tax on all sales has been established to increase the army's funds.

The question of policing the Danube river remains to be settled. Rumania and Jugo-Slavia refused German demands to let Germany do the policing, saying that they assume full responsibility for that task.

FRENCH BRING DOWN 2 GERMAN PLANES THAT SPOILED PARIS' SLEEP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 14.—Parisians were informed today that two German planes that broke their sleep before dawn on Friday by provoking an intense barrage from the city's anti-aircraft defenses were both shot down. The craft were downed near Laon, about halfway between Paris and the Belgian border, as they apparently were returning to Germany by way of Belgium. The four occupants of one plane were killed. Two in the second plane also were killed, a third wounded, and the fourth captured after a parachute landing.

FIFTY YEARS OF FINE FOOD

By CALEB

THEY SAY everything changes. Well, in the past half-century pretty much everything social and economic has. But step over into realms gastromonic and you exclaim, "Not appetite! People get just as hungrey now as they used to do in the 90's."

They do, indeed—and on April 14th, 1890, The Tea Room, as Field's styled it then, opened its doors for the first time to the public, "as an accommodation to customers." Before me as I write is a souvenir menu still as jealously preserved in today's archives as Scotland's "Stone of Scone." Its eight pages on deckle-edge handmade paper were printed in two colors—the covers hand-embroidered with clover blossoms and tied with a bow of schoolgirl pink.

One luncheon listing of former times featured nineteen headings as follows: Tea, Coffee, Cocoa, Milk, Beverages (4 choices), Breads (22 choices), Sandwiches (19 choices), Soups (7 choices), Egg Dishes (4 choices), Hot Dishes (29 choices), Salads (10 choices), Side Dishes (7 choices), Cold Dishes (7 choices), Ice Creams (7 choices), Punches (4 choices), Ices (3 choices), Desserts (15 choices), Sweets (11 choices), and "Hygienic Dishes, from recipes by Dr. E. N. Davis of the College of Surgeons, England" (9 choices). Stewed prunes, incidentally, were hygienic, as were cereal coffee and baked apples!

Fifteen were the flower-embowered tables set for that opening day in Tea Room history—and fifty-six were the patrons served; all in a connivial third-floor room of the old Singer Building on South State, long since demolished. But certain famed "Field dishes" of that time still lure the epicure from the world's four winds. Corned beef hash, chicken pie, potato muffins, New England fried salt pork with cream gravy—you will find these as available and delectable during this week's "Tea Room Anniversary" as they were to the April comers of Eighteen-Ninety.

Too, you will find again renewed in our Crystal Corridor much of that long-ago atmosphere, in potted palms and special table displays—coupled with an unusual souvenir which it would be heresy for me to describe. . . . Still serving are women who began with us in floor-length skirts, perkily beribboned pompadours and lacy frills, back in 1899, 1908, 1909 and 1910 respectively; and historically interesting is the Tea Room's growth: our English Room starting in 1902, the Crystal Room in 1904, the Walnut Room in 1907 and the Narcissus Room in 1914. . . .

This week's rendezvousers to "Field's for food" will, I think, more than enjoy the pleasantly novel memories associated with our gay celebration as America's oldest department store tea room.

BOSS CARROZZO WAFTED TO FAME BY WHITE WINGS

Career Forms 21 Year Success Story.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

The city's white wings first swept Michael Carrozzo, who has called a mystery strike of city asphalt workers, along the road to fortune back in 1919 when they elected him president of the Street Laborers' union by a practically unanimous vote. Mike had the backing of Timothy [Big Tim] Murphy, the labor boss, and easily defeated his opponent, Edward Lynch, who was sponsored by Maurice [Mossie] Enright.

The 29 year old Italian had been the union's business agent for several years. He had come from Italy in 1909.

Enright was slain less than five months after Carrozzo's election, and suspicion, aided by the confession of one James Vinci, pointed a finger at both Carrozzo and Big Tim, with whom Enright had been fighting for control of several unions.

Freed After 2 Disappear.

Mike and Big Tim were charged with murder but were set free four months later when two of the chief witnesses against them disappeared. Carrozzo entertained at Colosimo's the night they turned him loose. Within the year he and Murphy had quarreled and Carozzo took over complete control of the street sweepers. Since then, with a few unimportant exceptions, it has been weather clear, track fast, for all Carrozzo endeavors.

It is entirely probable that at least some of the 1,200 of his countrymen who voted Mike into power 21 years ago still are pushing a broom along the city streets. Mike, however, has become a member of the landed gentry, owner of a racing stable, a well-known figure on the Florida beaches, and a member of that circle whose income tax returns are under the scrutiny of federal agents.

Mike, long the foe of any curb on his dues-paying members, levied tribute of $1 monthly in 1934 on Civil Works administration employés working on city streets to earn money for their families.

Blocks Hiring of Reliefers.

He has blocked the city's efforts to put relief clients at work cleaning the streets of snow. He has been charged, on numerous occasions, with calling strikes to force the city to use a certain garbage dump, to hire certain persons' trucks, or to favor certain companies.

Mike is open-handed in his personal affairs. Back in February, 1929, when his bond was set at $1,000 after he finally appeared for trial on a gun-toting charge, Mike tossed a bill in front of Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court.

"Here's a grand," he said.

In March, 1936, when Mike became ill in Miami, he chartered a plane to come to Chicago for medical attention. With him flew his secretary and a private nurse. Mike's address then was 201 East Delaware place.

Gun Found in Hotel.

Once, when Mike was arrested for carrying a gun, they found a sawed off shotgun in his room in the Drake hotel. On another occasion he entered his address on the police blotter as the Lake Shore Drive hotel. In 1934 Mike bought a summer home in Long Beach, Ind., on Lake Michigan.

He paid $75,000 for it [including remodeling], christened it the Villa C., surrounded it with a sturdy fence, and moved in with his wife and two children. There is a private beach, and, one recent Christmas, two brilliantly lighted trees twinkled on the lawn.

Unless it has been removed, the Carrozzo coat of arms hangs on the front gate of the Long Beach home. It consists of a huge shield with the words "Villa C." in cream on a red background. In the upper left is a smaller shield with two lions, rampant, and two bundles of what seem to be twigs thru which protrudes the head of an ax. This may be intended to represent the old Roman fasces, badge of magisterial authority, and to serve as a reminder that Carrozzo, too, comes from the land of the Caesars.

Turns Gentleman Farmer.

In May, 1938, Mike turned gentleman farmer. He expended sums variously estimated at from $100,000 to $400,000 on land and buildings near Hobart, in Lake county, Indiana, paying for everything with thousand dollar bills. A half mile track was laid out for exercising his horses.

It is this particular purchase which is said to have been responsible for the federal government's sudden interest in his income.

The farmhouse was christened Superior farms, and Mike and Mrs. Carrozzo and their horses became socialites, in a way, as the following story in a 1938 issue of the Long Beach Billows shows:

"Mrs. Michael J. Carrozzo's new stable in Lake county took more blue ribbons than any other stable entered in the Lake county fair horse show last week. Superior King, ridden by Douglas Robb Jr., won the champion pony class, and Prince Charming, ridden by Mrs. Carrozzo, won the three gaited open class."

Gunmen in Early Life.

Carrozzo's earlier history trailed across the lives of many of Chicago's most famous gunmen, racketeers, and police characters. In addition to Big Tim Murphy, who served time for the Dearborn station train robbery, and who died on his front lawn in 1928, victim of gangland's guns, there were Dion O'Banion, a friend; Al Capone, a friend; Yellow Kid Weil, who was named corespondent when Carrozzo divorced his first wife, and many others.

When Carrozzo was arrested in August, 1928, on another charge of carrying concealed weapons, he produced a paper to show that he was a member of the state highway police force. When this was denied, officially, in Springfield, Mike turned up with a game warden's commission.

He was arrested again in September on the same charge, and after long delays was freed on a directed verdict when testimony introduced by his attorney convinced the court that Mike was carrying the gun in line of duty.

The court was told Mike was on his way to a loop restaurant to inspect fish, and had planned, also, to stop at the Illinois Central station, where there was a carload of fish.

Mike, now international head of the Hod Carriers, Building and Construction Laborers of America, said by telephone yesterday from his home in Long Beach that he is head of 15,000 street and construction laborers in Chicago alone. He said, rather testily, that his income was not derived solely from his union activities, but that he had several "outside" interests. He didn't say what they were.

NAME CHAIN GANG FUGITIVE AND 5 AS HOLDUP GANG

A fugitive from a Georgia chain gang and five other colored bandits were identified in nine holdups yesterday at the police showup. They were rounded up after a $185 robbery Saturday night at the meat market of Samuel Zabel, 1659 Lake street. A witness obtained the license number of the car used in the bandits' flight, and its owner, Alvin Smith, 25 years old, 4032 Prairie avenue, was arrested.

Taken into custody later were John Carter, alias Green, 23, of 4820 Evans avenue, who escaped from the chain gang in August, 1938, and has 18 years more to serve of a sentence for robbery and assault with a gun; Tilton McClinton, 22, of 3942 Indiana avenue; John Bullocks, 19, of 3744 South parkway; Stuart Hill, 33, an ex-convict, of 119 East 37th street, and Famous Stubblefield, 37, 721 East 37th street, who served a year in the federal penitentiary in Atlanta.

Stubblefield is accused of keeping the guns of the gang in his home. Six revolvers and more than 100 rounds of ammunition were seized.

City Club Will Discuss Solutions of Civic Problems

Solutions of Chicago's urgent civic problems will be discussed this noon before a luncheon meeting of the City club of Chicago in the Hotel Sherman by Guy E. Reed, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank. Reed is vice president for civic affairs of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

MURDERS DONE WHILE YOU WAIT IN BROOKLYN, N. Y.

Bared as Crime Capital of the Nation.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 14.—Evidence is piling up that Brooklyn, largest of the five boroughs making up New York City, is the crime capital of the nation.

William O'Dwyer.

A sensational investigation into Brooklyn crime under District Attorney William O'Dwyer has disclosed the underworld enjoyed virtual immunity from prosecution during the last decade. Washington, Kansas City, St. Paul, Reno, Nev., and other havens for the criminal element will have to look to their laurels from now on.

This picture of the crime ridden municipality has been painted by a trio of Brooklyn's leading trigger men who are anxious to save their skins and are confessing their sins. They are Abe Reles, Abraham Levene, and Anthony Maffetore.

Claims 30 Slayings Solved.

O'Dwyer claims to have solved more than 30 murders thru the stories of this unsavory threesome and other witnesses. The slayings were carried out by a murder syndicate with the killers hiring themselves out like mercenary soldiers.

There has been no difficulty convincing the long suffering citizenry of Brooklyn that this homicide-for-hire system existed and may still be operating in their borough. But the Brooklynese are maintaining a policy of watchful waiting to see whether a real crime cleanup is underway.

One of the reasons for their tongue in the cheek attitude is that so far O'Dwyer has produced only the mercenary soldiers who went about the actual business of human slaughter but hasn't turned up any generals who directed them. Surprisingly enough O'Dwyer has stated that in all this picture of organized crime he has not found any political connection.

Aspiring Mayoral Candidate.

O'Dwyer, a former policeman and judge, is being built up by Tammany and the Democratic machine in New York City as a candidate for mayor in 1941. He was elected district attorney with the aid of the powerful Brooklyn machine headed by Frank V. Kelly, Roosevelt lieutenant.

Kelly's Brooklyn machine is one of the most powerful single units in the Democratic organization in the United States. By way of example, it gave President Roosevelt a lead of more than half a million votes over Alf Landon, the Republican candidate for President in 1936.

Disclosures of corruption in Brooklyn officialdom, notably in the malodorous office of district attorney under O'Dwyer's predecessor, William F. X. Geoghan, have been made from time to time, but each inquiry bogged down after flaring up for a time. Besides, Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, the recipient of Brooklyn landslide votes, refused to remove Geoghan from office.

School for Gangsters.

Leading gangsters who have obtained their schooling in the Brooklyn underworld include such figures as Al Capone, Johnny Torrio, Frankie Yale, Little Augie Pisano, and George Scalise, the last named being now the czar of the country's building service unions.

Whatever the outcome of O'Dwyer's investigation, he has proved the truth of the charge made by his colleague across the river in New York county, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey. In his campaign for governor against Lehman in 1938, Dewey said: "Murder is safe in Brooklyn."

Murder for hire has been a thriving industry in Brooklyn, according to the stories being told by some of the 30 principals and witnesses now being grilled by O'Dwyer.

These assassinations sprang from other activities of the syndicate which included: Usury, bookmaking, policy game, prostitution, gooning [terrorist tactics] for labor racketeers, arson, auto theft, and shakedowns of all kinds of employers.

Union Officials Slain.

The murder syndicate is said to have operated within the plasterers helpers union. Last year half a dozen officials of plasterers' local unions were killed within a few weeks. It is also reported the hoodlums worked in truck labor fights and dabbled in the garment, cleaning and dyeing industries.

As a result of the investigation, Martin Goldstein and Harry Strauss have been accused of slaying one Irving Feinstein for attempting to encroach on their usury racket business, or "shylocking" as it is known in the vernacular. The pair have pleaded not guilty.

Among the unsolved murders O'Dwyer is said to have shed light upon was the slaying of Arthur [Dutch Schultz] Flegenheimer, New York gang leader. Schultz was a pal of Tammany leader James J. Hines whom Dewey convicted for complicity in the policy racket.

O'Dwyer has six assistants working on the murder cases now and expects the trials will take about two years.

There are some practical difficulties facing the prosecutor. Under New York state law the testimony of an accomplice in a murder must be corroborated by other witnesses. Thus the confessions O'Dwyer has are not enough in themselves to send other men to the electric chair. The reputation of his present crop of jailbirds for veracity and honesty is not high.

TEST YOUR HORSE SENSE

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Select the answer which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 25.

1. A young bride told her husband to bring a pullet home for dinner. Did she refer to the stenographer boss cheese poultry?
2. A "panhandler" usually refers to a dishwasher beggar tinker baker.
3. Prunes are the dried fruit of the kumquat crab apple plum persimmon.
4. Which of the following has only four sides rhomboid octagon pentagon hexagon?
5. A rutabaga is a fruit vegetable animal fish.
6. You are entitled to five points if you solve both parts of this problem and two points for half of it. If you lay a penny on a flat surface, how many other pennies can you lay around its circumference so they will all touch the center penny, 5 6 7 8? If you were to use half dollars, how many could you place around the half dollar in the center, 3 4 5 6?

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior.

RELIEF OFFICIALS CONFER TODAY ON BREMEN SCANDAL

Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, said yesterday that he will confer today with Raymond Hilliard, head of the commission's investigating department, and R. L. Peters, commission auditor, on the relief scandal in Bremen township. Several persons have been arrested since the township relief office, near Posen, was swept by fire on Feb. 25. Hilliard said the arrests have been based on evidence uncovered thru painstaking examination of partially burned relief records of the township.

STRIKE SETTLED, CITIZENS AWAIT TERROR HEARING

32 Face Judge Today in St. Charles Violence.

Kane county citizens last night awaited with interest the labor terrorism case which is to come before Judge Charles D. Page in their Circuit court at Geneva this morning.

Thirty-two men are facing contempt of court citations for violating an injunction against violence, intimidation, and other lawlessness in the three-month strike at the St. Charles Manufacturing company of St. Charles.

The strike was ended by agreement on Saturday. The workers are to return to their jobs this morning—before the court hearing opens.

Questions Being Asked.

The questions being asked in St. Charles and the rest of Kane county were these: Will the contempt charges be dropped, now that the strike has been settled? Will assault charges against nine of the strikers accused of violence before Justice of the Peace W. H. Johnson of Wheaton be prosecuted? Will the strikers prosecute their charge of assault with a deadly weapon against Walter MacNeille, secretary of the company? The charge was filed after he was accused of discharging tear gas at a striker who was advancing on his car.

The questions, summarized, appeared to be: Were both sides sincere in their charges, or was court action instituted to win the strike controversy?

Decline to Tell Plans.

Robert MacNeille, president of the company, said company attorneys would attend the hearing today, but declined to state what action the company would take. Charles A. O'Connor, state's attorney, refused to divulge his plans.

The injunction was issued by Judge Frank W. Shepherd. The men accused of breaking it in the violence that has marked the strike asked a change of venue last week, asserting that Judge Shepherd was prejudiced. He assigned the case to Judge Page of the Elgin City court.

The strike, which threw 115 men out of work, was called Jan. 8 by two American Federation of Labor unions in a dispute as to whether they or an independent union should be bargaining agent. The striking unions, the machinists and the blacksmiths, indicated after the strike ended tha the National Labor Relations board would be asked to determine the bargaining agent. The plant manufactures kitchen equipment.

BLIGHTED AREA ZONE ORDINANCE REVISION URGED

Philip F. W. Peck, president of the Greater Central District association, sent a bulletin to the association's members yesterday urging the amendment of Chicago's 17 year old zoning ordinance in order to reclaim 44 square miles of "blighted area" in the 51 miles bounded by Belmont avenue, Kedzie avenue, and 63d street.

Peck said 1,300,000 persons—or 40 per cent of the city's population—live in the blighted area. He urged coöperation with the Chicago Plan commission to reclaim the area as revenue producing land, saying that tax revenues from the area are insufficient to pay for fire, police, and other municipal services it receives.

Peck said the ordinance reserved too much land for commercial use, large apartments, and hotels and not enough for small homes.

COUPLE MARRIED 60 YEARS.

Bloomington, Ill., April 14 [Special].—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tosh, who were married 60 years ago tomorrow, celebrated with open house this afternoon. This evening they had dinner with guests from Morton, Peoria, Saybrook, Mounds, and Leoy. They are the parents of 11 children, nine of whom are living. There are 37 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Held in Killing

JAMES KESKA.

The state's attorney's office announced yesterday that some 50 election officials, poll watchers, and party workers in the 6th precinct of the 14th ward would be questioned in connection with the murder of Vincent Sniegowski, 48 years old, 4859 Bishop street.

He was dragged into an alley near his home by two men Tuesday night, shortly after the primary election closed, slugged and shot. Before his death he told police that he had been threatened earlier in the day when he went to vote, and told to "pledge yourself to Roosevelt or you'll be taken care of." He named James Keska, 43, Democratic precinct captain, as the man who threatened him.

Keska was arrested. He denied Sniegowski's death bed statement. He was charged with accessory to murder and is to be arraigned in Felony court today. Assistant State's Attorney Morris G. Meyers said he will ask a continuance to May 5, the date to which the inquest into Sniegowski's death has been continued, so that police may press their investigation.

2 WIVES SCREAM; 4 BANDITS FLEE FROM 2 HUSBANDS

Two robbers took $25 from the cash register of Isadore Rosenberg's liquor store at 2003 Chicago avenue. Then, as they started to search Rosenberg, his wife, Dorothy, screamed. The bandits fled at that, and the scream saved $50 Rosenberg was carrying.

Two other bandits fled without any loot when Mrs. Frank Waltman screamed as the bandits accosted her and her husband as they were putting their automobile in the garage behind their home at 1734 North Long avenue.

BIOFF TO START JAIL TERM TODAY AFTER 18 YEARS

New Fight to Dodge Pander Sentence Planned.

Willie Bioff, czar of the Hollywood motion picture unions, will enter the Bridewell this morning to begin serving a six month sentence imposed 18 years ago on a charge of pandering. State authorities are confident he will be there for the full six months. Bioff is equally confident he will stay only a few hours.

Willie Bioff.

Attorney Harold Marovitz, one of the attorneys for the labor leader, said last night that Bioff will surrender early today before Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court. But, said Marovitz, the surrender does not mean the end of the legal fight to avoid serving the pandering sentence, which Bioff has dodged since 1922.

Immediate Fight Planned.

"Immediately upon Bioff's commitment to the Bridewell I will take new steps to free him," Marovitz said. "I hope to have him out before the day is over."

Marovitz refused to reveal what new legal action he is comtemplating, but said it would take a different direction from his attempts of the last few weeks to keep Bioff from jail. It was believed that Marovitz might appeal to the United States District court for a writ of habeas corpus on which to free the labor czar.

Bioff was convicted in the Municipal court in February, 1922, and was committed to the Bridewell. A few days later he was released pending an appeal to the Appellate court.

Appeal Affirms Sentence.

The sentence was affirmed by that court in October, 1922, and a mandate was issued to return Bioff to jail on March 2, 1923. The mandate never was served, Bioff's appeal bond was released, and he went his way.

Since then Bioff has become the personal representative in Hollywood of George E. Browne, president of the International Association of Theatrical and Stage Employés, and as such bosses 35,000 union workers there. He returned to Chicago Feb. 20 to renew his fight against the jail sentence.

Up to today his fight has met with failure. Judge Prystalski has refused to grant a writ of habeas corpus which would have released Bioff, and last Thursday the Illinois Supreme court for the second time in two weeks refused to grant a writ of supersedeas and bail pending its review of the case. As the case will not be reviewed by the higher court until the October term, this means that even if the court finds that Bioff has been jailed unjustly he will have served all the time that the state is demanding before such a finding can be made.

Dogs Aid Hunt for Girl Who Vanished in Woods

Oakland, Cal., April 14 (AP).—Searchers, aided by dogs, today sought new clews to the disappearance on Friday of Bernice Winfield, 14 year old daughter of an Oakland policeman. Only her emptied purse and a torn library card, discarded in a heavily wooded secluded spot two miles from Bernice's home, have been found.

AMERICAN LABOR PARTY PLEDGES THIRD TERM AID

New York, April 14 (AP).—The pro-New Deal leadership of the American Labor party, successful in squelching a factional revolt, today pledged its support to President Roosevelt if he should seek a third term.

The 4 year old Labor party polled about 300,000 votes for Roosevelt in 1936 and 482,000 for Mayor Fiorello La Guardia—a member—in the 1937 mayoral election.

Alex Rose, state secretary, and Luigi Antonini, state chairman, were reëlected at a turbulent session of the newly chosen state committee last night. The factional revolt followed an attempt several months ago by the Rose-Antonini group to purge the party of communists and communist sympathizers.

Mr. Roosevelt told the Washington reporters that he thought the technical problem of radio television would be ironed out this summer and that the government would be able to protect the public from monopoly in the new service. The Federal Communications commission had issued an order allowing what was called a limited commercialization beginning Sept. 1. Later this order was suspended because the FCC didn't like the methods by which the Radio Corporation of America was promoting sales and feared that the buyers of the first sets offered would lose their money on account of quick obsolescence.

When David Sarnoff, president of the Radio corporation, appeared before the senate interstate commerce committee he explained that his company had already invested 10 million dollars in research, experiments, and other activities necessary to the development of a great new industry. For 10 years hundreds of engineers had been at work and that work would continue. The American radio industry, he said, had been criticized for its slowness rather than its forwardness, and comparisons unfavorable to it had been made with the British, who were supposed to be far ahead. Television on a limited scale could now be undertaken. No purchaser would need do any blind buying. He would know exactly what his set would give him and would take it only if he were satisfied to be a pioneer in the development of the industry.

What the Radio corporation proposed to do, and it disclaimed all monopolistic purposes, was in line with true pioneering in the development of a new product. The first models are known to be imperfect. That fact does not stop the people who buy because they like the thrill of being in at the beginning. The more conservative people who do not want a hand in the experiments wait until the risks have been taken by somebody else.

This is the way private enterprise does things when it is free to act. It risks its money and expends its genius in experiments covering a long period of time. That isn't the way a governmental agency acts. Unfortunately enterprise in this country takes its orders now from the governmental officials whose imagination only conjures up difficulties, to whom private adventure is apparently reprehensible in principle, and who naturally prefer status to progress.

Television promises to be one of the great new industries such as arrive from time to time to put new blood into the economic frame. These new industries create the new frontiers which pessimistic and governmentally minded persons say are gone forever. It would seem that the idea that they are gone forever inspires a determination that they are not to be found. Public interest would be served and not injured by the taking off of burocratic hands. Officialdom can always find some reason why an enterprise should be halted. The case of television does not stand alone. It is only one explanation of the difficulties the country has been having in trying to put money and men to work.

The political and economic philosophy in Washington is that private enterprise and private financing have reached their limits, have had their day, and are unequal to the task formerly assigned to them. This philosophy requires the government to step in as capitalist and manager. In putting these ideas into operation the men who hold them use their authority to tie private investment and enterprise up in so many governmental regulations that they cannot operate. It is probably well perceived by these philosophers that if they do not succeed in stopping the risk takers and adventurers private enterprise will quickly destroy their philosophy and with it them.

THE SPIRIT OF 78.

Jules S. Bache, the New York banker, went to Toronto to assure the stockholders of Dome Mines, Ltd., of which he is president, that if Great Britain and France appear in danger of losing the war, the United States will finish it with them. The people of the United States, he held, should regard intervention as good business.

Dome Mines owns gold producing properties in Ontario, and made a good thing of the Roosevelt dollar. The company's profits more than tripled in 1933, the year the President cut the gold content to 59 cents. With Canada in the war, Mr. Bache may foresee some difficulty in getting his profits across the border if, indeed, there are any profits after he pays his war taxes. He has a good reason to regard as good business the assumption by American taxpayers of the heavy end of the war costs, but his is not a reason that appeals to our own industry. Its leaders have made plain that they would regard war as disastrous to American business.

Mr. Bache is 78, and his biography lists no sons. He thus is in no danger of the service in the Maginot line to which his bloodthirsty, if quavering pronunciamento would seem to consign him, and neither is he in a position to understand why American mothers are impelled to vote for those whom he contemptuously seeks to label the professional isolationists. Mr. Bache's personal contribution to war, it seems, will have to be confined to knitting bundles for Britain.

WHERE WOULD WE SEND A MILLION MEN?

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, told a congressional subcommittee the other day that the army's primary objective is to amass modern equipment for 1,000,000 men. What he didn't tell the committee was where the army or the administration intends to use the million men.

No such force is necessary for the defense of the United States. Even granting the previous destruction of the United States fleet, which inconceivable event would have to precede the dispatch of any armed expedition against this country, defense experts have calculated that the maximum invading force for which shipping could be found would number about 200,000 men. The army's initial protective force of 400,000 men, comprising the regular army and National Guard, could repel such an invading force with ease.

Gen. Marshall and his colleagues in the army command are realists. They are subject in their activities to civil, that is, political control, but it is their habit to base their calculations not on what the politicians say at the moment but what they think the politicians will do in the future. The equipment of an army is not accomplished overnight. If the general staff wants equipment for an army of 1,000,000 men it is because its members are convinced that by the time we have the equipment we will be using the army. The only place that such an army could be used would be as an expeditionary force in Europe.

IMPROVING TAX RECORDS.

County Treasurer John Toman has modernized the general bookkeeping system of his office, with the result that taxing bodies will get more prompt remittances of collections, and an adequate record of tax reductions by the courts is being established for the first time.

Mr. Toman seems to have done all that he can do within his jurisdiction and under existing statutes to improve the county's tax records. That does not mean that he now has a good system of records. He has, in fact, an almost unbelievably bad one, altho it is not his fault. The improvements he has made are all in the general records of the office, as distinguished from the warrant books that constitute the individual records of some 1,200,000 parcels of real estate in Cook county.

The warrant books are the survival of the simple days more than half a century ago when bookkeeping was of the crudest sort. Their smallest details are established by statute. They were not much good when taxes were being paid regularly, and during the tax muddle of the last 10 years they have become an unholy mess. Yet they are the customers' ledger for a business that takes in more than $200,000,000 a year and has more than twice that sum in overdue accounts.

The antiquated character of the warrant book records was recognized when the land lot ledger, a modern card file record system operated with the most advanced machine bookkeeping aids, was organized several years ago. It was expected then that the legislature would be asked to authorize substitution of the land lot ledger for the warrant books as the legal record, but this has never been done.

The land lot ledger should be made the official tax record—at least for the levies for 1937 and subsequent years. The warrant books are outmoded and no amount of tinkering with them can make them a satisfactory record.

The worst defect in the existing tax records is that nowhere, either on the warrant books or in the land lot ledger, is any record kept of penalties paid or remaining unpaid on individual pieces of property. There is no space in the warrant books for entries of penalty payments. There is space on the land lot ledger cards, but the entries have not been made, altho records are available on all penalty payments since April 27, 1938. Penalty records before that date could be built up, but only by great effort.

Treasurer Toman is anxious that a complete record be kept of penalty payments. He is not remitting penalties as political favors and has nothing to fear from such a record. The record should be kept for the protection of the public and the logical place to keep it is on the land lot ledger cards.

Editorial of the Day

THE CHEWING GUM CASE MAY LOOK FUNNY, BUT IT IS NOT.

[Baltimore Sun.]

Every wag in the country will be stimulated to the manufacture of jokes by the latest expropriation of the Mexican government, which has seized from American owners 1,500,000 acres of land devoted to the production of chicle, the basic constituent of chewing gum. The imaginative concept of the Mexican government as having stepped on chewing gum is one that the jesters are not likely to miss.

But the incident is, as a matter of fact, a serious one, not so much on account of the value of the property involved as on account of the spirit in which the expropriation was made. By comparison with the expropriation of the oil lands, involving properties valued at anything from $200,000,000 up, the chicle industry is trifling. Ten years ago the entire production of chicle—it is the sap of the sapodilla tree, sapota achras, collected in much the same way as rubber—in both Mexico and Central America was worth around $50,000,000, of which a relatively small proportion came from the plantations in the state of Chiapas which have been taken over. Today Mexico's exports of chicle are so small that they are not listed in the Statesman's Year Book.

It is the procedure, not the money, in this case that makes it embarrassing to Mexico's friends in this country. In the first place, these lands were not acquired by swindling ignorant and innocent peons out of their homesteads. In 1891, when most of them were bought by American companies, they were utter wildernesses, practically uninhabited and producing nothing. They have been made valuable by dint of hard and intelligent work and a great deal of it, coupled with the expenditures of considerable sums of American money.

The ground on which they were seized is that the previous owners, Mexicans, had acquired them in violation of the existing law. But the fraud, if any, was not perpetrated by the present holders, who paid good money for what they thought was a good title, and one which has gone unchallenged for anywhere from 35 to 45 years. How is this sort of thing to be defended by Mexico's best friends in this country?

There has always been, and there still is, an element in the United States that unblushingly advocates basing American policy toward Mexico on brute force. This newspaper has opposed and still opposes that element, believing that the policy based on patience and calm reason inaugurated by the late Dwight Morrow and consistently pursued since is not only right but, in the long run, profitable to both countries. Americans in Mexico have never been plaster saints, and it is the part of wisdom to admit it. However, a policy of patience and reason is exceedingly difficult to maintain unless it is reciprocal.

"CAISSONS ARE ROLLING"—II.

[This column wants new versions of the "Field Artillery Song," also known as the "Caisson Song." The best lyric submitted will be sung by the W-G-N double quartet to Henry Weber's new arrangement of the score.]

Here is the story of the origin of "The Caissons Go Rolling Along," as told by its author and composer, Col. Edmund L. Gruber, now on duty at Fort Benning, Ga.:

"In April, 1908, the 1st battalion, 5th field artillery, came over to the Philippine Islands to relieve the 2d battalion. It was the first time that the regiment had been together since organization. All officers and men felt a great pride in the regiment and were anxious to see it get a good start. We thought the best booster for the regiment would be a regimental song. By common consent I was told to write one."

"In searching for a good, catchy title for the song, an incident which took place during a difficult march made by the 2d battalion in 1907 across the Zambales mountains from Stotsenburg to Iba on the China sea recurred to me. . . . The sergeant turned to me and said, 'They'll be all right, lieutenant, if they keep 'em rolling.' . . . That expression, which was frequently used by officers and men of the battalion, made quite an impression on me.

"At a despedida [farewell party] given at Stotsenburg to our battalion just before it sailed for the United States, we sang the 'Field Artillery Song' for the first time. . . . As it stands, the title and music are mine. Several officers then serving in the 5th field artillery assisted me in writing the first verse. The other verses [four] I have added from time to time."

TO A DANCING PARTNER.

When you dance with me, my darling,
All the world is in a whirl—
And my heart keeps skipping madly,
Tripping gladly as we twirl!

When you waltz with me, beloved,
This old life is sweet and gay—
And my thoughts are singing brightly,
Winging lightly as we sway.

When we tango, my beloved,
All our worries slide and slip,
And our cares are slim and crazy,
Dim and hazy as we dip.

When we dance together, darling,
There's no time for sighs and tears.
So may you and I keep dancing
And romancing thru the years!

Maybe We've Got Something Here.

Among the lesser Roman deities there is Concord, the goddess of peace, whose niche in Roman mythology was so small that nothing much was ever written about her. At one time they held festivals in her honor; couldn't we? Why not try to carry over some of the spirit and good will of the Christmas season to a new midyear holiday, to be known as Concordia.

Concordia, a nine day festival devoted to concord, harmony, and peace. A great festival of drama, literature, music, painting, health, beauty, sportsmanship, and a study of the great men and women who have given us the things that have made "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness" easier. It could be a great season with all martial heroes relegated to obscurity, with racial, religious, nationalistic, and political prejudices buried, and all writings, speeches, and actions of a controversial or irritating nature subjected to self-censorship.

Grass Didn't Help Nebuchadnezzar.

In your column of April 11 Nebuchadnezzar is said to have lived 963 years as a result of eating grass.

Please let me point out that, altho Nebuchadnezzar ate grass, he probably did not live to be over 40 years of age. The only two men who lived close to the age mentioned were Jared, who lived 962 years [Gen. v., 20], and Methuselah, who lived 969 years [Gen. v., 27]. Neither of these were said to have eaten grass, and both lived about 2,000 years before Nebuchadnezzar. They were the two oldest men in the Bible.

NO SPARROW SHALL FALL.

Fret not about tomorrow. Live each day
As if it were your last. Let come what may
Your worry will not change it. Tho you weep
A sea of tears, joy is not yours to keep.
In spite of you Night comes—and pain, and sorrow!
So live and laugh today. God holds tomorrow!

A Landmark on the West Side.

Add to your tall church steeples of the west side the greatest of them all—that of the old Holy Family [Jesuit] church at Roosevelt road and May street, visible on clear days to the western city limits. It stands 266 feet from the sidewalk to the tip of the cross, equivalent to 26 stories as we build nowadays.

The foundation was laid in 1857 and the cross mounted in 1874, 14 years after the great Gothic church [then the largest west of the Alleghenies] was opened for use. See the verses on a bronze tablet near the base of the tower commemorating the illustrious builder, Father Arnold Damen.

TOO LITTLE FOOD: A FOE TO RECOVERY.

THE more we mull over the problems of diet, the more are we impressed with the rôle of food as related to health. Most of us exercise the wildest sort of guesswork in selecting our meals and we cater to our palates rather than to our needs. We can thus explain why so many of us exhibit nutritional difficulties.

That this is not an idle matter is borne out by a recent study of 100 patients in a New York City hospital. All were admitted, of course, because of some particular complaint. But it was discovered that in 76 per cent, the number of calories taken was inadequate—altho each thought that he was obtaining all that was required—certainly all that was desired. How, then, could these persons expect the system to overcome disease with so little fuel? It may be assumed safely that the existing maladies—plus depleted nutrition—supplemented each other to the point where disability was actually increased.

In addition, 23 per cent lacked iron, 33 per cent vitamin C, and 46 per cent vitamin A. A careful investigation of the 46 conditions for which they entered the hospital, revealed scarcely one which would not have been benefited by proper eating. At any rate, this was assumed to be a necessary starting point along with specific treatment of the actual trouble. Regular ward menus were used—which supplied the correct proportion of sugars, starches, proteins, fats, and vitamins.

In order to meet the vitamin deficiencies a special "snack" was administered. This consisted of two level tablespoonfuls of brewer's yeast [powdered], five drops of halibut liver oil, and one-half glass of sweetened grapefruit juice. These materials were thoroly mixed and served ice cold after meals. This plan was pursued even tho the individual who received the extra vitamins was suffering from a shortage of only one or two. The preparation furnished generous quantities of A, B, C, and D—all that any one could possibly utilize. Whenever the blood count and hemoglobin estimation showed a scarcity of iron, this element was added.

Obviously, the explanation for the program lies in the fact that the body can combat illness only when ample nourishment is available. Under this arrangement all the victims felt better and exhibited a more hopeful outlook. Furthermore, the response to treatment was prompt. In chronic disorders—particularly arthritis, bronchitis, and digestive derangements—improvement was far more rapid. Old, persistent ulcers healed quickly and in general the fight against infections of all types was accompanied by many victories.

While—in some instances—the economic status of the patients may have had something to do with their faulty diets before going to the hospital—this group was not large. For the most part the answer was insufficient knowledge of what to eat and what kinds of raw provisions to purchase. As a natural follow-up, those who had existed on too meager rations were given definite instructions as to what to buy and how to prepare the dishes for the table. This emphasizes again the importance of a balanced régime, which is far less expensive than the one that caters to taste only, with little regard for its tissue building properties.

Naturally, the question of absorption enters into any rehabilitation process and here some minor attention to digestion proved helpful. For those who were constipated, water drinking before breakfast was advised. With others, slight restrictions of common salt aided elimination.

The situation in which most of these patients found themselves is likely to confront any one. Naturally, if we do not feel well, about the first thing we do is to reduce the diet. It is well known that many disturbances are attended with nausea and loss of appetite. Disease, therefore, may set up a vicious cycle; following a lower food intake—the body is bound to lose resistance. In consequence, the ailment may progress by leaps and bounds.

LUCKY YOU.

Mrs. G. writes: Have you ever heard of a case of streptococcus viridans [septic subacute bacterial endocarditis] that got well? I had this disease recently and all my friends tell me that there never has been a recovery.

REPLY.

They must be wrong inasmuch as you have lived to tell the tale. While the infection is dangerous, authentic returns to normal are known. Sulfanilamide bids fair to reduce fatalities from this malady.

CYSTITIS.

W. C. writes 1. What is cystitis? 2. How is it treated?

REPLY.

1. Inflammation of the lining of the bladder. Pus may appear in the urine and considerable pain may be present on voiding. 2. Generous quantities of fluid are advised and all condiments [pepper, salt, mustard, etc.] omitted from the diet. Certain drugs or antiseptics may be required.

MENTAL TREATMENT.

A. L. writes: What is psychiatry? What is psychoanalysis?

REPLY.

Psychiatry deals with the study and treatment of diseases of the mind. Psychoanalysis is a special method of mental treatment popularized by Freud. It is designed to reveal hidden inhibitions, unfulfilled wishes, etc.

NORWAY.

Evanston, Ill., April 12.—Because of her great achievements in the arts of peace and human welfare the smallness of Norway's population is seldom realized. She has a population of only 2,850,000, equal, you might say, to one of our large cities. We talk of little Holland and tiny Belgium, either one of which is three times the size of Norway. But, as an American university president expressed it, "in contributions to literature, art, science, and music, Norway ranks with the great powers."

Her population is thinly spread out over a long, mountainous country of great grandeur and rugged beauty, but only about 3 per cent of all this territory is suitable for cultivation. How has Norway met these odds? With terrific energy and intelligence she has built up one of the largest and most modern merchant marines in the world. Unable to farm her land, she has farmed the sea and sent expeditions which actually appear to reach from one pole to the other.

As a result she, along with the other Scandinavian states, has built up what the league of nations survey declares "the highest standard of living to be found in Europe today."

Strongly democratic, she abolished all titles and nobility, with the exception of her ruling family, over a century ago. In labor legislation, which followed the introduction of manufacturing to utilize her electric power, she has in many respects furnished the model widely followed by other nations.

It is this progressive little nation, with the kindliest and friendliest of peoples, that has been made the victim of the most unprovoked and ruthless attack in our generation. I think America, short of war, should do something and speak quickly to prevent this noble little nation from being cut to pieces. There are some principles of humanity and human justice which we cannot afford to ignore, for our own good.

AMERICAN.

AGAINST WAR.

Clarendon Hills, Ill., April 12.—What are the meanings of loyalty and patriotism? I have had the opinion that one who stood for the ideals and well being of his country was called a patriot. But this does not seem to be the conception held by our meddlers in Europe, Anglophiles, Franco-British propagandists and other un-American minorities. They are trying to tell us that it is patriotic and loyal to meddle in the European war, which would bring on a deeper financial depression, demoralization, corrupted Christian and American ideals, and probably dictatorship.

Is it patriotic to "fight for democracy" in Europe and bring on the loss of American ideals and democracy at home? There should be a congressional committee to investigate the activities of Anglo-French propagandists, which are nearly as un-American and militaristic as the communists and Nazis.

BENJAMIN H. HORNING.

LET THEM FIGHT.

Evanston, Ill., April 4.—I propose the following solution for our international policy.

The United States government will set up a large voluntary recruiting bureau. Any war agitator or pro-belligerent will be welcome to enlist in any foreign army he wishes and he will be outfitted and transported at American expense. From then on he is the property of the foreign government of his choice.

Ergo! The participationist is satisfied. The isolationist is also satisfied, his country is still neutral. The cost would be small compared to that of a full scale participation. There would be no chance of the nation's entering, since there would be no one left in favor of it.

Well, there's no harm in dreaming, is there?

ABOUT A PUBLIC SERVANT.

Chicago, April 6.—In recent discussion of the possible reorganization of the secretary's office of the Chicago Public library, statements have been made referring to the position as a "political plum."

This phrase should never be mentioned in the same breath with the name of Harry G. Wilson, who recently resigned as secretary of the library board after 30 years of as faithful and valuable service as any man in this community has given to the public. Insofar as our staff had the opportunity to judge, the fiscal affairs of the Chicago Public library were excellently handled under Mr. Wilson and financial information was always easily available on request. He was conservative in his policies and judgments and many times saved the taxpayers from increases which otherwise easily would have been voted because of the popularity of the library, simply because he thought they were out of balance with the tax requirements of the entire governmental structure.

I do not pretend to have any judgment about the administrative desirability of making the position of business manager —which in effect Mr. Wilson was—subservient to that of the head of the professionalized library service. If that change is to be made it should be made on its own merits and not at the expense of the reputation of a man who, up to the end of his long career, gave the public keen, intelligent, and valuable service.

HERMAN FOLKMAN.

PORTRAIT OF A HUSBAND.

Palatine, Ill., April 11.—I have been married 15 years and am no child but I have a problem.

If a husband earns $60 a week, pays all bills and buys all the clothes his wife needs, should he give her a spending account? That is our one argument. I think he should give me $2 a week spending money. He says if I want anything to ask him for it, and if I need it he'll get it, but I can't have any change in my purse. If he gives me a quarter, I have to tell him what I want it for or where I spent it. Lots of times I snoop around in the dime store and see things I want or could use but can't get as I am always broke.

Is this fair? He spends what he wants and sometimes very foolishly in taverns or bookies. Of course he works for it.

I live in a hotel apartment and have all day to myself and no work to do. I can't find work either, as I am over 35, so I have much time on my hands and do a lot of crocheting and can't have company as he doesn't want that either. He says he doesn't want any pests hanging around. If he gives me money for a show he starts in at night questioning me what the picture was about to really see if I was there. If I can't tell him then the war is on and he hollers and calls me names.

DAILY READER.

YOU'RE WRONG.

Evanston, Ill., April 9.—In today's TRIBUNE, April 8, the headline of the right hand column, front page, reads, "Capital Awaits Nebraska and Illinois Polls." Inasmuch as from the context the word "capital" referred to the city, Washington, and not to consolidations of money, it should have been spelled with an o, not with an a. I do not know whether you do as so many firms do—pay a bonus for discovery of mistakes, but if so I shall much appreciate it.

DIVORCE AND REMARRIAGE.

Chicago, April 11 [Legal Friend of the People].—A woman left her husband of her own free will taking her three children with her, and said husband supported her for six years, from 1919 until 1925; then wife disappeared with children and was not heard from again until 1940. Children have grown up and married and said wife is in a mental hospital for the insane.

After being gone 15 years [1] is she not considered dead, and [2] is husband entitled to remarry without divorce?

Paid a lawyer $150 for a divorce and he has never done anything about it but [3] claimed to have filed case, and [4] refused to return money, and when [5] other lawyer called him said he was going to do something but has not since 1930. Have all receipts showing he was paid.

6. Can he be made to give the money back or give service for same?

7. He claims case was filed as case No. B-162857 in the Circuit court.

8. Also is a woman legally married to a man after living with him 18 years in the state of Illinois?

G. M.

1. No, seven years unexplained absence creates a presumption of death, but in your case this presumption would be rebutted by your knowledge that she is in fact alive.

2. No. Even if the presumption were not rebutted we uniformly advise against contracting a new marriage in reliance on a mere presumption of death.

3. You can ask him to give you the name of the court and the number of the case, after which you can check up at the office of the clerk of the court.

4. Before asking him to return the money you should check up as to what he has done.

5. If you have gone over your facts with another lawyer then such lawyer is in a better position to advise you than we are.

6. Yes, subject to a reasonable deduction for services that he may have performed, short of starting the suit.

7. If you have this information and are skeptical about it, obviously the first step is to verify the information along the lines that we have suggested.

8. In the absence of a ceremonial marriage the legality of the relationship would depend upon whether there was ever an agreement for a legal, as distinguished from an illicit relationship, and upon whether that agreement was entered into in a state recognizing common law marriages. Since 1905 Illinois law has not permitted the contracting of common law marriages in this state, but if the relation was valid when and where it was entered into it would be valid everywhere.

TODAY IN HISTORY

April 15, 1912

The magnificent new White Star liner Titanic struck an iceberg off Newfoundland while cruising at full speed on her maiden voyage. The crash occurred at 2 a. m. and the ship sank shortly afterward. Of the 2,224 persons aboard 1,513 perished, making it one of the worst disasters of all time. The ship, embodying all the newest features of shipbuilding in its day, was 882½ feet long and had been built at an estimated cost of $7,500,000.

CHICAGO CADETS STAND GUARD AT LINCOLN'S TOMB

Tribute on Anniversary of Assassination.

Springfield, Ill., April 14 [Special].—Five R. O. T. C. cadets from Chicago's Lane Technical High school stood vigil tonight in the shadows of the massive tomb of Abraham Lincoln following ceremonies commemorating the loss of the civil war President 75 years ago. Lincoln was shot April 14, 1865, and died the next day.

The honor guard was composed of Capt. George Pingle Jr., Leonard Berendt, Joseph Glueckert, Henry Raschke Jr., and Edmund Sonnenberg, all seniors at Lane. According to Benjamin A. Polzin, in charge of the civics department at the Chicago school, the youths wanted to demonstrate their reverence to Lincoln and his ideals.

1,000 Persons Pay Tribute.

In the afternoon memorial exercises were carried out before an assemblage of more than 1,000 visitors. Invocation was offered by the Rev. Dr. Gay C. White, district superintendent of the Methodist church in the Springfield area. Mayor John C. Kapp Jr. of Springfield spoke.

Cadet Capt. Pingle read excerpts from Lincoln's second inaugural address and two poems. Walt Whitman's "O Captain! My Captain!" was quoted by Pingle:

O Captain! my Captain! our fearful trip is done!
The ship has weather'd every wrack, the prize we sought is won,
The port is near, the bells I hear, the people all exulting . . .
I with mournful tread,
Walk the deck my Captain lies,
Fallen cold and dead.

Bugle Sounds Taps.

Taps was sounded by a Boy Scout bugler. Then Cadet Raschke stepped forward and pronounced the words uttered by Secretary of War Stanton at Lincoln's death bed:

"Now he belongs to the ages."

The President received his wound in Ford's theater, Washington, D. C., as he watched a performance of "Our American Cousin." His assassin, the actor John Wilkes Booth, was shot to death April 26 by Sergt. Boston Corbett, United States army, near Fredericksburg, Va.

For participation in the crime the government tried and hanged Mrs. Mary E. Surratt, David E. Harold, George A. Atzerodt, and Lewis Payne [Powell]. Four others were imprisoned.

HISTORICAL BODY RECEIVES MEDALS OF GEN. SANBORN

Military decorations awarded to Lieut. Gen. Joseph B. Sanborn of the Illinois National Guard during his 40 years of military service to the state and the nation were presented to the Chicago Historical society last night. Gen. Sanborn died Dec. 22, 1934.

The presentation was made by Gen. John V. Clinnin on behalf of Sanborn's widow, Willa, and was accepted by Charles S. Dewey, a trustee of the society. More than 400 persons, many of them old comrades of Gen. Sanborn, were present.

The medals were the Distinguished Service cross of the United States, the Cross of an Officer of the Legion of Honor of France, the Cross of the Order of Leopold of Belgium, and the French croix de guerre with palm. Gen. Sanborn was a veteran of the Spanish-American and world wars and the Mexican border campaign. For years he was colonel of the old "Dandy First" regiment. He commanded it as the 131st infantry in action overseas.

800 LEAVE CCC IN THREE MONTHS FOR PRIVATE JOBS

Eight hundred young men in Civilian Conservation corps in Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin left the CCC to accept private employment during the first three months of 1940, Leo M. Free of Oxygen Tent

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Richard Wisowaty rejoices with Nurse Leota Stazio on his ability to remain out of oxygen tent after more than 27 days in device.

Richard Wisowaty, 13 years old, who has been in Walther Memorial hospital for five weeks suffering from an unusual complication of lung ailments, was all smiles yesterday—his seventh day out of the oxygen tent in which he lived for 27 days.

The boy has received dozens of sympathetic letters from all parts of the country, according to Dr. Irwin Hoffman, his physician. Dr. Hoffman said Richard is showing steady improvement, altho it will be several months before he is well again.

His ailment was diagnosed as "spontaneous pneumothorax" when he entered the hospital. This is a condition which causes the lung to collapse by permitting air to escape thru a perforation into the chest cavity. Later Richard developed lobar pneumonia and also a streptococcus hemolyticus infection, both of which responded to treatment with sulfanilamide products.

DR. B. M. FANTUS, 'BLOOD BANK'S' ORIGINATOR, DIES

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Authority on Therapy.

Dr. Bernard M. Fantus, west side physician who was instrumental in introducing the "blood bank" to Cook County hospital three years ago, died of a heart attack yesterday in his home at 155 North Taylor avenue, Oak Park. He was 66 years old.

Dr. B. M. Fantus.

Dr. Fantus, an authority on therapy, was professor of pharmacology and therapeutics in the University of Illinois college of medicine, and was director of therapeutics at County hospital. He was editor of the Yearbook on General Therapeutics for 22 years, and was a member of the revision committee of the United States Pharmacopoeia. He wrote several medical books and numerous magizine articles, and was a member of the American Medical association and the American Pharmaceutical association.

Awarded Honorary Degree.

In 1933 he was awarded the first honorary degree given by the American Therapeutic association for his work in making certain medicines, such as cod liver oil and castor oil, more palatable for children.

In County hospital's "blood bank," which was established on March 15, 1937, as the result of Dr. Fantus' efforts, supplies of blood and blood serums are preserved and kept on hand for emergency transfusions and treatments. The "blood bank" is credited with having saved many lives. County hospital is said to have been the first institution in the United States to adopt such a system.

50 Hospitals Now Use System.

Dr. Elizabeth Schirmer, director of the "blood bank," said yesterday that about 50 other large hospitals in the country have now followed this practice. At County hospital about 70 transfusions a month were given prior to establishment of the "blood bank." More than 700 transfusions a month are now given.

Dr. Fantus leaves his widow, Emily, and a daughter, Ruth. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 318 North Central avenue.

DR. ROSS NAMED CIVIL LIBERTIES UNION CHAIRMAN

New York, April 14 [Special].—Unanimous election of Prof. Edward Alsworth Ross of the University of Wisconsin as national chairman of the American Civil Liberties union was announced today. He succeeds Dr. Harry F. Ward, professor of Christian ethics at Union Theological seminary, who resigned recently.

Dr. Ross, who is 73 years old, has served on the faculties of Cornell, Indiana, and Stanford, in addition to Wisconsin, and has been a visiting lecturer on sociology at Harvard and Chicago.

He has not been much in the public eye in recent years, altho as a member of the Civil Liberties union's national committee he has had a part in formulating its policies. He was criticized by a Wisconsin senatorial investigating committee in 1935 for alleged tolerance in the classroom of communistic teachings.

Dr. Gilmore succeeds Judge A. Marshall Thompson, a member of the Pitt faculty since 1902 and dean since 1920. Judge Thompson has been acting dean since his election to the Allegheny county [Pittsburgh] Common Pleas court bench in 1938.

QUIZ IN VIOLENCE AT HAT CONCERN TO OPEN TODAY

Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford will begin an investigation today into goon violence at the American Needle and Novelty company hat manufacturing plant at 2331 North Washtenaw avenue. Most of the 150 employés are on a strike called two weeks ago by the United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers' union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate.

Three employés were attacked Tuesday when they left the plant and an independent trucker and his helper were beaten by goons. Seven men subsequently were arrested but were freed when two of the victims refused or were unable to identify them.

Attorney Harold Keele, counsel for the company, said the workers and others had been threatened if they identified the goons or returned to their jobs. The strike was called when the company refused union demands for a wage increase. Joseph Jacobs, attorney for the union, denied that the union was responsible for the violence.

HERE IT IS, APRIL 15, AND MARTINS STILL HOLD BACK

The Birds Already Here Are None Too Happy.

Twenty-five per cent of the martins and 75 per cent of the martin lovers of Cook county are unhappy and worried. The birds are unhappy because they came. The bird lovers are worried because the rest of them didn't.

The martin, you know, is that beautiful, homey, and gracefully flying bird that winters in South and Central America and summers thruout the Mississippi river valley and as far north as Saskatchewan. The same martins fly from the same spots in Brazil to identical martin houses in Cook county each year.

Back to the Worries.

But back to the worries of men and martins.

On the last day of March—about two weeks early—two martin scouts appeared ahead of the main flock at Richton Park in southern Cook county.

These foolhardy birds apparently sent the wrong word back to flocks waiting in the south for the weather to warm up.

The next Tuesday—April 2—several colonies arrived. Citizens rushed to put up their martin houses, and to unblock the entrances to the houses that were already up. Then a few more martins came, but fully 75 per cent of the martin houses remained untenanted.

Grow Hungry and Morose.

The weather turned wet and cold. The few martins who were on the job grew hungry and morose. Some of them—spurning a tradition which keeps them soaring high in the air for their food—were seen picking about in the chicken yard at the home of Mrs. Anthony Fraccaro in Richton Park. It was at her home that the martin scouts had appeared on March 31.

Mrs. Fraccaro reported yesterday that six other martins had arrived and had crowded into her birdhouse with the original pair. This item of news caused some chagrin in the home of Leo Schiedt, next door, who had redecorated two martin houses this spring to lure tenants. His houses remain vacant. The Fraccaros did no redecorating this season.

If the early arrivals are unhappy, consider the plight of those that stayed away. Awaiting them are freshly cleaned and painted boxes which had been put up by the now disappointed martin lovers.

Seized by Usurpers.

These houses have been enthusiastically seized upon by starlings and sparrows. If there is any bird that the martin hates more than the sparrow, it is the murderous starling, and the pests are building nests in the martins' houses. And thus the worries of the martin lovers.

They have been kept busy destroying nests and shooting starlings, and hoping that they can hold out until the martins return to claim their own.

Dr. Charles Swift, a member of the medical faculty at the University of Chicago, who is a widely recognized ornithologist, thinks the martin lovers can help those that already have arrived by spreading bread crumbs.

Karl Bartel, Blue Island bird bander who has banded 19,000 birds since 1933, suggests dried flies, such as anglers use for bait. Most sporting goods shops carry them.

Patrolmen's Club to Hold Annual Meeting April 22

The Chicago Patrolmen's club of the police department will have its annual meeting the night of April 22 in room 1718 at 203 North Wabash avenue. President Daniel M. Andrews of the Marquette police station is in charge of arrangements.

Retired Policemen

Dashing gentlemen who used to make ladies' hearts go pitty-pat and get medals for doing it told their secret of becoming a hero last night—just 40 years too late to do any one any good. They were the gray haired veterans of the South Park Policemen's Retirement club, holding a reunion in the Kickapoo Inn at 79th street and South Chicago avenue.

The lady had to be driving a horse. It had to run away. The prospective hero had to be on horseback. Suppose it were you. You just galloped alongside, seized the bridle and jerked it up—so—said Capt. Thomas E. Richards, 83 years old; Thomas Cummings, Lieut. John Grant, Richard Dibble, and John O'Connor.

THATCHER WOODS RINGS WITH SONG OF BIRD ARRIVALS

Birds in Thatcher woods sang their spring songs and selected locations for their new homes yesterday while nature students observed them thru field glasses on the first spring field trip sponsored by the forest preserve officials.

Early birds among the students were richly rewarded, for they heard six more species of birdlife than did those of the party who began their journey at 8 a. m. The rest heard or saw 21 species, among them cardinals, blackbirds, slate breasted juncoes, ruby crowned kinglets, flickers, phoebes, chickadees, and cowbirds. Gordon Pearsall, curator of the Trailside museum, guided the tour.

The advent of spring was evidenced in Chicago yesterday when an irrepressible crop of kites and roller skates came out.

Midday Express Will Start on Douglas Park 'L' Today

Midday express service on the Douglas park elevated line will start in response to demands by passengers. Express service will be provided between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. Officials of the Chicago Rapid Transit company said the service will cut 6½ minutes from running time between the loop and the Oak Park avenue terminal. Expresses will not be run on Sundays and holidays.

ILLINOIS LEGION REBUKES 5 WHO FOUGHT DIES QUIZ

Charges They Sought to Shield Subversive Acts.

The executive committee of the Illinois department of the American Legion, in a meeting yesterday in the Hotel Sherman, unanimously passed a resolution condemning and disapproving of the action of the five Illinois congressmen who voted against continuing the Dies committee's investigation of un-American activities for two years.

William J. Collins.

Those at whom the rebuke was addressed are Representatives Adolph J. Sabath, Raymond S. McKeough, and A. W. Mitchell of Chicago; Frank W. Fries, Carlinville, and Kent E. Keller, Ava. All other Illinois congressmen voted to continue the Dies committee.

Represent State Legion.

The resolution was presented by the Cook county council of the Legion to the executive committee, which is composed of 25 district and five divisional commanders from all parts of the state, and which expresses the attitude of all Illinois Legionnaires. Maj. L. N. Bittinger of Onarga, Illinois department commander, presided. William J. Collins is the Cook county commander.

The resolution stated that the five congressmen "expressed disapproval of the further investigation of un-American activities, and in effect are shielding those engaged in subversive and un-American activities.

The five congressmen, the resolution continued, had expressed disapproval of the enactment of laws by which such activities might be impeded.

Tell Confidence in Committee.

"We have full confidence in the Dies committee and its chairman," the resolution stated, "and heartily approve of its activities. The committee expresses its commendation of all members of the house from Illinois who voted in favor of the resolution to continue the work of the Dies committee, and it emphatically disapproves and condemns the action of the five congressmen who voted against it."

Sidney Holzman, a past commander of Cook county council, objected to the resolution, asserting that it tended to condemn the congressmen without giving them a trial. Holzman, who is secretary to County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, is not a member of the executive committee, and the committee's entire membership disregarded his statement when the resolution was put to a vote.

BABY GIRL FOUND DEAD.

CAR OVERTURNS NEAR WHEATON; WOMAN IS KILLED

Three Other Occupants of Auto Injured.

A woman was killed and three other persons were injured yesterday when their automobile turned over twice in highway 64 [North avenue], northeast of Wheaton, in Du Page county. The victim was Mrs. Mary Polosky, 52 years old, 745 North Wolcott avenue. The injured are Harry Kirckovich, 46, of Burlington, in Kane county; Stanley Sebek, 29, of 5003 Elizabeth street, and Miss Sophia Kloss, 23, of 1118 Huron street. They were taken to the Elmhurst hospital.

Francis Hamill of Rockford, a truck driver, said their car overturned when they passed him in the wrong lane, and cut in ahead of him too sharply.

Driver Held After 2 Deaths.

Arthur W. Wolfgram, 20 years old, 1315 Harding avenue, Des Plaines, a tree surgeon, was held by Des Plaines police last night as the hit and run driver whose car killed William Ellwitz, 52, and his wife, Eva, 55, both of 1177 Des Plaines avenue, in the suburb, late Saturday night. They were run down a half block from their home.

Wolfgram, accompanied by his parents, surrendered to Chief E. H. Drexler of Des Plaines. He said he fled because of fright.

Car Hits Post; Driver Dies.

Andrew Schaeffer, 31 years old, of 305 South Knight avenue, Park Ridge, was injured fatally yesterday when he lost control of his car and it crashed into a post in front of 6211 Milwaukee avenue. He was believed to have fallen asleep at the wheel. Schaeffer was a chauffeur.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 253 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 191 were killed in Chicago, where 5,755 were injured in the same period.

How's Business? Swell! —so you'll find a grand deal and a grand car at your nearest Buick dealer's

Bet you didn't know they're priced so low!

THERE'S a tip-off in the fact that nearly twenty per cent—almost one out of five—of the Buicks we're selling are bought by people who trade in cars from the lowest-price class.

Bumper to bumper, the biggest car the money will buy!

In other words, this year you can afford the tops. Big, handsome and smart as it is, this Buick's priced within your reach.

But that's not all.

This powerful, solid, big-time traveler is admittedly the one true yardstick of what 1940 values ought to be.

Until you've actually tried it out and seen firsthand what a really modern automobile is like, you haven't any up-to-the-minute facts to go on to judge any new car's value.

Prices begin at $895 *for the business coupe, delivered at Flint, Mich. Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories, if you really want any such "extras," are additional. Prices subject to change without notice.

So walk into the nearest Buick dealer's now, ask for fifteen minutes or so behind the wheel, and discover for your ownself why the tip you get from so many people is:

Best buy's Buick at $895 and up

There Must Be a Red Jacket in Wardrobe

BY REA SEEGER.

Bright flashing red coats, short or long; red reefers, nipped in at the waistline, without a belt; long, classic toppers that slide effectively over dark prints and summer silks; short flared boxy type jackets to wear over daytime dresses or party clothes, all meet with little resistance from the shoppers. There isn't a well planned spring and summer wardrobe without a red coat or jacket in the array.

Thin soft wool fabrics make the flared short jackets. Long loose sleeves, a simple collarline, sometimes without a stand up collar, tailored but decorative seaming or stitching make these eye catching reds the best buys for the limited budgeteer.

Smart ensembles of printed dress and heart warming, long red coat of fine wool or smooth linen are snapped up in record time . . . the coat to be teamed with other dresses and outfits and the dress ready for summer wear with cool white accessories. For red is making a fashion record. It goes with virtually everything.

Brief models are made of faille material, cut with short sleeves, wide revers just long enough to clear the belt. Some have brass buttons to make them even more dress parade. Some have contrast with yards of white braid or embroidery and some have many pockets.

Linen in a cheerful red is another material used for the brilliant toppers for early summer and late spring dresses. Such models are ideal for pick-up duty for white linen and silk costumes or for the delicate gray, green, blue, beige, and multicolored prints or with the high fashion striped and checked dresses that need a sharp, definite high color to pull them together.

If you hesitate over a red coat or jacket, there are all kinds of good bright red gloves in kidskin, smart red straw hats, brimmed flatteringly over the eyeline, and matching bags to wear with the hats . . . all vivid accents for an otherwise dull wardrobe.

WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Virginia Earle Press, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Paydon Press of Evanston, to George Winchester Beach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Goff Beach, also of Evanston, took place last Saturday at the First Presbyterian church in Evanston. According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Here is a hand which, in my opinion, was played very well by my partner in a recent duplicate match. To you it probably will be just a routine strip and throw-in play, but to us in Iowa it's worth bragging about:

"South, dealer.

"Both sides vulnerable.

"Match-point duplicate:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 diamonds	Pass	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

"I was North and will admit that, despite my partner's jump rebid, I was highly dubious about raising him to game with only two queens and horrible distribution. However, the result justified the push. West opened the heart king, and when my partner's queen dropped, evidently felt that the jack might follow on the second play, which would establish dummy's ten spot. Hence, instead of laying down the heart ace, West shifted to a club. Partner won this in his own hand with the king, cashed the ace and queen of trumps, ruffed a heart, cashed his club ace, then returned to dummy by overtaking the club jack. Now the last heart was ruffed with a high trump, then a low trump was led back to dummy's eight spot. With hearts and clubs eliminated from the North and South hands, a diamond was led and declarer put in the nine spot, thereby forcing West on lead. West, of course, could do no better than lay down the diamond ace and lead a third round. Partner thereby made his diamond king, and his losses, in all, were only one heart and two diamond tricks.

"P. R. S., Iowa."

The hand was well bid and well played, and by that token declarer deserved his success. This applies even tho that success came only thru the unwitting coöperation of the East defender. The latter was asleep at the switch. If he had kept even one eye open, he would have thrown the harpoon into declarer's plan as neatly as tho he had been spearing a fish.

Let us put ourselves in East's position and see what he should have done. West had overcalled one spade with two diamonds, but had not only failed to open diamonds, but by shifting to a club at the second trick, had shown that he couldn't afford to start the diamond suit. In view of the aceking of hearts shown by the opening lead, it was not to be expected that West also held a high sequence in diamonds. Indeed, East should have read West for just about the diamond holding that actually existed. Thus when declarer, by his plan of play, made it unmistakable that he was stripping hearts and clubs from the North-South hands, East could be morally certain that a diamond throw-in play was about to be tried on poor West. On that diagnosis it goes without saying that East should have made the most strenuous effort to have kept his partner out of said throw-in play. Actually, nothing very strenuous was required. All East had to do when the diamond was finally led from dummy was to put up the queen and declarer's chances would have faded into the night.

Slenderizing Princess Lines

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Lovely, slenderizing princess lines are the foundation of this coatlike dress, which is perfect in styling for either late spring or early summer. The dipped shoulder yoke has beneath it a small amount of shirring to soften the bodice. The neckline is V, either high or low. Sleeves that are puffed at the shoulders may be long or short. The waistline is slender and the skirt moderately flared. Plain and printed silks and cottons make up equally well, and belt and buttons are the only trim.

Style No. 3283 is designed for size 16 and for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inch bust measurements. Size 36 require 3¾ yards of 39 inch material for short sleeved dress.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the spring Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

'The Streets of Paris' Fast and Hilarious

"THE STREETS OF PARIS."

Revue in two acts and 26 scenes. Music by Jimmy McHugh and Harold J. Rome. Lyrics by Al Dubin and Mr. Rome. Dances staged by Robert Alton. Costumes by Irene Sharaff. Sketches by Tom McKnight, Charles Sherman, and S. Jay Kaufman. Production directed by Edward Durry Dowling. Presented by the Messrs. Shubert in association with Olsen and Johnson, in the Grand Opera house, Sunday evening, April 14, 1940.

THE PLAYERS.

Carmen Miranda, Bobby Clark, Luella Gear, Sid Marion, and Cliff Hall, "Think-a-Drink" Hoffmann, Della Lind, Yvonne Bouvier, Gloria Gilbert, Milton Watson, Jo and Jeanne Readinger, Gower and Jeanne, Margaret Irving, John McCauley, the three Hylton Sisters, Ward and Van, Ben Dova, Billy Branch, Magda Kart, Buddy Roberts, Lincoln Wilmerton, and many others.

BY CECIL SMITH.

In "The Streets of Paris" Chicago now possesses the first Broadway musical of major consequence to visit the city since "Leave It to Me" departed last December. With so many featured performers that there is hardly time to crowd them into a single evening, and with fast tempo and continual variety to keep the show alive from first curtain to last, "The Streets of Paris" is qualified to make a bid for capacity business during the short three and a half weeks of its engagement here.

The debut of Carmen Miranda is reserved, with shrewd showmanship, until the finale of the first act. Whoever called her the "Brazilian bombshell" missed the mark. She is far more tonic and far less explosive than any bombshell. Before she finally sways into her expected performance of "The Sous' American Way," the volatile little entertainer has already glittered and sparkled, with huge eyes, active hands, and sinuous hips, thru a brace of subtly effective popular songs whose language is Portuguese, but whose meaning, as conveyed by Miss Miranda, does not require the clarification of language.

The busiest member of the company is Bobby Clark of the painted spectacles and inevitable cane. His highest moment comes midway in the second act, when he takes possession of the stage in a song packed with inuendo and averted rhymes, entitled "I'm Robert the Roué from Reading, Pa." With clever lyrics and a line of girls to assist him, Clark puts on a one man show of surpassing hilarity.

Elsewhere, with equally rich ribaldry and equally pointed skill of projection, he is to be discovered as a member of a blasé Noel Coward threesome on the Riviera; as a quick change artist playing four rôles, with Luella Gear as his vis-à-vis, in a parody of a midnineteenth century French melodrama called "The Convict's Return;" as a Parisian photographer trying to take typical post card shots of Miss Gear when all she wants is a passport picture; and as a blood curdling Apache in a Montmartre den of iniquity.

This last scene contained a moment of suspense last night, for Della Lind, Mr. Clark's partner, fainted away, and was replaced in a split second by Yvonne Bouvier, who was standing in the wings waiting for the next scene. Miss Lind quickly recovered, and appeared in her later scenes.

It is not possible, in this space, to do justice to all the participants in "The Streets of Paris." My nominee for special honors is Ben Dova, whose acrobatic portrait of a drunk swinging from a lamppost raises the acrobat's craft to a level of art it seldom attains. Billy Branch, an expert knife thrower and exponent of jiu jitsu, contributes exciting moments in the Apache scene.

A great deal of amusing slapstick material is delivered with oldtime vaudeville skill by Marion and Hall, whose best skit takes place in a hospital room at what might have been a rest cure if they had not been there. Attractive dance episodes are offered by Gower and Jeanne and by the Readinger sisters. "Think-a-Drink" Hoffmann offers some entertainment with his magically prepared drinks, tho his act is spoiled by commercial plugs for liquor manufacturers.

"The Streets of Paris" is not particularly a work of art, nor is it intended to be. It is fast moving entertainment, cut according to a time-worn pattern, but brought to life by abundant talent and humor.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

April 15, 1940.

The combination of 1 and 5 is that of courage and investigation. Since together they add to 6, the field of operation in vocations is the home and all things pertaining to the health and education of children. So if you were born on the 15th, your chief interests should be domestic. The number 6 is the father-mother number and those born on a 6 day [the date itself] ought to select a vocation such as teaching, nursing, homemaking, and all the household arts. Those born today are in a 6 year so it is an ideal time to foster such vocations.

Forest Fire in the Ozarks.

Flames race to the top of the great pine tree at the southeast corner of our farm, and make it a fiery torch. Then, topped by towering, twisting clouds of smoke, the fire moves into our home forty, faster than a man can walk. With feed bags sopped in pailsful of pond water, we flail desperately at the clutching, grasping fingers of flame at the edge of the clearing. But on they come, grappling thru the dry, feathery grasses, brittle seed pods, and brown leaves of the jack oak clumps. Back in the tall woods, the roar is the sound of a cyclone, and smoke hides the morning sun.

We abandon the flailing and race back to the barns, flames snapping at our heels and taunting us with flying sparks. Twenty feet from the corral fence we start the backfire that will, like a tiny David, go out to meet the Goliath of flame. Already the fire has leaped the rocky ravine of our golf course, and moved on to the giant hickory tree, its fury increasing as hundreds of dry nuts, left under the tree for squirrels, send up sputtering sparks. Soon it will be at the outdoor fireplace. There, I decide, it must stop, or else. . . .

A glance at the southern boundary of the farm brings my heart to my throat. The flames have reached our scenic Stone Terrace hill, the home of myriads of soft furry and feathery things. . . .

This is no time for heroics! The Jedge is shouting my orders! Drive the car to the back door and load it ready for flight! [O, dear God, our beloved home CAN'T burn]. Shut the dogs and cat in the dining room, so we can get them instantly! Bring up the sheep from the Arnold forty and shut them in the lane. If necessary, we can turn them out on the highway! Bring our bed clothes! Sop them in the pond! Hang them on the corral fences!

I obey as in a trance. . . . At last, a sheer 20 feet from our corral fences and the honeysuckle arch of the back gate, the backfire meets the oncoming flame and turns it aside. With courage born of one victory, we race to the east side of the garage and other buildings and set another backfire, flailing to keep it moving forward. The flames tear thru the orchard and wriggle with lightning speed along Tamsett's rail fence. We chalk up another victory! Then, with determination, we move to the Arnold forty, where flames from the south threaten the Honeymoon cabin and other buildings in the valley.

Near 10 o'clock at night, the walls of flame have been held back by our backfires, and we creep back up the hill to the farmhouse. Hundreds of tiny fires in our burned over land are puncturing the darkness of the mountain side. Not friendly bonfires, but evil flames, burning dead trees and down timber that would have made honest firewood next winter.

Dogs, cat, and chickens are released. Wearily we go out to feed the sheep and put them in their corrals. There in the lane, among the crowded, frightened sheep, we find a tiny new lamb, born that day in the midst of sound and fury. Little Smoky, we name him!

Somehow, Little Smoky has brought us hope and courage. He seems the symbol of life in the midst of death and destruction. Spring will bring new life to our blackened trees and bald pastures. Spring will bring rainwater, in which I can wash my precious bedding, now so black and grimy. Spring may even help me forgive the person who started that fire.

Anne Willetts to Be Bride of Victor L. Lewis

BY JUDITH CASS.

ENGAGEMENT announcements continue to be among the most interesting news of each weekend, and this morning four announcements that concern Chicagoans or ex-Chicagoans are reported. Yesterday afternoon at a small cocktail party Mrs. George M. Willetts of Sheridan road made known that her daughter, Anne Ward, would marry Victor L. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aquilla C. Lewis of Oak Park. Miss Willetts was educated at the Girls' Latin and Francis W. Parker schools and Smith college, where she was graduated in 1938. Since finishing college she has been active in the work of the Chicago Junior league, the Arden Shore association, and the Children's Memorial hospital. Mr. Lewis attended Exeter academy and Amherst college, where he was graduated in 1935. He finished at the Harvard law school in 1938.

From New York state comes the announcement of the engagement of Miss Marion Agar Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Lynch of Albany, to Henry Quellmalz of New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Quellmalz of Kenilworth. Miss Lynch is a graduate of St. Agnes' school in Albany and of Skidmore college in Saratoga Springs. She now is attending Columbia university. Mr. Quellmalz was graduated from the Gilman school in Baltimore and Princeton university and now is working in New York. The wedding is planned for summer.

Catherine Burch's Betrothal Told in East.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell R. Burch of New York, formerly of Chicago, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Catherine Wilmerding, to Dwight A. Symmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Symmes Jr. of New York. Miss Burch attended Miss Hall's school in Pittsfield, Mass., and Bennington college. She made her debut in New York in 1936. Mr. Symmes was graduated from the Pomfret school and Harvard college, class of 1938. The wedding will be a summer one.

Neither the young lady nor her fiancé lives in Chicago, but nevertheless the engagement announcement of Miss Marian Schriber to Bernhard W. Johnson Jr. is of interest here, for Miss Schriber lives in Oshkosh, Wis., and has many friends in Chicago. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Kellogg Schriber of Oshkosh and Mr. Johnsoh's parents live in Riverside, Conn. Miss Schriber was graduated from Kemper Hall and from Vassar. She finished college in 1938. Mr. Johnson is a graduate of the Brunswick school in Greenwich and of Hamilton college, where he was a member of the class of 1937.

Carol Bush Becomes Clevelander's Bride Today.

The small chapel at the Fourth Presbyterian church seats only 36 persons, so the wedding there this afternoon of Miss Carol Bush, daughter of Mrs. William H. Bush, and Frederick Latham Emeny will be a very small one. The reception that will follow at 5 o'clock will be larger, however, for it is to be given at the Racquet club. The Rev. John Timothy Stone will officiate at the ceremony.

The bride will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Francis T. O'Brien, and by the bridegroom's niece, Faith Emeny. The best man will be George Lacey of Cleveland, and ushering will be George Bowman Jr. of Salem, O., and E. T. Bartlett II. of Shaker Heights, O.

Among the guests from away who are here for the wedding are the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick James Emeny of Salem, Mrs. Brooks Emeny of Shaker Heights, Faith's mother [Dr. Emeny is in Japan], Miss Alice Taggart of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lees of Shaker Heights, the Frank Hardings and Chapman Roses of Cleveland, the Gregory Williamsons of New York, and John W. Blodgett and Robert McReynolds of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mr. Emeny will take his bride to the Virginia Hot Springs on a wedding trip and they will be at home after May 15 at 12309 Fair Hill road, Cleveland.

Sir Wilfred Grenfell Guest at Luncheon Today.

Dr. and Mrs. Fremont A. Chandler are giving a luncheon at the University club today for Sir Wilfred Grenfell, founder of the Grenfell association, who is here on his way from California to Cincinnati. Among the Orchestra Puts Thunder Into Borodin Dances

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The drummers, cymbalists, and brass players of the Civic orchestra were happier than larks yesterday because the program held the "Prince Igor" dances of Borodin. In this tumultuous music was chance after chance to pound and blow the inhibitions and repressions of a lifetime away. The result was a great clangorous performance which all but raised the roof of Orchestra hall.

The dances were presented yesterday with the assistance of the Lake Shore Choral society. The singers got thoroly into the spirit of the thing and were partly responsible for the enormous zest of the performance. Conductor Hans Lange welded his forces into a smooth working whole and saw to it that the enthusiasm was kept within proper musical bounds.

Preceding the dances, chorus and orchestra gave a quietly moving, introspective performance of the Brahms "Song of Destiny."

In Kimball hall yesterday Dorothy Weston, soprano, sang a varied program which included a group from the pen of Richard Trunk, a living German composer whose works are seldom heard in this city. A good basic voice quality, a wide dynamic range, and a talent for apt changes of coloring were among the good qualities which Miss Weston displayed. Occasionally, these were offset by a certain tentativeness in the shaping of phrases and by slight lapses from exact pitch.

The Halevi Choral society, Hyman Reznick conducting, presented a program of Jewish music in the Chicago Woman's Club theater last night. Some of the music came from the remote past of the race, and had that strange, melancholy character which the ancient music of the east so often possesses. Other songs, closer to us in time and space and running a wider emotional gamut, were more easily comprehensible on first hearing. This concert, by the way, offered listeners a unique opportunity to become acquainted with a rich musical literature which has had a decided influence on European composers but which is little known in its original form.

The assisting artist last night was Shulamit Silber, Palestinian violinist. She played with a sweep and passion which drew loud applause from the audience.

A concert for the benefit of the Loyola university chapel fund was given in Kimball hall last night by Mario Salvador, organist, and the Loyola University Glee club. In classical, romantic, and modern music Mr. Salvador played with his now familiar vigor and smoothness. He showed a decided talent for delicate color effects in such pieces as the Reger "Ave Maria." Under Graciano Salvador's direction, the glee club sang some semiclassical things with a nice precision and enthusiasm.

1,700 Women Attend Hadassah Luncheon Ending Drive Today

Mrs. Hattie Callner will give a luncheon today at the Stevens hotel for some 1,700 women who have taken part in the annual tithe campaign of the Chicago chapter of Hadassah, women's Zionist organization of America. Each of the women present has raised in the drive just closing either $35 or $50 toward the organization's fund for the upbuilding of the Palestine homeland and the rehabilitation of refugee children there. Rabbi James G. Heller of Cincinnati, O., will address the luncheon and Margery Mayer and Benjamin Landsman, both of the Chicago City Opera company, will sing.

Mrs. McCormick Art Exhibition to Be Shown at Preview Today

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A preview this afternoon introduces a delightful exhibit which will open Wednesday at the Art institute and remain on view to June 9. It is a group of paintings of, by, and collected by Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, who as Amy Irwin McCormick held a distinguished place among the artists of Chicago. Mrs. McCormick's death last August lost to Chicago a painter of marked ability and a collector whose choice of pictures was guided by splendid taste.

Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, and Col. Robert R. McCormick will receive from 3:30 until 5 o'clock this afternoon at the preview. Governing members of the collector and painter have been invited to the preview. Mrs. Walter S. Brewster will arrange the decorations for the tea table at which five of the late Mrs. McCormick's close friends will pour. They are Mrs. Orville E. Babcock, Miss Anne Jay Bryant, Mrs. Walter Crawford, Mrs. Henry Hooper, and Mrs. William A. Ryan.

The exhibit is hung in gallery 53 on the second floor of the museum, one of the several galleries which were redecorated in preparation for the Italian masterpieces. Against the background of subtle green Mrs. McCormick's paintings are most delightful. There is an unpretentious, informal, sparkling atmosphere about the group that is felt immediately one enters the gallery. Perhaps this is because many of the paintings are small, perhaps because they give an impression of having been collected for themselves, not just to represent a name.

On the wall opposite the entrance the gorgeous jungle scene with monkeys and oranges by Henri Rousseau hangs; this "Paysage Exotique" is regarded as one of the finest Rousseaus in the country. Flanking it are two charming little flower still lifes by Redon and at one end the Cezanne with its predominating blues. "The Bathers," balances the "Venus Rising from the Sea," by Redon, at the other. Note the beautiful carrying over of the color blue from the cor-

Gun Bought Grant

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Framed by Santee Bales, Sam Teacher, outlaw cowboy, shoots the bank robber dressed to resemble him. The governor agrees to give Sam $25,000 in addition to full pardon for all crimes accredited to him if he will persuade Matt Drury to sell the railroad the right of way thru one of his canyons. Sam gets a job at Drury's ranch, and has a run-in with Matt's worthless son, Steve, and his pretty but spoiled daughter, Celia. Sam persuades Drury to make both of his children go to work. Steve is given a small stake, and Celia is told to run the household. Both children leave home in a huff, Celia going to work in a restaurant, and Steve going into partnership with Santee. Steve gets the canyon property as his stake, and Santee plans to make the governor buy the right of way from them instead of Matt. Santee captures Sam, ties him up and takes his gun. When Sam gets back to town he is arrested for the murder of Steve, as his gun is found near Steve's body. Matt wants Sam hanged, but Pearly, Matt's foreman, convinced of Sam's innocence, resigns and helps Sam break jail. With dynamite they change the course of the river that determines the boundary of the land Santee plans to sell the railroad, thus preventing the sale. While Santee is trying to get a court order to change the river back, Sam, with Pearly's aid, commandeers a wagon load of gold ore and dumps it in the dry river bed. When Santee, the sheriff, and workmen arrive at the river bed with the court order they find gold. The workmen persuade the sheriff to lock Santee in jail to prevent him flooding their stakes. Not knowing Santee is jailed, Sam returns to town planning to lock the sheriff up to prevent him from carrying out Santee's order. Sam is overpowered and locked up. Santee is let out. Celia has begun to see Sam is right and smuggles a gun to him which he refuses, but after he is transferred to the city jail he makes a break. Santee, thinking the gold stampede has ruined his chance of selling the right of way, kidnaps Celia.

INSTALMENT XXXVII.

A SICK FATHER.

Celia was a small figure wedged in between the two men, and she knew if she made one move to jump out they would forcibly stop her. Going down the hill into town, she made up her mind that she was going to yell if she saw any one, whether she was hit or not.

But Santee had planned this carefully. He turned left at the first back street, and drove down it. Celia looked at the houses on each side of the street and they were all dark. And then it came to her that yelling wouldn't do her any good. The whole town had moved to the Rio Medio, and there was no one to hear her.

They skirted the town, came out on the other side of the plaza, and headed for the bridge. Just as their team stepped onto it, she heard another team approaching from the other end.

Before she could open her mouth, the puncher on her other side clapped a rough hand over her mouth and put a heavy arm around her shoulder. Under the weight of him, she could not move and when she tried to bite his hand she found it cupped away from her mouth, just out of the reach of her teeth.

She struggled, but made no movement; she yelled, but made no sound. The wagon passed them in the dark and Santee said gravely, "Howdy," and go an equally grave "Howdy" in return. The man on her right did not take his hand off her mouth until they were well beyond the bridge out on the flats.

Santee only chuckled when Celia caught her breath.

"Take you arm off my shoulder!" she said to the puncher.

"Well, now, I don't——"

"Take it off!" Santee snapped. The puncher obeyed with alacrity. No more was said for a long 20 minutes. Then Santee turned the buckboard off on a side road to the left. In another half hour they came to the shallow Rio Arriba. Santee drove the team into the creek and headed upstream.

It was rough going, for the rocky stream bed threatened to jolt the buckboard to pieces. Stubbornly, however, Santee clung to the river. The ride here in the river bed seemed interminable to Celia, but she knew that Santee was doing a careful job of covering up his tracks.

It was three hours later when Santee pulled out of the river bed into a clump of cottonwoods where a camp fire was burning dimly. Three men rolled out of blankets to welcome them. They were a rough looking crew who went about their work as if they had already received instructions.

They unharnessed the team and turned them loose, but not before Celia saw the Star 22 brand on the horses. Then they built up a roaring fire, pushed the buckboard astride it and let it burn. The harness followed the buckboard. Santee Bales was taking care to leave no evidence behind him. Afterward eight horses were brought in from where they had been staked out. Six of them were saddled, the other two packed with grub.

Santee waited until the last fragment of the buckboard was burned, then he ordered his four men to mount. As Celia saw the precautions she could not fight down her despair.

"Up in the Utes," Santee laughed. "So high up and so far they'll never find you—even if they think to look."

. . . . . .

Sam didn't even see the posse that took out after him from Santa Luz. There was one composed mainly of citizens, who were all primed for a lynching. But when, a mile from town on the main traveled highway to Santa Luz they lost his tracks among several hundred others, they were stumped. Later, they scattered into the foothills of the mountains behind Santa Luz, figuring he would not return to his old haunts to the north. The governor, when he heard of the break, knew better. He dispatched two platoons of blue-coated cavalrymen under the command of a lieutenant—under the command of a commissioner. An Indian tracker went with them. The governor was not going to let this break go unchallenged.

Sam's first move, of course, was to find Pearly and learn if he had seized George Harnum, the ore freighter. To that end he rode hard and steadily, stopping seldom for sleep. Arriving in late afternoon of the third day at the Rim, he rode close enough to the canyon to make sure that the boom camp on the old Rio Medio was still there. Sudden relief flooded him at sight of it, for that meant Pearly had caught George Harnum before he could learn of the boom and declare it a fraud. Sam took a cattle trail up onto the Rim, and as darkness fell was heading toward the foothills of the Utes, where their old hideout was.

Three hours later he rode into camp. A fire was burning in front of the cave, but there was nobody around. He dismounted, just as Pearly's voice from across the canyon yelled, "Sam!"

Sam wheeled in time to see Pearly leaping down the slope in a torrent of rock and rubble. Pearly dropped his rifle and grabbed Sam's hand and beat him on the back and couldn't speak.

"Where's George?" Sam asked, when he had explained his presence.

The light went out of Pearly's old eyes, and his face settled into gravity. He said, "You hungry?"

"Sure. But where's George?"

"I couldn't git him," Pearly said. "As soon as Celia got the word to me, I started out. I nigh onto killed my horse, but I was too late, Sam. He'd been into camp an hour."

"Well, what happened?"

"Plenty. A couple of ranahans from the Giant Glorieta come down to the camp yesterday. They tried to tell that mob that their ore was a fake, but nobody'd believe them. They went back to get George, and just at dark tonight George rode into camp."

"You saw him?"

Pearly nodded gravely.

Sam stared into the fire, a wry scowl puckering his lips. He looked up at Pearly, and shook his head slowly and finally smiled.

"There's only one thing to do, Pearly."

"Kill Santee before he can get the river back?"

Sam nodded. "What are we waitin' for?"

"Nothin' but food," Pearly said grimly.

While they ate a hurried meal, Sam inquired about Santee. But Pearly had not seen him; events out here had kept him away from town. "But you never saw a buzzard get very far away from a carcass while there's still meat on the bones," Pearly said wryly. "He'll be around."

Sam thought of that eventual meeting with a small thrill of pleasure. He would have to move fast and take chances, for it would have to be done before Santee, with none to stop him, put the Rio Medio back in its old channel. That was all right, Sam thought if need be he would walk into the crowded dining room of the hotel and shoot Santee. Only there must be a showdown, and it must come quickly.

They ate quickly and afterward saddled up and headed for Trabajo, getting into town just at daylight. Evidently, the news had not broken in town yet, for it was utterly asleep. The Gem café held the only light in the town.

Pearly and Sam dismounted at the kitchen door, and Pearly went in first. Double-Jack, up early to bake his bread, was sitting at the kitchen table with a cup of coffee beside him, reading the Territorial Enterprise.

He looked at Pearly and said sourly, "The Big Bad Man of the Barrancas. What the hell do you want?" It was in keeping with an amiable feud between them which lasted as long as Double-Jack was cook and Pearly a wagon boss at the Star 22. Double-Jack's jaundiced glance took in Sam, too, but he only nodded at him. Double-Jack had the feeling here was a man with whom it paid to be careful.

"Celia up?"

"She ain't even here. Listen, some day you're goin' to walk in here and find Lovejoy and a couple of United States marshals waitin' for you."

"Where is she?"

Pearly frowned. "Bad sick?"

Double-Jack shrugged. Pearly asked for any information about Santee and Double-Jack said, "I dunno anything about him and I wouldn't tell you if I did. I don't want nothing to do with that scrap."

GASOLINE ALLEY—PROUD PAPA

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: It's Nobody's Round

Mrs. M'Cormick Art Collection on View Today

On the wall to the right is a portrait of Mrs. McCormick by Glen Philpot, a beautiful canvas. To the left as one faces the portrait is a charming Goya, "Portrait of a Young Prince," and to the right are examples of Utrillo, Gauguin [in a rather duller mood than usual, but interesting], and Survage. The Survage is a marine, intriguingly modern in design and very attractive in color.

On the opposite wall the beautiful "Girl with Mirror," by Mrs. McCormick [lent by the Commission for the Encouragement of Local Art], is the dominant factor. On the one side hang a charming "Head of a Girl," by Renoir, a piquant Marie Laurencin, "Le Perroquet Vert," and the colorful "Château de Chenonceau," by Matisse; on the other are a sparkling, vivid Dufy—"Nice"—and the more serious "Composition," hinting of the classical, by Chirico.

To the right of the door are three paintings by Mrs. McCormick. The one is an expressive sketch of Katharine Cornell; in the center is a larger study, "Colonel McCormick Leaving His Airplane," and completing the group is "Semper Fidelis," a beautiful portrait head of a German police dog. To the left of the entrance are three gouaches, the work of Modogliani and Leger, slight but interesting.

The exhibition should be of interest to many if only because it seems to prove that quality does not necessarily have to be measured by quantity. These paintings for the most part are small, but each has charm and distinction. It is an eminently livable group.

South Shore Club to Hear 'Glacier Priest' Tomorrow

Members of the South Shore Country club will hear an illustrated lecture by Father Hubbard, the "Glacier Priest," tomorrow evening. Father Hubbard, who just has returned from a winter visit among the King Island Eskimos, will speak on "The Cliff Dwellers of the Far North." At 11 o'clock Thursday morning Mrs. F. M. S. Brazelton will speak on "Actual Trade Treaties." The lecture will be followed by a book review.

A caramel frosting can glorify even an ordinary cake. Brown sugar, butter and milk or cream cooked to soft spreadability make one of our favorite toppings for any cake or cakelet.

Banana Devil's Food with Caramel Coconut Frosting.
[10 to 14 inch cake pan.]
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
2 cups lard
1½ cups packed brown sugar
2 eggs
½ cup mashed ripe bananas
¾ cup buttermilk or sour milk
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, salt, soda, and baking powder together three or four times. Add 2 teaspoons of the sour milk or buttermilk to the lard, and cream thoroly with the sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, and beat well after each. Add banana pulp, then melted chocolate. Add vanilla to milk. Alternately add dry ingredients and liquids, beating well after each addition. Pour into oiled pan and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 45 minutes. Frost with caramel coconut frosting.

CARAMEL COCONUT FROSTING.

Cook 1½ cups brown sugar and ¾ cup top milk or cream together to the soft ball stage, 238 degrees. Add 2 tablespoons butter and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Cool before beating. Beat until the mixture is thick enough to spread. Frost cake and sprinkle with 1 cup coconut. Place under broiler until coconut has toasted a golden brown.

Caramel Black Walnut Cupcakes.
[2 dozen, small.]
½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon brandy
1 cup black walnuts, chopped

Cream butter and sugar together thoroly and add beaten egg. Sift flour and baking powder together three times and add alternately with milk. Add brandy. Beat well and fold in chopped nuts. Bake in cupcake pans or muffin pans [greased and lightly floured] at 350 degrees, moderate oven, for about 15 minutes.

Caramel Frosting.
[For 2 dozen cupcakes.]
1½ cups brown sugar
1½ cups white sugar
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons butter

Combine sugars and milk and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Cook without stirring until a small amount forms a very soft ball in cold water [232 degrees]. Add butter and remove from heat. Cool to lukewarm. Beat until thick and creamy and of spreading consistency.

Childhood Is Time to Stress Care of Feet

(Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

In New York at one of the art museums there is being shown a collection of clothes owned by that famous beauty and personality, Rita de Acosta Lydig, who graced the social life of the turn of the century.

Her collection of some 150 pairs of shoes which were carried about in Russian leather shoe trunks lined with white plush was something to gaze upon. Each pair of shoes was a work of art, some 40 of them made of antique velvet and lace, damask, and embroidery, and such. But one was startled by the exaggerated heels and the long, narrow, pointed toes, which women in those days commonly wore.

Perhaps, in no other field, has there been in the past 15 years so great a contribution to woman's comfort as in the shoe industry, aided and abetted, we think, by the National Foot Health council.

National Foot Health week is being observed this week. The objective of the foot council is the prevention of foot defects in childhood because feet troublesome in later years are usually misshapen during the growing years. In school examinations in large cities an average of 76 per cent of boys and girls of high school age, it is reported, were found foot defective; some with corns, others with ingrown nails, some with weak arches and many showing a marked tendency toward the development of large joints, hammer toes, and bunions.

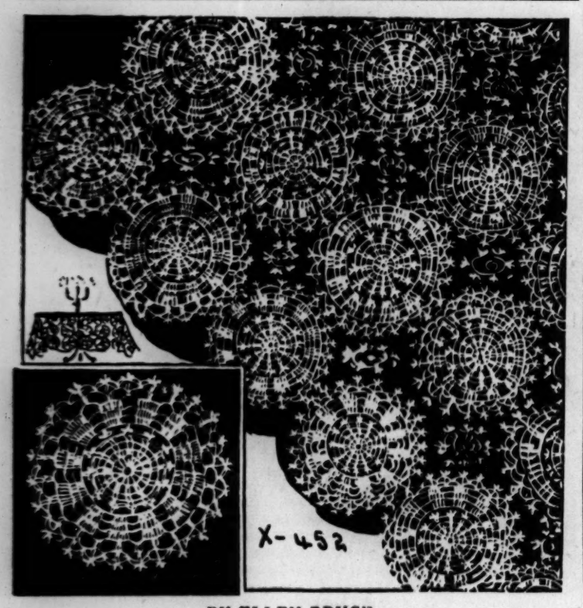
Pretty Crocheted Tablecloth



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Every once in a while we run across generous crochet workers who learned needlework in Europe many years ago. They are the possessors of rare and unusual patterns. The crocheted lace tablecloth, illustrated today, is made of medallions done in a combination of treble, picot, and chain stitches. These are joined by small medallions half the size of the completed one. Done accurately with No. 20 thread in ecru, there is no more beautiful cloth imaginable.

For instructions in crocheting the lace tablecloth worked in treble, picot, and chain stitches, No. X-452, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

ON W-G-N.
[Central Standard Time.]

President Roosevelt will be heard over W-G-N and the Mutual network at 11 a. m. when he speaks before the governing board of the Pan-American union in Washington, D. C. He will be introduced by Cordell Hull, secretary of state, who is chairman of the governing board.

Louise Barclay.

Fifth Row Center, W-G-N's dramatic-musical presentation, which usually is heard Sundays at 5 p. m., will be broadcast at 9:30 tonight only. After this evening's broadcast the show will be heard Fridays at 7 p. m. from W-G-N's main audience studio. Tonight's drama, "Incident in Singapore," will star Dame May Whitty, distinguished British stage and screen actress. The broadcast will be her first in the United States. Supporting players will be Louise Barclay, Rodion Rathbone, Sherman Marks, and Norman Gottschalk.

Play Broadcast, W-G-N and Mutual's quiz show, featuring Bill Anson as master of ceremonies and the W-G-N Dance band, directed by Harold Stokes, will be heard at 7 p. m. The game, which is broadcast each Monday night at the same hour, asks listeners to identify leading personalities in all fields of American life from clews presented in the program.

The Musical Powder Box, with Eddy Howard, singer and song writer, and Lou Adrian's orchestra, is scheduled at 9:15 p. m.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

United States Index.

Hartford, Conn., April 14.—Out on the coast, walled in from the rest of the country by the stone ramparts of the Rockies, the giants of the movie industry have had a trick pulled on them. The giants of the industry still think they are deciding what pictures to make for the public, not realizing that the public now holds the whip hand. The public, in other words, is now directing Hollywood and deciding upon the pictures that should be filmed.

Observe now that the movies are buying successful novels, books that have a tremendous sale and you will understand how the public has taken over the reins from the Zanucks, the Mayers, the Selznicks, and the Warners. It is the public that determines what novels are hits, and by the same token, indicates what pictures they wish screened.

How superior is the public judgment to the judgment of the movie tycoons is easily proved on a tour of the country, because in every town and city thru which you pass the marquees of theaters and newspaper advertisments attest it. "Gone With the Wind," "Rebecca," "Of Mice and Men," "Grapes of Wrath," "My Son, My Son," "The Rains Came," "Northwest Passage"—all of these were pictures selected for screening by the fans. Each of them is doing great business. The fans not only select their own pictures, but they support them. In other seasons, the movie tycoons selected pictures, but the fans did not support them.

As a result of this complete switchabout, the movies at this moment occupy the most advantageous position they ever occupied. The change has eliminated largely the trial-and-error method by which Hollywood had to live, and fool-proofed the industry. No longer do the giant brains have to assemble at a luncheon table to decide on stories; all they have to do is to keep in touch with the book publishers, tabulate the sales and then buy. The public, in other words, now conducts its own laboratory and comes up with the right answers.

Why this obvious solution of story problems did not occur to most of Hollywood years ago is difficult to fathom, but the reason probably is that we were too close to the forest to see the trees. David O. Selznick stumbled on the obvious fact, and for seasons Selznick has been transferring books to the screen and coining a considerable fortune in so doing. Most of the others kept their eyes glued on the New York stage, paying prices up to $250,000 for pieces that ranged from ordinary to supergood screen material.

The fallacy in this selective policy was that the movies accepted Broadway taste as the national taste, and often it is not. Book sales are an index of the United States taste, a foolproof signpost. Selznick, first to concentrate on filming books, will have opposition from now on, but not before he has cashed in heavily with "Gone with the Wind" and "Rebecca."

Yet if we hadn't been touring the country, I'd still believe that Hollywood is the film dictator, for the revolution has come about so gradually that you don't realize there has been one until you see the evidence of it in every town and city. How many states we have passed thru in the three weeks that have elapsed since training out from Pasadena I don't know, but the opportunity for observation has been tremendous. The one trenchant conclusion is that Hollywood's old adage: "A star is as good as his latest picture" is false. Today a star is only as good as his current picture, the one that is playing in your theater. Explicitly, the star-system is dead as the dodo; the name of a star has little cumulative value. If Hollywood reteamed Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh in a bad picture, it would flop just as emphatically as "Gone with the Wind" has broken all records.

guests at the luncheon will be Miss Dorothy Stirling, whose house guest Sir Wilfred is. Miss Stirling is president of the Chicago branch of the Grenfell association. Philip D. Armour, the vice president, and Solomon B. Smith, the treasurer, also will attend the luncheon.

Tomorrow Sir Wilfred will attend a sale of Grenfell-Labrador handicraft at the Christ church parish house in Winnetka. Hooked rugs, toys, woven articles, and carved ivories will be among the many articles available. Mrs. R. Douglas Stuart will open her home in Lake Forest Thursday afternoon for a similar sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Rich are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first child, a son, on Friday at the Passavant hospital. The baby is a grandchild of Mrs. R. Joseph Rich of Winnetka and of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Poole of Lake Forest.

Mrs. Howard Jackson, Mrs. Hays MacFarland, Mrs. Richard Bentley, Mrs. Arthur Wakeley, and Mrs. Morton Bassett are among the Chicagoans who are in French Lick Springs, Ind., today for a three day conference of the Great Lakes Region, No. 7, Girl Scouts, Inc.

Members of Artists' Group Resign; Call It Enemy of Democracy

New York, April 14 [Special].—Resignation of several of the nation's foremost artists from the American Artists congress was disclosed tonight after Lewis Mumford had made public his own letter of withdrawal and had charged that the persons in control of the congress were "intentionally or passively the allies of Fascism and the enemies of democracy." The congress was founded four years ago to combat Fascism.

Mumford asserted that a report on the war situation which the congress approved at a meeting on April 4 might have been written by Earl Browder, head of the American communist party, or Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels of Germany.

Prof. Meyer Schapiro of Columbia university, another who resigned, said the war report was identical with the official line of the communist party.

The list of those who resigned after the report had been adopted included William Zorach, sculptor; George Biddle, painter; Ralph M. Pearson, etcher and author, and Stuart Davis, painter.

HAVE YOU TRIED TOLL HOUSE COOKIES?
They are so easy to make and your first bite will convince you that Toll House Cookies are delightfully different. You'll taste a creamy bit of rich Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate and a crunch of walnut in every bite. Truly a perfect combination of flavors. Try this delicious recipe tomorrow.

1 cup butter
¾ cup brown sugar
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs, beaten whole
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon hot water
2¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
2 Nestle's Semi-Sweet Economy Bars (7 oz. ea.)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Important: Cut the Nestle's Semi-Sweet in pieces the size of a pea. Cream butter and add sugars and beaten egg. Dissolve soda in the hot water and mix alternately with the flour sifted with the salt. Lastly add the chopped nuts and the pieces of semi-sweet chocolate. Flavor with the vanilla and drop half teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in a 375° F. oven. Makes 100 cookies. Every one will be surprised and delighted to find that the chocolate does not melt. Insist on Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate in the Yellow Wrap, there is no substitute.

This unusual recipe and many others can be found in Mrs. Ruth Wakefield's Cook Book—"Toll House Tried and True Recipes," on sale at all book stores.

Good Morning!

A great "to do" was staged in Virginia City for the preview of this picture. It brought together the governors of five states, Mrs. "Liz" Whitney, and heaven knows how many movie celebrities and screen addicts and a whoopee-lish time was had by all—which was hardly justified by the production honored.

Not that "Virginia City" isn't a good movie. It is. But that's all it is, not a world beater.

The characters, a foreword tells you, are fictional, but the story depicted is not. And you are forthwith plunged into observation of events supposed to have occurred shortly before the close of the civil war. The tale is about a southern girl who goes a spying in Virginia City, whose richest mines belong to southerners, but whose population is overwhelmingly Yankee. Her aim is to run $5,000,000 worth of Nevada gold to Jeff Davis in Richmond. . . .

Two men love her true—Vance Irby of the south and Kerry Bradford of the north. The first aids and abets. The second, unaware for a long time that she is a spy, escapes from Libby prison with his two [comedy relief] buddies and turns up in Virginia City to prevent the gold from leaving.

But leave it does—in a long wagon train supposedly occupied by settlers, their wives, and children. And now hell breaks loose. . . .

The film has many colorful and exciting moments and boasts a pair of winners in the leading man line. You know—Erroll Flynn and Randolph Scott. But I do wish they'd managed to let that Mistah Scott keep on a livin'. [Shucks, now I've told you whom the lady likes best!]

Some humor—none of it particularly rich or rare—has the movie. But its pathos is forced and I didn't find much of the action convincing. Toward the end the picture lags.

See you tomorrow.

ARLINGTON OFFICIALS VOTE TODAY ON SALE OF TRACK

BOARD TO TAKE ACTION ON BID BY J. D. ALLEN

Full Turnover of Stockholders Seen.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

John Hertz, Otto Lehmann, and other officials of the Arlington Park Jockey club will meet in the organization's offices, 33 North La Salle street, at 10 o'clock this morning to vote on a proposal to sell the race track to a group headed by John D. Allen, Chicago business man. In the course of the conference definite action is expected on the bid for the property which was purchased by the present holders for $2,400,000 in 1929.

Otto Lehmann.

Pending the meeting, all of the principals withheld comment yesterday. The extent to which negotiations have proceeded was indicated by the fact that both groups implied an important announcement would be forthcoming today. Observers were inclined to believe that no announcement would be contemplated if a change of ownership were not imminent.

May Involve Complete Turnover.

Those close to the situation said that if the transaction goes thru it will involve a complete turnover rather than the disposal of the Hertz holdings only. It is said that Hertz, the heaviest stockholder in the track, has been considering for some time a withdrawal from Chicago racing with the idea of centering his interests in the east, possibly in New Jersey. He left his Kentucky estate yesterday to come to Chicago for this morning's meeting.

In the speculation as to the identity of Allen's associates, the Washington Park organization, headed by Benjamin Lindheimer and Walter Gregory, was mentioned. Both Lindheimer and Gregory said that they have no connection with the transaction.

Enjoys Brilliant Season.

If the deal goes thru, the present Arlington group will be relinquishing control after building up a tremendous prestige for the track. Arlington enjoyed one of its most brilliant seasons last July and already had announced plans for a substantial purse increase for the coming meeting.

Some observers believe that a change in the Arlington organization might have an effect on other aspects of the Illinois racing setup. It was recalled yesterday that the racing commission was appointed at a time when the Arlington group had attained great influence in the conduct of the sport in Illinois. With a new governor coming in after the November elections and with the present Arlington group withdrawing, there would be a possibility of a change in the makeup of the commission, which now consists of Leo Spitz, Walter Peacock, and William Schlake.

Tribune Again Offers Fastest Phone Service

"What are the Cubs and Sox doing?"

THE TRIBUNE'S fast telephone bulletin service, inaugurated last year, again will be employed to serve Chicago's baseball fans thruout the 1940 major league season. The service will start tomorrow when the Sox open with the Cleveland Indians in Comiskey park and the Cubs begin their campaign against the Reds in Cincinnati.

CALL SUPERIOR 0260.

The score by innings of the games involving the Chicago teams will be supplied by operators over 30 trunk lines. Followers of the Cubs and Sox seeking the scores should call Superior 0260. Please DO NOT call Superior 0100, THE TRIBUNE'S business lines.

Anne Garrow, chief telephone operator of THE TRIBUNE, yesterday said the new mass telephone service with modern equipment enables an operator to accommodate 30 calls within 10 seconds.

"It is the fastest service in the United States," said Miss Garrow. "It was very successful when we started it last year and we are again prepared to accommodate Chicago's baseball fans."

THE Cubs have a pair of promising fledgling infielders with their Tulsa farm club in the Texas league. . . . One is Ed Waitkus, who hit .326 for Moline last season, and the other is Ed Zydowski, a third baseman who is hailed as a future great by Manager Roy Johnson, former Cub coach. . . . 1865—April Fifteenth—1940.

Threescore and fifteen years ago,
Abr'am Lincoln died;
"A martyr," said most northern folks,
"A tyrant," others cried.

He'd played the game of politics
For all it might be worth,
Before and after he had won
High place upon this earth.

He gave out favors right and left,
Appointed lesser men
To places such as they could be
But failures, now—or then.

What then, has made this Lincoln
The idol of us all?
Why has his stature grown until
Most other men seem small?

Do stories of his early years
And toil—or later strife,
Give us the clew to Lincoln—and
The myst'ry of his life?
One answer lies between the lines
For all to see who can;
That Lincoln saw—and understood

PRO FOOTBALL CHIEFS RE-ELECT STORCK FOR YEAR

Lions Obtain Smukler in Trade with Eagles.

New York, April 14 (AP).—Carl L. Storck of Dayton, O., was reëlected president of the National Professional Football leage for a one year term today as the league's three day meeting came to an end.

The threatened contest over the presidency did not materialize, and the vote for Storck was unanimous. Previously one faction of club owners had declared its opposition to Storck and offered the presidency to Arch Ward, sports editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Ward declined the position.

Storck was advanced to the presidency last spring after the death of Joe F. Carr, who had held the office since the formation of the league. The salary Storck will receive as president was not announced, altho it is believed to be far below the $25,000 a year contract offered to Ward for a 10 year period.

Shea Named Treasurer.

Dennis Shea, general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was elected vice president and treasurer, also for one year. Members of the executive committee will be Bert Bell, Philadelphia; George P. Marshall, Washington; L. H. Joannes, Green Bay; Charles W. Bidwill, Chicago Cardinals, and Storck, who serves as chairman.

One change in the league's by-laws assigned to the executive committee the task of directing the selection of officials for games. This previously was handled by the president's office. The opposition to Storck as president was believed to have arisen from a dispute between him and Marshall over the officiating in the Washington-New York eastern playoff game when Referee Bill Halloran called a Washington field goal attempt wide. Storck upheld Halloran and picked him to referee the league playoff game between New York and Green Bay.

No Change in Rules.

No changes in the playing rules were made today.

The Detroit Lions acquired the services of Dave Smukler, former Temple star, from the Philadelphia Eagles, the day's biggest player trade.

Smukler, who was called by his Temple coach, Pop Warner, the greatest full back of all time, joined the Eagles in 1935 and has played with them since. In exchange the Eagles will get two rookies—Tackle Ray George, 225 pound husky from the University of Southern California, and End Joe Wendlick, a 218 pounder, who played at Oregon State.

The announcement of the player deal was made before the election of officers by Owner Fred L. Mandel Jr., who last winter purchased the Detroit franchise.

Eagles to Get White.

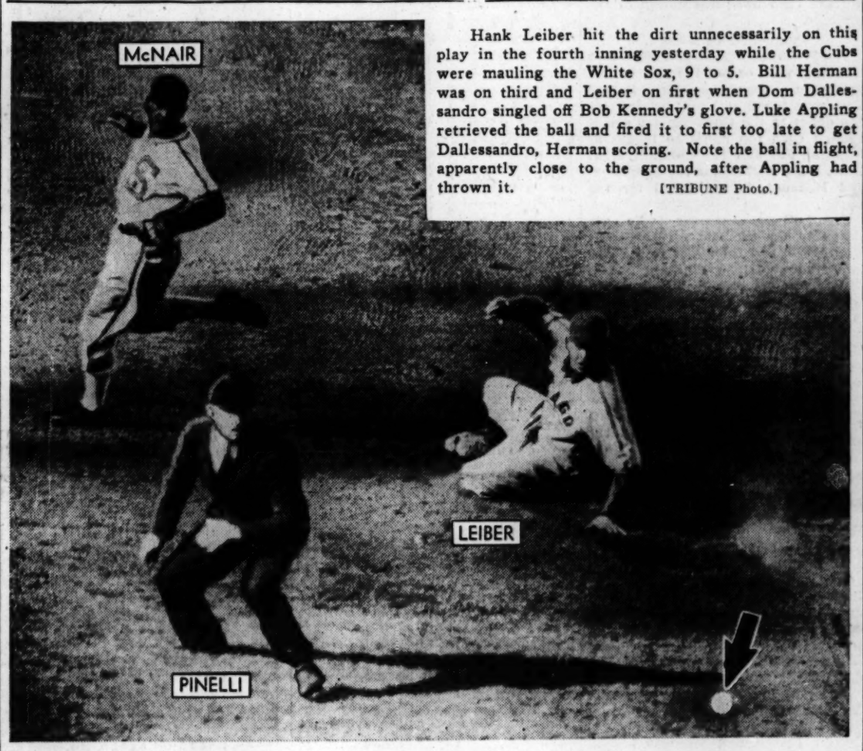
The Eagles figured in another deal when they acquired the draft rights to Millard White, a Tulane tackle, for similar rights to Fred Shirey, who played tackle at Nebraska, in an even trade with the Green Bay Packers. Neither has played professional ball but both were in the 1939 draft lists.

In the third deal involving players, the Chicago Cardinals and the Packers exchanged draft rights, with the Cards getting Johnny Hall, Texas Christian half back, for Earl Brown, former Notre Dame end, both newcomers to professional ranks.

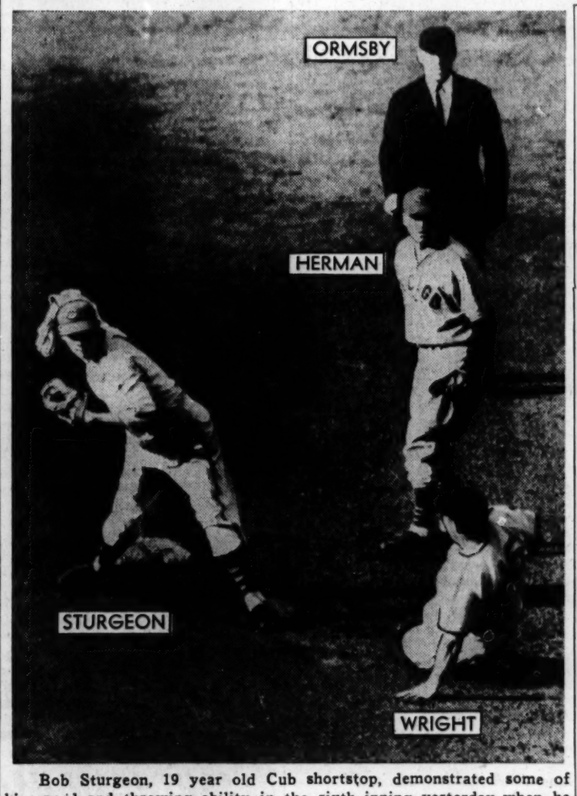
Duquesne, Pa., All-Stars Win Lithuanian Basket Tourney

Cleveland, O., April 14 (AP).—The Lithuanian All-Stars of Duquesne, Pa., won the Lithuanian basketball championship tonight, defeating the Du Bois, Pa., Litts, 45 to 41, in the third national tournament. The All-Stars went into the final by defeating Amsterdam, N. Y., 35 to 23. Du Bois defeated Cleveland, 52 to 45, in an overtime semi-final game.

Frisky Cubs Prove Rude Guests in Sox Park



Hank Leiber hit the dirt unnecessarily on this play in the fourth inning yesterday while the Cubs were mauling the White Sox, 9 to 5. Bill Herman was on third and Leiber on first when Dom Dallessandro singled off Bob Kennedy's glove. Luke Appling retrieved the ball and fired it to first too late to get Dallessandro, Herman scoring. Note the ball in flight, apparently close to the ground, after Appling had thrown it. [TRIBUNE Photo.]



Bob Sturgeon, 19 year old Cub shortstop, demonstrated some of his speed and throwing ability in the sixth inning yesterday when he personally engineered a double play at the expense of the Sox. Taft Wright was on first after his single had scored Luke Appling. Eric McNair hit a fast grounder back thru the box, but Sturgeon scooped it up, touched second and fired it to Rip Russell in plenty of time to double McNair. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

CALIFORNIA MAN WINS SKI TITLE AT MT. RAINIER

Mt. Rainier National Park, Wash., April 14 (AP).—Flashing down a course of about a mile and one-half in two minutes seven and four-tenths seconds, John Blatt of the Yosemite National Park Winter Sports Club of California won the junior silver skis downhill championship today.

The race was over new snow which fell during the night, ending the hazardous conditions which resulted in a fatality yesterday. Sigurd Hall of Seattle was killed when he fell and struck a rock.

PERRY OPPOSES DIVORCE SUIT FILED BY WIFE

Los Angeles, Cal., April 14 (AP).—Fred Perry, former world singles tennis champion, is opposing the suit of Actress Helen Vinson for a divorce. She tried to have the suit, in which she charges cruelty, set for next Thursday on the plea that she must leave for New York at the week end. Perry defeated the move, contending his standing as a professional tennis player would be jeopardized if he refused to play in forthcoming eastern tournaments.

Sox Work Out Today; Cubs Leave Town

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox will work out in Comiskey park this morning at 11 o'clock. The Cubs left for Cincinnati shortly before midnight last night. They also expect to take morning calisthenics.

The Friday and Saturday freeze did not harm the vegetation in Comiskey park. The field is in great shape and very green. The walls, too, are verdant with new paint. The scoreboards now show a black background with white letters and numbers.

Taft Wright wasn't foolin' in his home bow as a White Sox. His homer the first time up was in the right field stands by six rows. His fielding was less spectacular.

The Cubs will take along their new and revolutionary costumes which look like union suits. They will have to wear them tomorrow whether they like them or not. The Sox will blossom out in new but orthodox unies.

The fans did not seem especially chilled, but spots where the sun was hitting were exceptionally popular.

The fielding gem of the afternoon was Mike Kreevich's catch of Augie Galan's drive in the fifth inning.

After games with the Cleveland Indians tomorrow, Wednesday, and Thursday, the Sox will go to St. Louis for a series Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. The Cubs will open the Chicago National league season Friday against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Comiskey park yesterday was adorned with an extra umpire, Red Ormsby filling in with Bill Summers, who has been traveling with the Sox, and Ralph Pinelli, who has been with the Cubs.

Olson, Former Dartmouth Star, Sold by Red Sox

Boston, Mass., April 14 (AP).—Theodore [Ted] Olson, former Dartmouth pitching star, was sold outright tonight by the Boston Red Sox to the Baltimore International league club.

LEIBER DRIVES IN THREE RUNS; EAVES FANS FIVE

Wright, Kuhel Hit Home Runs.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The so-called spring city series, balked for two days by the unfavorable attitude of the weather man, enjoyed both the start and close of its Chicago showing yesterday in Comiskey park. As a final rehearsal for the opening of the regular campaigns tomorrow, it was a howling success for the Cubs, who knocked off their time-honored tormentors, the Sox, 9 to 5, before 8,000. However, the Sox captured the pre-season barnstorming jamboree by seven victories against six defeats.

The Cubs, who are not considered to be any too handy with their bats, had a rare old time for themselves by accomplishing some surprising deeds against the pitching of Bill Dietrich and Jack Knott, both of whom survived their allotted three inning stretches. Both were exceedingly wild and there were ten hits, mixed with the gifts, making a total of five runs off Dietrich and four off his successor. Rookie Vallie Eaves was vastly different. In three innings he didn't permit a National leaguer to reach base and fanned five of the nine who faced him.

Three Cubs Get Tough.

Three of the Cubs were particularly overbearing with their bats. Hank Leiber, the fellow who missed most of the training trip, felt so comfortable in the setting of a big league park that he unleashed a two bagger which helped considerably in the first inning and singles in the fourth and fifth when there was more run production. Al Todd, with a double and single, was involved in two scoring sessions and so was Dominic Dallessandro, the little giant, who snared a double and single. Bill Herman also was a two time hitter, but one of his blows was due to Taft Wright's temporary loss of vision.

The Sox attack was persistent enough and it had distance in spots, but there was a noticeable deficiency in the pinches. The Sox tagged Larry French for six hits in three innings, but scored only twice, one on a homer by Wright.

Bonetti Escapes Jam.

Julio Bonetti handled the last two closing innings, but was dangerously close to a nose dive in the eighth, when he had the bases filled before retiring a man. The Sox grabbed only one run from this opportunity.

After Hack and Herman had been sent on their way in the first inning the Cubs let loose for two runs. Galan walked and scored on a double by Leiber. Dallessandro, the little man with the long name, whacked a two bagger down the left field line and Leiber registered. The annoyance ceased on Russell's fly to Solters. The Sox recaptured one of these runs in the second when Wright's hit drifted into the lower right field deck.

Dietrich opened the third with a pass to Galan and soon had reason to regret his liberality. Leiber lined to Solters, but Dietrich still didn't

He's Lloyd Mangrum, Who Shot THAT 64.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Lloyd Mangrum, newest addition to Chicago's professional golf troupe, is just a young fellow trying to get along and willing to learn how. The modesty of the 25 year old Texan who is now stationed at the Oak Park Country club as assistant to Dick Metz, is refreshing, in view of the fact that his most recent competitive performance occurred in the Masters' tournament in Augusta, Ga.

Lloyd Mangrum.

In the highly important show, Lloyd finished as runner-up to the brilliant James Demaret, starting out with a 64, eight under par and a new course record. More than that, his first round in those figures caused the destruction of all listed efforts for a single 18 in a major tournament. The best previous 18 in the major leagues was the 65 shot by Henry Cotton in the 1933 British Open.

He's a Modest Young Man.

Master Mangrum's attitude toward that 64 is indicative of a temperament that will go far thru the vagaries of tournament play. His slender withers and his hands were sore for a day after he posted that 64, from the congratulatory thumping and shaking he got from the admiring gallery. Those who had followed him thruout the round were quick to tell him, "Why, it could have been a 62 or a 61 if some of those putts had dropped."

Lloyd's only answer was a quiet "Yes, and it could have been a 70, too, if some of the other's HADN'T rolled in." It is plain that the new Oak Park assistant has no illusions about such a remarkable card, and from his work in the final three rounds, it also is plain that he has a poise which should serve him well.

Many another tournament player with a 64 would have been so personally shaken by the card that he probably would have been locked in a straitjacket and tucked away in a padded cell for the duration of the tournament.

Had Tough Luck, Too.

Not so Mangrum. Witnesses to his second round 75 at Augusta can testify that five of his putts either were in the cups and jumped out or struck the backs of them. He finished four shots behind Demaret's great 280.

Lloyd, boasting one of the few mustaches in professional golf, is just over the junior welterweight limit in poundage. He was born in Trenton, Tex., on Aug. 1, 1914, the youngest of three brothers, all of whom have made golf a career. The oldest, Ray, is one of the country's leading tournament stars, and the second, Paul, is stationed at Sunset Fields in Los Angeles. The trio spent most of their lives in Dallas at a time when such other Texas stars as Ralph Guldahl, Byron Nelson, Ben Hogan, and the aforesaid Demaret were beginning to shine.

Mangrum began caddying at 14. He received his first golf present on Christmas day, 1926. It was a No. 2 iron, given to him by Ray. Since the Mangrum ménage was out in one of the Dallas suburbs and no course was nearby, the 12 year old Lloyd made his own layout—two holes about 130 yards in length, crossing Beckley creek near his home. He became so proficient in the use of that No. 2 iron that he seldom took a three on either hole, and more than often dropped in an ace.

Nearly Missed Masters.

Surprising feature of the Mangrum work in the Masters' was that he was a last minute guest. A majority of the competitors receive their bids on past performance, but each year the two pros whose winter play has been outstanding are specially invited. Willie Goggin and Mangrum were the two extra guests on the 1940 list. Lloyd regards the invitation as productive of a bigger thrill than the 64.

Prior to the Masters', Mangrum's best effort was the runner-up berth in last year's Western Open at Medinah, where he finished only one stroke behind Byron Nelson. This winter he won the 54 hole Thomasville, Ga., Open with a 68—68—67—203, getting a 3 on the 54th hole while Nelson was taking a 5.

Lloyd is still congratulating himself on his new job at Oak Park. He feels that he is still young enough to learn a lot about a professional's job, and is convinced that Metz and the Oak Park members constitute the perfect background for further education.

TWO CHICAGOANS WIN IN MIDWEST FENCING MEET

St. Louis, Mo., April 14 [Special].—Two Chicago contestants successfully defended titles tonight in the midwest tournament of the Amateur Fencers' League of America and helped the Illinois division win second place with 48 points, only one behind Michigan.

Columbus, O., and Champaign, Ill., each scored 13 and Cleveland 7.

Carol King of Chicago won the women's foils championship for the second consecutive year and Loyal Tingley of Chicago, national champion, placed first again in the men's epee event in which Jim Corbett of Chicago was fourth.

Jerry Mau of Chicago was third in the men's foils.

SMILIN' JACK—GREENBACKS AND GREEN EYED MONSTERS

Pari-Mutuels in Use Today in New York

New York, April 14 (AP).—Between the new mutuel machines and the first showing of several leading Kentucky Derby candidates, racing fans won't know where to look first when Jamaica gets the New York turf season under way tomorrow.

The machine is old stuff to the rest of the turf world, but it's brand new for the local citizenry. Up to now, New York state has done its betting with bookmakers.

From a strictly racing standpoint, Jamaica's opening program, to be unwound for an expected crowd of 20,000 or more, is considerably more important than the presentation of the mutuels.

Paumonok Tops Card.

The $7,500 Paumonok handicap tops the card, with one of the best of last year's two year olds, Mrs. Parker Corning's Straight Lead, making his age debut in the three-quarter sprint against such top handicap horses as Fighting Fox and The Chief. Straight Lead, altho eligible for the Preakness and Belmont, is not listed for the Derby.

Five others, however, who are slated to try the run for the roses May 4, will test their legs in the customary six furlong allowance, companion feature. These five are Jock Whitney's Carrier Pigeon, unbeaten in his only two starts last year; Russell Firestone's Marogay, a colt out of a Sir Gallahad III. mare and never worse than second in seven 1939 outings; the best of the three year olds from William Woodward's barn, Fenelon and Dusky Fox, and Maxwell Howard's midget, Victory Morn, the little fellow with the big heart. Completing the field is Arnold Hanger's Quaroma, a Preakness candidate.

Foxflame to Run.

Another of Woodward's Derby eligibles, Foxflame, a son of Gallant Fox, will try his luck in a six furlong maiden dash.

The word is around that the unpredictable Fighting Fox is burning up the track in his workouts. If that's so, he should waltz in with the Paumonok. The Chief, a good sprinter; William Ziegler's little Our Mat; W. E. Boeing's Porter's Mite and Mrs. Payne Whitney's Day Off are the chief threats.

In the three year old allowance, Carrier Pigeon and Marogay should fight it out, with Fenelon able to spring a surprise.

Plenty of Betting Windows.

Officials of the track say the machines are prepared to handle a million dollars a day if necessary. They anticipate a $500,000 daily average, not only here, but at Belmont, Aqueduct and Empire City as well this summer. The state and the track split 10 per cent of the take at each racing plant.

PABSTS TAKE 3 FROM MONARCHS; GET 3,288 TOTAL

The Pabst Blue Ribbons bowled 3,288 last night at the Cheltenham recreation and took three games from the substitute Monarchs. This victory put them in a tie for third place in the Sunday division of the Classic league with the Power House, who lost two games to Michelob. The Ambrosias took three from Prager and the Schlitz defeated Koenig twice.

The Pabst's 1,146 was high team game and Ned Day bowled 22 , 257, 233 for a 716 series. Jack Bishop's 267 was high individual game. Scores:

YANKEE DOODLE WINS IN LEEDS DINGHY RACE

Ed Schnabel Jr., 16 years old, sailed his Frostbite dinghy Yankee Doodle to a one point victory in the third annual Leeds Mitchell trophy series, sailed yesterday by the Chicago Yacht club dinghy fleet in Grant Park harbor.

Skipper Schnabel won the Mitchell trophy with a score of 99 points. Lockwood M. Pirie, veteran star and dinghy class yachtsman, sailed Twin Star to second place with 98 points. Pirie won the prize in 1938 and 1939. David Chapman's entry was third with 88 points.

St. Patrick, South Chicago, Wins Basket Tournament

St. Patrick's of South Chicago basketball team defeated Annunciation Cadets, 48 to 35, in the finals of the Queen of Angels A. A. U. tournament in Guild hall last night. Graham Shyrons beat the 47th Ward Democrats, 41 to 29, for third place.

Chicago Pair Lose Doubles Lead in A.B.C.

Detroit, Mich., April 14 [Special].—Two hours after Henry Wester and Lee Zender of Chicago had shot into first place in the American Bowling congress doubles today with 1,309, Charles Furrow and Louie Semla of Springfield, Ill., ousted them with a blazing 1,336.

Wester and Zender had followed the example of their fellow townsmen, the Monarchs, who last night went into the lead in the five man event with a score of 3,047—the first time the 3,000 mark has been surpassed in this tourney.

New All Events Leader.

To emphasize that the general scoring in the last 24 hours has been the highest in the tournament, Fred Fischer, a 51 year old bowling proprietor of Buffalo, N. Y., went into the lead in the all events with a count of 2,001. He had series of 688, 667, 646.

Furrow and Semla, the new doubles leaders, are a 43 year old miller and a 44 year old mail carrier, respectively. Furrow strung together games of 204, 247, 251 for a blazing 702, while Semla came along with games of 234, 231, 169 for 624. Their 1,336 has been good enough to win 32 of the 39 A. B. C. tournaments.

Takes Ninth in Singles.

Arthur Norwall of Peoria, Ill., accounted for the only other change during the early matinée firing with 702, which reached ninth place in the singles division. Nordwall started with 254 and followed with 226 and 222.

Dick Winsberg and Harry Angel, hero substitute in the Monarchs' drive to first place in the five man event, continued at a hot pace today. Angel tossed in a huge 688 count while Winsberg was collecting 562 to carry the duo to 1,250 in the doubles division. Dick came back in the singles with 641, to tabulate 1,806 for the all-events.

ENGLEWOOD WINS CENTRAL A. A. U. WEIGHT TOURNEY

The Englewood Y. M. C. A. won the seventh annual Central A. A. U. five man team weight lifting tournament in the Almira Simons park fieldhouse yesterday with a record breaking total of 3,300 pounds. The old record—3,130 pounds—was set in 1939 by the German-American Athletic club, which also bettered this mark in placing second with a total of 3,225.

Third place went to the Northwest Weight Lifting club with a score of 3,120. The Aurora Y. M. C. A., the Chicago Weight Lifting club, and the West End Physical Culture club also competed, but with only four men each, and thus were ineligible for title consideration. Frank Kay of the

JOE DI MAGGIO'S KNEE STRAINED IN SLIDE TO 2D

Victory Over Dodgers, 5-3, Gives Yanks Scare.

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 14 (AP).—The world champion New York Yankees closed their spring training today by defeating the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5 to 3, in an air cooled game in Ebbets field.

Joe Di Maggio.

Charley Keller led a 10 hit attack with a single, double, and triple. The one anxious moment for the Yankees came in the ninth when Joe DiMaggio, sliding for second on his double to center, caught his spikes in the bag and strained his right knee. Tommy Henrich ran for him and finished in center field, but the injury was not believed serious enough to force DiMaggio out of the opening game of the American league season.

DiMaggio was able to walk to the clubhouse without assistance and later moved around with no apparent limp.

BROWNS, 7; CARDINALS, 3.

St. Louis, Mo., April 14 (AP).—After playing their city rivals to a 2 to 2 draw yesterday, the lowly St. Louis Browns bounced back today to whip the highly rated Cardinals, 7 to 3.

The Browns cashed in two runs before the Cards had a chance to bat and increased the lead 4 to 0 with two more off Max Lanier in the fifth inning. They tacked on three in the seventh, including home runs by George McQuinn and Harlond Clift, off Murray Dickson.

The Cards were helpless for six innings as both Vernon Kennedy and Southpaw Howard Mills performed brilliantly, each yielding but one hit.

PHILS, 8; ATHLETICS, 3.

Louisville, Ky., April 14 (AP).—The Phillies found their batting eyes today and pounded out an 8 to 3 victory over their Philadelphia city rivals, the Athletics. The game was called at the end of the eighth inning to enable both teams to catch a train.

While Hugh Mulcahy held the A's in check the Phils jumped on George Caster for three runs in the first aided by Chuck Klein's triple, Merrill May's double, and Morrie Arnovich's single. They landed on Ed Heusser for four more tallies in the sixth.

The A's loaded the bases in the fifth, sixth, and seventh, but scored only one run in each inning. Score:

Todd Delivers in Pinch.

Russell hit a high bounder in front of the plate and by the time it descended he was safe on first and the bases were filled. Todd cleaned up with a single to right, Galan and Dallesandro scoring and Russell taking third, whence he scored on Sturgeon's fly to Solters.

In the Sox third, singles by Kennedy and Kreevich, and Solters' fly scored one.

Wright's error of judgment gave the Cubs a chance to sneak across a run in the fourth against Knott. Herman flied to right, and it should have been the second out, but Wright lost the ball in the sun and it fell for a double. Kreevich had to make a one handed catch to retire Galan. Leiber beat out a slow roller to Kennedy, and Dallessandro caromed a single off Kennedy's glove, Herman scoring. The two remaining base runners advanced when Knott made a wild throw trying to catch Leiber off second, but the error did no damage because Russell fanned.

Leiber Hits Again.

The fifth started with Todd's double to right and a pass to Sturgeon. Page tried to sacrifice, but his bunt forced Todd at third. Hack flied out, but Herman singled and Sturgeon scored. A pass to Galan loaded the bases, after which Leiber singled to right, Page and Herman scoring. In this same inning Kuhel hit his homer into the right field stands, but the Cubs still remained ahead by a 9 to 3 margin. Appling's double and a single by Wright in the sixth changed the count to 9 to 4.

The Sox had the entire Cub outfit worried in the eighth, but after a flying start against Bonetti's pitching subsided with only one run across the plate. Webb walked, Wright singled past Hack, and Kolloway walked, filling the bases before anybody was retired. Turner sent a fly to Cavarretta in center field, Webb scoring. Then Eaves grounded to Hack, and a double play snuffed out the rally.

SNOW HAMPERS TRIBE

Cleveland, O., April 14 (AP).—The white blanket that forestalled the Cleveland Indians' last two exhibition games with the New York Giants still covered the outfield in League park today, but the Tribe went thru a light workout on the canvas-protected infield. The Indians leave tomorrow night for Chicago where they meet the White Sox in the season's opener Tuesday, but several squad members will remain behind.

Among the stay-at-homes is Pitcher Mel Harder, who will work out during the Tribe's series in Chicago. Others to be left in care of Coach Johnny Bassler are Pitchers Johnny Broaca, Pete Center, Cal Dorset and Don Pulford, and Catcher Jim Hegan.

Funeral Rites Today for Veteran Semi-Pro Umpire

Services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the funeral parlors, 63d and Harvard streets, for Edward [Curly] Clark, well known semi-pro baseball umpire who was killed in an automobile accident near San Antonio, Tex., Wednesday. On May 30, 1909, Clark pitched for Bloomington against Decatur in a 26 inning game, winning, 2 to 1. It was the longest game ever played in the minor leagues and ties the major league record held by Brooklyn and Boston.

BLUES SELL JOE VANCE, EX-YANK, TO NEWARK BEARS

Newark, N. J., April 14 (AP).—The Newark Bears of the International Baseball league announced today purchase of Pitcher Joe Vance from the Kansas City Blues of the American association. Club officials said Vance, a right hander who won 10 and lost 4 with the Blues last season, would report in time for Thursday's opener between the Bears and Toronto in Newark.

After winning 8 and losing 1 for the Blues in 1938, he joined the New York Yankees of the American league, but an appendectomy cut short his major league trial.

Mason-Dixon Golf Title Retained by Al Dolling

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 14 (AP).—Al Dollins of Covington, Va., gained his second consecutive Mason-Dixon amateur golf title today, turning back Jack Ryerson of Cooperstown, N. Y., 6 and 4 in the 36 hole final.

SPARTA, MORGAN TIE AGAIN, 1-1, IN SOCCER PLAYOFF

Thirty Minute Overtime Fails to Decide Game.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 14 (AP).—The Morgan Sport club of Pittsburgh and the Chicago Spartas still were deadlocked tonight after their second consecutive Sunday attempt to decide the western contender for the National Open soccer championship ended in a 1 to 1 overtime tie.

Neither side was able to score in a 30 minute overtime period today on a muddy field in nearby Bridgeville, and Referee Jim Carlton of Buffalo, N. Y., then called off the game because conditions were unfavorable for further play. The first tie was played last Sunday in Chicago.

The Morgans' goal came from a penalty kick. Frank Trimmell made the goal for the Spartas. According to rules, a neutral city should get the deciding match. The national commission will meet tomorrow to make arrangements for the time and place of the game.

BALTIMORE WINS IN EAST.

New York, April 14 (AP).—The Baltimore Soccer club won the eastern open soccer championship today by holding New York's Brookhattan team to a 2 to 2 tie. Baltimore won the first game of a total goal series, 3 to 1, on its home field Saturday and took the series, 5 to 3. The victory qualified Baltimore to meet the western title winner, Morgan of Pittsburgh or the Chicago Spartas, in the national challenge cup final.

STUDY REVEALS VAST PUBLIC AID TO ALL CARRIERS

Eastman's Six Year Work Published.

Washington, D. C., April 14 [Special].—The results of a six-year study of the extent to which the federal and local governments subsidize various forms of transportation in the United States, were published today by Joseph B. Eastman, chairman of the interstate commerce commission. This is the first comprehensive and scientific analysis of the question ever made. Public aid to the carriers was estimated at many billions of dollars.

Joseph B. Eastman.

The report contradicts the contention of the railroads that their competitors on the highways have an undue advantage by virtue of the aids which the public freely provides. It concludes that highway users as a class have paid their way in taxes at least since 1927.

Gave Up Railroad Post.

Chairman Eastman gave up the post of federal coördinator of transportation in 1936. The project of "an impartial and authoritative investigation" of the subsidy question which he started while serving in that capacity was carried on by Dr. Charles S. Morgan, now assistant director of the ICC's bureau of motor carriers.

The study estimates that about 6 billion dollars more will go into transportation investments by 1950, and emphasized the need for "deliberate" national transportation planning.

Eastman recommends in his report the creation of a three-man board by the President for research and investigation of the whole question of inequities of public contributions to the various transportation agencies revealed by the newly published data.

Estimates on Public Aid.

Total principal public aids to various forms of transportation were listed as follows:

Motor vehicle: About $31,000,000,000 for highways and streets from 1921 to 1937.

Waterway improvements and related aids: $2,917,000,000 to June 30, 1936, for river and harbor improvements and maintenance, flood control, and other nonnavigation purposes.

Railroads: $1,443,000,000 thru 1935, divided as follows: $1,282,000,000 "to secure the construction" of the roads, and $161,000,000 from the world war to 1936.

Air transportation: $64,654,000 public aid to scheduled air carriers in air mail subsidies; $55,777,000 for airways, airway services and airports; and $56,500,000 for aids to nonscheduled users of airways and airports.

Canadian Lake Seamen Strike; Ships Tied Up

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., April 14.—The first major strike in Canada since the outbreak of war went into effect at midnight tonight when the Canadian seamen's union called out 2,600 crew members from hundreds of vessels awaiting the opening of navigation in harbors thruout the dominion.

Eleventh hour efforts to ward off the tieup failed after an exchange of telegrams between J. A. Sullivan, president of the union, and W. M. Dickson, deputy minister of labor.

Court Action Indicated.

It is believed justice department officials at Ottawa will confer with Attorney General Gordon Conant of Ontario regarding the question of bringing action in the criminal courts against the union. Conant has signified his intention of coöperating wherever possible with federal authorities.

Crews of several ships moored in Toronto harbor walked ashore in a body at midnight. Picketing will start tomorrow morning. Twenty-five provincial police officers were sent to Prescott in the belief that disturbances may break out.

Earlier in the day Deputy Minister Dickson wired Sullivan from Ottawa, offering to arrange a joint conference between the men and the ship owners to attempt to iron out wage differences. This wire was in responce to one from Sullivan, asking the labor department to aid in averting a strike.

Warns on Sailings.

At 11 p. m. tonight Sullivan wired the deputy minister, suggesting that ship owners be notified not to force issue by ordering sailings pending negotiations.

A. W. Roebuck, former attorney general of Ontario and J. S. Chapman of Montreal, left late tonight for Ottawa to confer with Dickson, Monday. The former is legal counsel for the union.

A tie up of shipping at the opening of the navigation season would have a disastrous effect on the moving of huge shipments of wheat and other cargoes. The view of the federal department of labor is that a strike in wartime is an act of disloyalty.

LOFT, INC.

I would like some information about the new candy subsidiary of Loft, Inc., and the status of the parent company. Has Loft paid any dividends on its stock in recent years?—G. D.

Answer: Loft Candy corporation was formed last fall as a subsidiary of Loft, Inc., to acquire the candy, soda fountain, restaurant and related businesses segregated from the parent company under a readjustment plan approved by stockholders Oct 24, 1939. The new company took over 153 of the 173 stores formerly operated by Loft, Inc. The other stores will be closed or transferred to Loft Candy.

Loft, Inc., distributed on April 2 to its stockholders of record March 15 the outstanding 1,473,259 shares of $1 per capital stock of Loft Candy. This distribution gave Loft Candy the status of an independent company and not of a subsidiary.

The transfer of the candy properties reduced Loft, Inc., to merely a holding company owning 205,437 shares out of the 259,277 shares of outstanding capital stock of the Pepsi-Cola company, manufacturer of a soft-drink. Loft's ownership of these shares has been the subject of various lawsuits, some still pending.

The readjustment plan also contemplated the formation of a new holding company, Pepsi-Cola Shares, Inc., to acquire from Loft, Inc., its holdings of about 80 per cent of the Pepsi-Cola stock.

Before the recent change in its status, Loft was an operating company engaged in the manufacture at a large plant in Long Island City, N. Y., of candy, ice cream, canned soup and table delicacies distributed thru stores in the east. The plant is now leased to Loft Candy.

In 1938, Loft won control of Pepsi-Cola after a legal fight in the chancery court of Delaware. Loft also controls Happiness Candy Stores, Inc.

Capitalization of Loft, Inc., consists of 1,473,259 shares of $1 par capital stock, of which Phoenix Securities corporation on last March 1 held 477,330, or 32.4 per cent. No dividend has been paid since 1922.

Despite a larger operating loss in 1939 than in 1938, Loft, Inc., was able to show its first net profit since 1934. This was the result mainly of the income of $1,549,734 in dividends on its investment in Pepsi-Cola. Consolidated net sales, net loss and loss per share in recent years follow:

	Net sales.	Net loss.	Loss per share.
1936	11,168,000	871,000	.81
1937	10,036,000	973,000	.91
1938	8,568,000	946,000	.64
1939	8,137,000	*12,135	*.01

*Net profit. †For Loft, Inc., alone.

Current assets of Loft, Inc., at the end of 1939 were $2,459,246 against current liabilities of $1,330,712.

KANSAS POWER'S NEW STOCK IS PUT ON MARKET

A banking group headed by the First Boston corporation and Dillon, Read & Co. today is offering the new 4½ per cent preferred stock of the Kansas Power and Light company at $103 a share plus accrued dividends. Of the entire 139,169 shares of the present offering, 96,380 shares are being offered subject to the prior right of holders [other than a parent of the company] of the outstanding preferred stocks of the company to exchange their shares for the new issue.

The net proceeds will be applied toward the retirement of all the outstanding 6 per cent and 7 per cent preferred stocks of the company, which are redeemable at $105.

WAR EXTENSION MAY AID SALE OF FARM PRODUCTS

Cuts Off Britain's Danish Source.

BY HOMER NEISZ.

Germany's invasion of Denmark and Norway is likely to have some effect in increasing exports of American farm products, John C. Watson, director of taxation and statistics for the Illinois Agricultural association, said yesterday. This possibility already has brought a sharp advance in hog prices.

Meanwhile farm leaders in Washington were urging that the administration intercede in reopening markets in Great Britain and France that virtually have been closed to farmers in this country as result of the war.

View on Immediate Effect.

Watson believes that England's trade with Denmark has been stopped for the duration of the war, regardless of the outcome of the present struggle for control of that country and Norway. Denmark has been one of the chief sources of British bacon and butter imports.

"Because Great Britain is reported to have substantial stocks of butter and pork products on hand, the immediate effect of the Danish invasion may be slight," Watson said, "but before long the English will be forced to seek other sources of these products and they might turn to the United States."

So far Britain and France have confined their war purchases in this country chiefly to aircraft and other fighting equipment and have turned to other sources for foodstuffs.

Sees National Benefit.

Earl C. Smith, president of the agricultural association, said that any substantial increases in exports of pork and lard should benefit the entire nation by helping to relieve surpluses, raise prices of these products, and increase farmers' buying power.

Smith said his organization had taken no official stand on proposals for action by the federal government in reopening export outlets for farm surpluses in Britain and France.

Expressing his personal opinion, Smith said, "I think we as a nation should use every reasonable effort under the law to encourage exports of farm products in line with the increasing demands for war materials that we may furnish the countries at war."

It is Smith's opinion that Britain and France should give sympathetic consideration to the purchase of food products in this country, to the extent that they require such imports.

Argues for Farm Products.

"I think it is only fair," he said, "that if we furnish them with airplanes and other essential war materials, they should, in turn, recognize our problems of surplus farm products and buy as much as they can. I will not criticize the policies of nations struggling under the stress of war, but I feel that they should give consideration to our problems if we are to furnish them with war supplies they cannot get elsewhere."

Smith said the chief surplus worries of American farmers now are pork products and cotton. He believes the relatively higher prices for wheat puts wheat growers in a more favorable situation than farmers who depend chiefly on hogs or cotton.

A. E. Staley Plans Appeal Against NLRB'S Order

Decatur, Ill., April 14 [Special].—A. E. Staley Jr., president of the A. E. Staley Manufacturing company said today that the firm would appeal the recent decision of the National Labor Relations board ordering that the company disestablish the Independent Starch Workers' union.

Germany's Invasion Cuts Off Large Slice of British Trade

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 14. — Behind the fog of rumor and speculation obscuring the Scandinavian battleground, British business circles last week sought to assess the economic consequences to this country of the German sortie to the north.

The invasion of Denmark and Norway caused deep concern in commercial banking and financial quarters, which have always regarded the Scandinavian countries as valued clients as well as important sources of supply. There is no attempt among business men to disguise the fact that the spread of war northward has inflicted a severe blow to commerce, which was already hard hit in that area. A source of about a quarter of Britain's imports of butter, 35 to 40 per cent of her imported eggs, and half of her bacon has been cut off at one stroke by the German seizure of Denmark.

Iron Ore Big Stake.

Another big stake in the present struggle is iron ore from Sweden and Norway. Together they produce about 10 per cent of the world's iron ore in terms of iron content. Their output is nearly equal to that of the whole British empire. If Germany succeeds completely in occupying Norway, Britain stands to lose about 40 per cent of the imported iron ore shipped from Sweden thru the Norwegian port of Narvik.

A further setback to the empire war efforts would be the loss of Norwegian ferro-alloys. About half of Britain's imports of ferro-manganese comes from Norway and approximately 85 per cent of highly specialized materials, such as ferro-molybdenum and similar alloys essential for the production of high quality aircraft components, is obtained from the same source.

Get Much Wood Pulp.

Problems affecting the British press also arise from the Nazi coup. Finland, Norway, and Sweden together provide about 80 per cent of the wood pulp used in this country as well as large quantities of paper. In 1938, Britain's total wood pulp imports were valued at £16,000,000 [about $55,480,000], of which £12,500,000 [about $43,625,000] came from Finland, Norway, and Sweden.

In recent years a big trade has been carried on with Denmark, Norway, and Sweden. Taking 1938 as the basis for a normal exchange of goods, British exports to Denmark totaled £25,300,000 annually [about $88,297,000], and purchases from the Danes amounted to £38,400,000 [about $134,016,000].

Anglo-Norwegian trade balanced at about £9,700,000 each [about $33,853,000]. From Sweden, Britain imported £23,500,000 [about $82,015,000] worth of goods, against exports totaling £13,800,000 [about $48,162,000].

22 BIG STEEL MAKERS EARN 4.29 PER CENT ON CAPITALIZATION IN '39

Cleveland, O., April 14 (AP).—Twenty-two major steel producers, representing nine-tenths of the industry's ingot capacity, last year earned 4.29 per cent on capitalization, the magazine Steel reported today in its annual financial analysis. Such earnings were 0.59 per cent in 1938, 6.07 in 1937, and 9.88 in 1929.

The total income last year before dividends and bond interest was $166,537,853, against $22,758,217 in 1938. Before dividends alone, the 1939 net was $130,831,176 which "was a return of 3.36 per cent on capitalization totaling $3,885,269,046.

Net sales of 19 companies were nearly 50 per cent larger last year than in 1938. The net profit margin on sales increased to 5.69 per cent from 1938's minus .44.

Current steel production was around 61 per cent of capacity, off ½ point last week.

The report said the recent cut in steel prices had interrupted the rising trend in new orders.

LEWIS DESIRES TO BE DICTATOR, SAYS UNION HEAD

Flint, Mich., April 14 (AP).—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today charged that John L. Lewis is "secretly" planning a political revolution to make himself "dictator of the United States."

"I charge that this man, suffering from delusions of grandeur, is secretly desirous of becoming the dictator of the United States of America," he said.

His denouncement of the president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations was contained in an address preparatory to National Labor Relations board elections in General Motors corporation plants next Wednesday to determine collectiving bargain agencies.

Mengel Reports Profit of $33,181 for Quarter

Louisville, Ky., April 14 (AP).—The Mengel company, wood products firm, earned a net income of $33,181 for the first quarter on net sales of $2,253,797, President Alvin A. Voit reported to stockholders today. Unfilled orders of the company, totaling $2,341,000, are the highest since March, 1937, he said.

GREAT BRITAIN TAKES 117 MORE U. S. SECURITIES

Holdings Ordered Sold to Treasury.

LONDON, April 14 (AP).—The British government today ordered holders of 92 United States stocks and 25 bonds to sell them to the treasury in a new move to increase the supply of dollars with which to buy United States planes and other war materials.

The new order requires British holders to transfer their stocks to the Bank of England "forthwith," payment to be made in pounds sterling at the official rate of exchange, $4.03½ to the pound. This move greatly increases the holdings of the British government on Wall street, where the Bank of England probably is the largest single operator.

An order issued on Feb. 18 required the owners of 60 stocks to transfer them to the government.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

by HOMER NEISZ

No Damage from Cold.

April 14, 1940.

COLD weather during the last few days apparently has done no damage to field or garden crops at the Du Page county farm. Growth of plants has been retarded by the late spring and few were far enough advanced to be injured by the cold.

The manager said today, after a careful examination of fields of winter wheat just starting growth, that none of the tender plants seemed to have been injured.

There was a possibility, he thought, that frost in the wet surface soil might result in slight damage to the wheat from heaving. The soil in wheat fields froze to a depth of about 1½ inches last Thursday and Friday nights. Water in ponds and watering troughs froze to an equal depth.

Ground Frozen Late.

So far this spring there has been little alternate freezing and thawing of the ground, a condition which some years causes heavy losses to winter wheat, clover, and alfalfa by heaving the plants out of the soil. This usually occurs in March, when the frost starts going out of the ground and the surface soil thaws during the day and freezes at night. The ground stayed frozen later than usual this spring.

Reports from central and southern Illinois indicate that farmers in those regions fear the cold may have damaged both winter wheat and oats that had started coming thru the ground. Temperatures were lower in the southern half of the state than in the northern half. About three-fourths of the oat crop already has been sown in the southern part of the state, according to government reports, and the plants in many fields were two to four inches high when hit by the cold.

Fruit trees in bloom in southern Illinois orchards are thought to have been damaged. Most of the peach crop in that area was ruined by extreme cold weather in January and February. The cold killed the fruiting buds.

Wheat Prospects Poor.

The winter wheat crop all over the state got a poor start last fall because of the prolonged drouth and growth of the plants still is retarded. However, many fields that looked bare during the winter now show promise of making at least a fair crop with favorable conditions from now until harvest time. Reports from the main winter wheat belt in the western and southwestern states say prospects for the wheat crop there are poor.

Workers at the Du Page farm hope to begin sowing oats this week. They are ready to start preparing oat ground as soon as the weather is favorable. None of the oats has been sown and only a few fields have been seeded on neighboring farms. Farmers say there still is plenty of time to sow oats in this region, altho many like to get oats in by the middle of April.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

Notice of Submission of Plan of Reorganization.

The District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Washington, and the Interstate Commerce Commission have approved a plan for the reorganization of the Spokane International Railway Company and the Coeur d'Alene and Pend d'Oreille Railway Company, pursuant to section 77 of the Bankruptcy Act.

The plan is being submitted to the holders of the first-mortgage 5-percent bonds of the Spokane International Railway Company due July 1, 1955, and coupons for interest due on or before January 1, 1938, and the first-mortgage 5-percent bonds of the Coeur d'Alene and Pend d'Oreille Railway Company, due July 1, 1960, and coupons for interest due on or before January 1, 1938, for their acceptance or rejection. Only those holding such securities or claims on April 5, 1940, will be entitled to vote on the plan. Holders of such bonds who shall not receive promptly a ballot by mail may obtain one, together with copies of the Commission's reports and order, and the opinion and order of the court approving the plan, by writing to Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C.

In order that a ballot may be valid, it must be filled out in duplicate and filed with the Commission on or before May 25, 1940, or the envelope containing the ballot must bear a postmark showing that it was placed in the mail on or before that date.

W. P. BARTEL, Secretary.

"Community Renewed"

COMMUNITY RENEWED used cars ARE different.

The now famous trade-mark of "COMMUNITY RENEWED" guarantees a better used car than those usually offered anywhere near the same price.

Our renewing process, explained in detail in our free booklet "What Every Used Car Buyer Should Know" is only made possible because of extremely large facilities, experts devoted to this work exclusively, and a tremendous volume because of a very popular new car.

Our terms are liberal—your old car taken in trade. We invite you to write or come in for a copy of our booklet "What Every Used Car Buyer Should Know."

German Warship Shells British Destroyer in Battle Off Norse Coast—Nazi Troops Capture Town of Halden

Britain announced yesterday that her navy had laid a new surprise mine field in the Baltic as a barrier to German ship movements. A field in this area would supposedly cut German sea trading with Sweden and make troop movement hazardous.
